" . . . and believe it or not, Florida has lost some good customers because it's now so nice here with our warm, even electric heat, and plenty of conveniences."

Col. and Mrs. Craig's all-electric home, consisting of living room, kitchen, dining room, two bedrooms, and bath was completed in 1958. Since then it has been occupied by the Craigs, their housekeeper, and their chauffeur-handyman.

The automatic electric heating, chosen by the Craigs, combines the ceiling cable and baseboard types most effectively, the baseboard heating units being under the large picture windows.

For an average cost of only $27.22 a month, the family enjoys their clean, safe, easily controlled electric heat, plus an all-electric kitchen, a quick recovery electric water heater, a TV set, good lights, and many small electric appliances.

Consult your architect, builder, electric heating dealer, or call our office to find out how you, too, can enjoy Total Electric Living.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband and father, Juniper S. Teats, who passed away August 7, 1955.

When the evening shades are falling,
And I am sitting all alone,
In my heart there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
Oft and oft my thoughts do wander
To your grave so far away
Where I laid you, dearest husband
Five years ago today.

IN MEMORIAN

In sad but loving memory of our dear son and brother, Larry Teets, who passed away one year ago August 2, 1959.

One year has passed dear Larry
Since you were called away
Sometimes its hard to understand
Why certain things must be
But in his wisdom God has planned
Beyond our power to see.
Just when life was the sweetest
And he could have lived best
God opened the gate of heaven
And he entered the land of rest.
When we go beside your grave
And place flowers there with Gentle care
Something in our hearts tells us
You know that we are there
Loving and kind in all your ways
Upright and just to the end of Your days
Sincere and true in heart and mind
Beautiful memories you left behind.

Sadly missed by Mother and Father, and brothers and sister-in-law

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 84 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., AUGUST 11, 1960 | PER COPY, 8c | NUMBER 21

On Your Toes - - -

Persons who have taken typing lessons remember the practice line, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

Well, this is a call for all Republican minded citizens to do just that, for the campaign this fall is going to be one of the closest in years, and a few votes one way or the other may make a difference.

Senator Goldwater hit a salient spot at the Republican convention when he said what had caused the defeat of many Republicans in recent years was the "conservative" person who failed to go to the polls to vote. This certainly could be corrected this year.

Two years ago Congressman Hyde was defeated because the indifferent citizen did not vote. The same reason caused the defeat of a number of Republican candidates in the last general election in this county.

There are several things the interested Republican citizen must do to regain the initiative. See that the persons whose names were stricken from the voting rolls because they had not exercised their franchise within the past five years, are persuaded to re-register.

Make a study of his community and find out how many persons would be eligible to vote by absentee ballot, including soldiers and ill persons in hospitals, etc., and then urge that each one apply for his ballot before the October deadline.

Find out how many people have moved into his community within the past year and urge them to register. Make a study of the people who have recently become of voting age or who will be 21 prior to the November election, and see that they register.

And, of course, we feel it is only proper that these people would show their best judgment by registering as Republicans.

Republicans in this county must get "on their toes" and show some dedicated enthusiasm for their party. The two conventions most certainly showed where there was concern for a stabilized government as against uncontrolled spending.

Garrett county must show a heavy majority for Republicanism in this fall election, and the only way we can do that is for everybody to get to work right now and not falter until the job is done.

Pursuit of Happiness Is Next Production At Summer Theatre

"The Pursuit of Happiness," a comedy that with its title as well as by its action has clever but not irreverent fun with the Declaration of Independence, and that recalls the Colonial custom of "bundling," has been announced as the next production of the Summer Theatre at Mellenry. It will be presented at the Garrett County Playhouse for 5 performances beginning next Tuesday, August 6.

This whimsical study of the lighter side of life during the Revolutionary War has become a classic of the modern American stage, thanks to its successful runs on Broadway, in London, and in many other cities. There's also been a film version, starring Francis Lederer and Joan Bennett, though that was somewhat cautious and watered-down in its dealing with the quaint early-American method of wooing, called "bundling," on which much of the play's hilarity depends.

This old custom, vouched for by innumerable references to it in the documents of the time, had almost been forgotten until it was dug out of the history books and put into this comedy by its authors, Lawrence Langner, one of the original founders of the N. Y. Theatre Guild and since 1939 one of its two co-directors, and his wife Armina Marshall Langner, now an associate director of the Theatre Guild.

"The Pursuit of Happiness" tells of a bandsome young Hessian, sent to fight George Washington's soldiers, who deserts because he has heard that Americans believe in the right "to run after happiness." He finds a chance to do just that, as he falls in love with a Connecticut farmer's Puritan daughter who introduces him, to his embarrassed joy, to the local custom of bundling.

On its first opening in New York, "The Pursuit of Happiness" ran for 252 performances.

Two Youths Charged With Burglary

Two youths from Fairmont, W. Va., were apprehended last night about 10 o'clock along U. S. route 50, after burglarizing the home of Victor Lee, about a mile east of Red House.

They were identified as Walter Lee Davis, 19, and Lawrence Edward Davis, 17, no relation, both of Fairmont, W. Va.

The two were picked up after Greely Janoske, neighbor of Lee, reported to Sheriff James E. Frantz, that he had seen the pair coming out of the woods and felt sure they had been in the Lee home. They were picked up near Fort Pendleton by Sheriff Frantz and his deputy Wayne Wilt.

Frantz said that they would be tried in criminal court. He also said the pair had confessed to breaking into the home of Walter R. Skeweris about three weeks ago. Last night they had acquired some watches, rings, etc., from the Lee home. Frantz said there would be two burglary charges against the two.

Sheriff James E. Frantz said the man had left the place where he was supposed to be staying, that he had obtained an automobile which he was not supposed to do, and had gotten into trouble in Somerset county, Pa., where he was lodged in jail one day this week. Frantz went to Somerset county and brought him to Oakland where he was given a hearing before Judge Fraley.

Congress Aspirant To Visit in County

Charles McC. Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress from Maryland's sixth district, is planning to be in the county area Friday and Saturday and will spend much of his time around the county fair and in Oakland.

In the opening speech of his campaign last Wednesday he charged his Democratic opponent with betraying the trust of his constituency by his "Present—but not accounted for" voting record on vital issues, important to the people of the district.

Mathias kicked off what his campaign managers said would be a fast moving, hard hitting, person to person campaign, at a barbecue outing at Rockville.

Calling for the support of all voters "who share with us the conviction that real representation must be restored to the Sixth district", Mathias said, "At this point the needs of the district have never been so great. During the past two years our collective voice in the House of Representatives has been Present—but not accounted for on vital issues."

Mathias also stressed the need for economic security, "that reasonable balance in the economy of our nation when the government can do all that is necessary to discharge its obligations without being forced to resort to legalized larceny under the guise of either ruinous taxes or sky-rocketing inflation."

Fire Damages Deep Creek Lake Cottage

Fire of undetermined origin badly damaged the Deep Creek Lake cottage of Jack Sowko, of Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburgh, on Sunday night about 10:30 o'clock.

The Oakland firemen were called to the scene and extinguished the blaze by use of the booster line but not before an estimated damage of $3,000 to the cottage and $1,000 on the contents was inflicted.

The home was unoccupied at the time of the fire, the family having left for home about 6 p. m. Harry Guest, a neighbor called the owner and notified him of his loss. The cottage is located on U. S. route 219, about one mile south of McHenry.

Oakland firemen were called also to the home of Mrs. Jamie Elliott on Monday morning as the result of an overheated flue. Firemen cleared the flue with chains. They reported this was the third flue fire at this home over the last few years. There was no damage.

Contractor Wins In Recent Civil Suit

William A. Shirer, Oakland contractor received a verdict in his favor of approximately $2,000, from a defendant insurance company in a civil case which has been pending in the Circuit court here.

The decision was handed down by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on Monday and was against the Pennsylvania Threshermen and Farmers Mutual Casualty company.

The suit was instituted by Shirer last August to recover damages paid by him to satisfy two suits brought against him in January 1959. The amount asked was $3,600.

In September 1957, Shirer had a contract to dig a sewer line for a home in Oakland, the work to be done by a crane operator. While the unit was being moved from one location to another at the job, it went out of control and collided with a building of William C. Hardesty and an automobile of John Fitzwater, Jr. The insurance company claimed it was not liable, and refused to pay claims of $1,622.19 to W. C. Hardesty and $256.08 to Fitzwater. The policy was issued May 5, 1957.

Shirer paid both claims and then filed suit against the insurance company. At the hearing before Judge Fraley in June, the plaintiff contended that at the time of the accident the machine was being operated solely for locomotion. The defendant claimed the machine was on site of construction job and was actually engaged in construction work at the time it went out of control.

Judge Fraley, in his opinion, said he was "unable to agree with the contention of the defendant that the policy's coverage was limited to a vehicle only when traveling from or to job site." He continued: "The policy does not so state and had it been the intention of the insurer that the coverage be limited to such an extent it would have been very simple to have so stated."

He rendered a verdict for the plaintiff in the amount of $1,878.50, the total of the two judgments against Shirer, plus $37.30 costs in the two cases.

The fourth annual Garrett County Fair was in full swing with exhibitors and activities apparently far ahead of last year.

John Brenneman, president, said there were some 175 exhibitors and that there would be some 2,000 exhibits. He said the neatness and quality of the exhibitors has shown remarkable improvement over previous years, and more display space is in use than last year. He said fair officials considered the exhibits to be outstanding.

The number of exhibitors has shown steady improvement, increasing from 245 the first year of the fair.

Four additional tents were necessary this year to house all the exhibits, and a new office building provides more adequate space for the fair officials.

The theme of these education booths is centered around one of the following classes: conservation, safety, boys' 4-H project, girls' 4-H project, and all other 4-H activities such as judging, tractor operators' contest, demonstrations, and participation in the Farmers' Parade have been taking place all week. Any 4-H boy in the county is eligible to participate in any or all of these events.

Animal demonstrations were given on Wednesday. These included "fitting of dairy animals" by Dale Wagner and Larry Schenk, "showing of dairy animals" by Roger Roderick, "carding and handling sheep' by Thomas and Stewart Stanton.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON by Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

Christian Story a Legend?

A few years ago people of England were stirred by a broadcast on BBC by Margaret Knight, a psychology instructor at Aberdeen University. To quote her in part, she said, "There are two great powers in the world; a good power called God and a bad power called the devil. We can tell our children some people still believe this, but most people now think there is not really a devil. A devil is like an orge or witch in fairy tales. We can tell them some people don't think there is a real God any more than there is a Santa Claus, though we like to talk as though there were." She said the children should be told there was a real Christ that was crucified but not that he "was the Son of God and of a Virgin, or that He rose from the dead." It is regrettable that instructors who do not believe in the true and living God hold teaching positions. The Bible calls her a fool. (Psalm 14) She has not learned the first principle of knowledge. (Proverbs 1:7) It is more regrettable when people who say they believe in God and the Saviour act as though it were a myth. Real Christian faith works a change in a person's life.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Matthew, the inspired writer of the first of the four gospels wrote: "Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick, and it giveth light unto all that are in the house." This was a challenge to mankind to, first, know the Truth; then carry it high like a beacon giving "light unto all that are in the house." It requires courageous and dedicated people to light the candles of Truth and give light to all.

But this is the kind of dedication needed in our nation today as we see Communism advancing relentlessly toward world domination while our people remain apathetic. Mrs. Carol Lippman, who lives and works and mothers her family in the little city of Benton, in central Arkansas, is such a candle lighter.

In April 1959, Mrs. Lippman, secretary to one of the executives of a large mineral processing plant and who doubles as housewife and mother, attended a Freedom Forum held by the National Education Program in Searcy. The Forum sent her home carrying a lighted candle of knowledge on the great values inherent in our American way of life and on the grave dangers of world Communism and encroaching Socialism. Carrying the candle for this knowledge became her avocation. Her first conquest was her husband Al, himself an industrial executive. When he had been given the facts, he became alarmed.

Until 30 days ago, however, Mrs. Lippman's candle hadn't exactly become a bonfire lighting up the city of Benton. Benton, like every other progressive American community was basking in prosperity and happiness. Communism and Socialism were spectres but far, far away. Why worry? Everything was fine! Then Mrs. Lippman, through her constant communication with the National Education Program, received descriptive material on its new sound-color filmstrip, "Communism On The Map," which was frankly designed to shock America into an awareness of the peril of advancing world Communism.

She arranged for a showing in Benton. Al is a Lions Club member. So she helped organize a "Ladies Night" for the showing. "Al and I cornered the local newspaper editors and impressed upon them the importance of this subject to every citizen, and they both responded with front page stories," she relates. With Mrs. Lippman beating the drum, the Lions and their Ladies came out en masse — the biggest Lions Club affair in Benton's history. "The film made an almost shattering impression upon all those present," Mrs. Lippman reports. "The town is really in an uproar!"

Mrs. Lippman had lit a bonfire at last! The substance of the filmstrip supplied the tonic for conversation all over Benton for 10 days. Then the Lions, gently nudged by Al, became a spearhead of a community-wide educational effort. They will take the film into every group, every institution, every organization in their city. Officials of Lions International were contacted and some have promised to try to "make this a grass roots movement throughout Lionism in the U. S."

Plans are underway locally to organize an Anti-Communist Action Committee. Study groups are being formed. A library of sound, carefully screened books on Communism is being set up and committees will endeavor to get every family to read them. A similar pamphlet library is taking shape for widest distribution. The Lippman's 15-year-old daughter has formed a Youth Anti-Communist Action Group among school mates.

There are many, many other activities now underway in Benton. The people there are going to know the true facts about the menace of Communism and help our nation fight a Cold War affecting the lives of every citizen. We salute Mrs. Carol Lippman, a candle lighter.

During July he toured the Demilitarized Zone, at Panmunjom, Korea, traveling by bus from Inchon, where the cruiser was anchored, to the capital city of Seoul enroute to Panmunjom.

His one-hour tour included briefings on the Military Armistice Commission meetings and stops in several of the buildings within the neutral circle, 800-yards in diameter, used by both United Nations personnel and members of the communist Korean Peoples Army.

Before he, and the other U. S. Navymen were allowed to enter the area, permission had to be obtained from the communist side, as specified in the Armistice Agreement. Communist tour groups must first be given permission to go into the area by the United Nations Command.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Sports Glasses

- Bathroom Problem
- Oxygen Pep
- Coronary Insufficiency

Q. I have seen advertisements in sports magazines for yellow-tinted glasses that are supposed to improve the hunter's sight, especially on cloudy or overcast days. Are such glasses helpful?

A. Yes, they do help. Yellow-tinted glasses transmit yellow light rays unchanged, but cut down the short-wave rays of blue and green. When used on cloudy or overcast days, yellow rays seen through the glasses become relatively brighter than the blue or green. As a result, yellowish animals can be seen more distinctly by hunters who wear such glasses.

Q. This is not a very nice subject, but what is the best way to sterilize toilet seats?

A. The most practical way is by use of soap and water and a suitable antiseptic solution.

Q. What is the medical opinion regarding use of oxygen by athletes?

A. There is little or no scientific evidence that use of pure oxygen by athletes is helpful. Most authorities disapprove of this practice because the hoped-for boost in energy tends to make the athlete overexert himself. Athletes performing at high elevations might conceivably get a temporary "lift" from breathing pure oxygen, but even this is debatable.

Q. Please explain coronary insufficiency. Is such a condition dangerous? Can it turn into cancer?

A. The heart muscle is nourished by special blood vessels called coronary arteries. If one of these vessels becomes partially or completely blocked or goes into spasm the amount of blood that can get through the artery is lessened. As a result the coronary artery delivers an insufficient amount of blood to the heart itself. Hence the expression, coronary insufficiency. The degree of danger depends, of course, on the extent to which the coronary blood flow is diminished. There is no relationship between coronary insufficiency (which involves mechanical impediment of blood flow to the heart itself) and cancer (which is a disease process).

Review of The Play

Came 10:40 p. m. on Tuesday and everyone present at opening night at the playhouse was in a jovial and pleasant mood A state of mind resulting from a well acted performance of one of America's better known comedy shows. Yes, this Tuesday it really happened, the explosion I've been waiting for came through. The lads and lasses really presented a bufferoo of belly laughs and well delivered comedy business.

The play was "Three Men on a Horse" by John Cecil Holm and George Abbott originally produced by Alex Yokel in 1935. It was the first of a great series of funny shows, some straight and some musical, which were rewritten in some cases, but all directed by George Abbott, who is incidentally, still at it in New York as a top flight director. Everyone had such a good time on Tuesday, and this group represented what in my opinion was the largest first night audience ever at Deep Creek, that I've begun to wonder if perhaps light broad comedy isn't what most of the customers would prefer in future years. Plays which are moderately well known, which pack some good laughs, which don't require too much deep thinking or concentration have been the type of productions which have been most popular, not only this year at the playhouse, but in past years as well.

Since we are a summer theatre and not an experimental or a college theatre group, it would seem to me the management might give more thought to the lighter and funnier type of play rather than producing the opus which provides a so-called challenge to the cast. There have been certain plays popular in past years which might well be repeated next year. Among these might include "The Four Poster", "Blithe Spirit", "Rhs Stop". In addition there are the "Male Animal", "Born Yesterday," "Up in Mabel's Room", and "Private Lives". All of which provide for excellent evenings of theatre fare.

At Tuesday's opening, the comedians of the company had themselves an hilarious evening. Since everyone contributed so well to the evening's pleasure, it makes it a bit difficult to single out any particular person. But I am sure no one will disagree when I say that John Fisher, the Erwin Trowbridge of this week's endeavor, turns in the best male comedy performance of all times at the Garrett County Playhouse. John was Erwin in the flesh. His mannerisms, facial expressions and general acting made his Erwin an individual to be believed and enjoyed. He was aided and abetted in a large way by the three men, Charlie, Frankie and Patsy. Typical horse players and touts, really one might best call these characters running else. First, Patsy, the brains of the trio well played by Fred Burrell. Secondly, Charlie, a gum chewing tout made believeable by Steve Wagner, and lastly, Frankie, something straight off a Tenth avenue in the person of Jim Friedman who makes this somewhat dense person a delight. As the romantic interest we have Mabel, the doll of Patsy's. She is brought into life by our favorite scene stealer, Judy Knaiz. Judy's performance has many fine points, none of the least are her well performed bumps and grinds as she attempts to entertain Erwin. Never have we heard more laughter in the old barn than was present during and following this particular scene.

Other members of the cast are Judith Weimken as Audrey, the long suffering wife of Erwin, Richard Dorian as a somewhat obnoxious brother; Ray Caton another guy who tends bar on the side along with Peggy Lewis, Sally Lorin and Marty McGuire in supporting roles. Last but not least is that eminent Thespian George Spelvin who makes three short appearances.

The story is largely about Erwin, a nice homely sort of chap who writes verses for greeting cards. In addition he finds he has the ability to pick all the winners on the day's card at the race track. This is done while riding the bus from Ozone Heights to New York. He becomes involved with three guys and a doll who are inveterate horse players. They appreciate the abilities of their new ecquaintance and proceed to make the best of it. How this works out provides the framework for a real funny show with excellent performances by a first rate group of actors.

We are recommending this week's effort most highly.

Prestonites React To Proposed Plant

There was reaction in Preston county over the announcement last week that the Monogahela Power company was planning a coal burning electric power plant in Canaan Valley, near Davis.

Preston countians seemed to be favoring a hydro-electric project on Cheat river, at Rowlesburg.

W. C. Handlan, manager of the utility's area development, said it was opposed to the building of a hydroelectric plant because it "doesn't make sense to put in such a plant right in the middle of a coal field. Any time you put in power with electricity you are destroying a market for coal. Obviously whatever power is produced will destroy a market for coal and cause that much more unemployment."

Doyne Halbritter, Kingwood attorney, said there was no coal in the immediate vicinity of the project and that the power company had been opposed to the plant for 50 years because of business reasons.

U. S. District engineers are to hold a public hearing Friday at Kingwood to consider building a reservoir at Rowlesburg, primarily for flood control. The reservoir would occupy the Cheat River valley between Rowlesburg and Parsons.

Handlan said the company was not opposed to the reservoir if it is necessary for flood control.

The Kingwood area Chamber of Commerce said yesterday the hydro-electric dam on Cheat river would cause an economic boom in the county, and would become a major recreation and tourist facility besides providing large scale employment while under construction.

At the hearing Friday city officials of Kingwood and Rowlesburg will speak in favor. Both the United Mine Workers union and Monongahela Power company will appear in opposition to inclusion of hydro-electric facilities in the dam. Neither is opposed in principle to a flood control dam.

The project would create a reservoir covering nearly 10,000 acres, between Rowlesburg and Parsons, 17 airline miles to the south in Tucker county. Army engineers surveyed the area in 1941 and estimated it would cost $29,230,000 initially and $171,500 a year for maintenance and operation. It was estimated construction cost now would be near $100 million.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Attire at Picnics Slightly Different In This Year 1960

Family picnics at Swallow Falls are no new idea, as this photograph, taken in 1897 or 1898, testifies.

But one thing, apparently, has changed remarkably during the years. This is forcibly noted by merely observing the attire of the participants.

When the picture was taken Swallow Falls was probably a rather wild area, without the conveniences of tables, fireplaces and indoor cooking and eating facilities, projects begun by the Civilian Conservation Corps a quarter century ago and since carried on by the Department of Forests and Parks.

The entire group is attired in a manner more befitting a Sunday church service than an adventure in outdoor living in the primeval forests of virgin pine. True, some of the more dashing young ladies are wearing rakish straw hats, and most of the young men are bareheaded; but not to be seen is a single pair of shorts clam digger, sport shirt, pedal pusher or Bermuda, now the acknowledged modus videndi of an al fresco excursion.

The picture belongs to Mrs. Ida Coddington, a former resident now living in Salem, Ohio, and was brought to The Republican office by her daughter, Mrs. Doris Harrigan, also now residing in Salem.

Mrs. Harrigan said the photo was taken by the Grant Photographic studios, one of the pioneer picture takers of the area, and the occasion was a family reunion held late in the nineteenth century.

Most of the participants have been identified. Reading clockwise from the left rear, they were listed as:

Stella Browning, Leslie King, Daisy Browning, John Compton, Harry Ritchie, Walter Sikes, John M Browning, George Kimrael, Willie DeWitt, unknown; Ken Browning, Joe Skipper, William R Browning, Mrs Cyphart, Arthur Cyphart, Mary Skipper.

Roland Whitacre, Zadie Browning, Mrs. Henry Kelly, Lucy Coddington, Frank Coddington, Ida Browning, Lily Ripley, Henry Kelley, Mary Cole and Allie Browning.

Fishing Results of Recent Days Listed

Good fishing results in recent days were reported by the Deep Creek Lake information center. Best reports came from anglers around Glendale bridge and Marsh mountain area. Walleye fishing was considered good and nice catches made of black Crappie in the Green Glade inlet.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Proverbs	18	10
Monday	Psalms	53	1-2
Tuesday	Proverbs	29	25-26
Wednesday	Luke	17	33
Thursday	John	11	1
Friday	John	15	7-8
Saturday	Ephesians	3	19-20

A desperate run . . . a frantic slide . . . the feel of the bag against your cleats . . . the belated tag of the shortstop's glove. Then a voice, clear, certain . . . final!

And though the cheers may be laced with hoots and screams of disapproval, you're safe. And nothing can change that fact!

Equally dramatic — and far more important — is the adventure that brings earnest men and women into the Church.

There is a point when we realize the inertia of half-believing. We plunge forward desperately, leaving behind yesterday's skepticism, seeking frantically the Truth that promises meaning and purpose for our life.

Then there's the thrilling moment — the dust of wordly confusion still all around us — when we know in our hearts we have found our faith. And always, above the strains of the organ, even above the clamor of a world unconvinced, there is a Voice, clear, certain . . . final — confirming our Faith.

Vision and Call

Lesson for August 14, 1960

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC name for it is "vocation;" the Protestant name for it is "calling." They mean just the same thing, the call of God to a man or woman for special service. Protestants and Catholics as well are now beginning to expand the meaning of the word. It is being seen by many, though others are slow to see it, that God may call a man to be a grocer or a farmer just as well as to be a minister of the Gospel. No Christian, surely, has any business staying permanently in a job where God does not want him to be. The more you believe in the will of God, the better you can see that it is really not good at all to choose your own way without asking what God's will is. The wiser you believe God is, the more eager you will be to learn what he has for you to do.

Dr. Foreman

When Half-Gods Go

"When half-gods go, the gods arrive," a poet said. Let us say that better: When half-gods go, then God arrives! How did God arrive to Isaiah? That man was perhaps the most famous, certainly one of the most distinguished of the Hebrew prophets. How the call of God came to him, he tells us in chapter 6 of the book of his prophecies. In some ways the story is hard to understand; but in other ways we can put it into a modern dress, so to speak, and get a good deal from it. To put it shortly, Isaiah's call came when he saw the Lord. But when did he see the Lord? He dates it so that all his readers would identify it. "In the year that King Uzziah died I saw the Lord," he writes. That was like 1865 or 1945, when two great presidents died. King Uzziah had not been a perfect king, but he had been a strong one. People had leaned on him as they always lean on a "father-image," whether a Lincoln or a Roosevelt or a DeGaulle or any one else. Isaiah (being out of the top drawers in his country, a friend of the royal family) had leaned no doubt on the good king Uzziah. When he died, Isaiah was ready for the vision God had not sent him before. God became real to him, in a time of disaster and loss, as he had not seemed real before.

Isaiah was not carried away by rapture when he saw God. The sight of the Divine Majesty (as many saints have learned can be a terrible experience. The first thing Isaiah feels is shame for his sins, sins which God deals with not by washing them away but by burning them away. To put this into common language, perhaps too common: Isaiah has to begin by getting right with God. God was calling him to be a prophet, or as we would say, a preacher. An important part of a preacher's business is to condemn men's sins. But no preacher can lead others to the forgiveness of God who has not felt that forgiveness himself. No preacher has the right to condemn other men's sins if he spares his own.

A Sense of Human Need

A Christian leader, being asked what a "call of God" is, replied: "A call consists in realizing a need and realizing one's own ability to meet that need." So it was with Isaiah. He hears the voice of God saying "Who will go . . . ?" and he cries out, "Here am I; send me." Not all God's messengers and servants have heard literal sounds that they could have taken off on a tape recording machine. But the point is always the same: Men are seldom if ever aware of the needs of the world until God has touched them. What is it to be a minister of the Gospel? Without that strong sense of God, a minister is only another career man who makes a living by preaching rather than by raising hogs or selling lightning-rods. Without the vision of God, a young man asks the same questions about the ministry that he asks about any old job: What does it pay, how about promotions, bonuses, my chance to be rich and famous? But once God has touched a man, the ministry is seen as a challenging opportunity to be God's man, and to help others to find him, regardless of salary or security. All the questions vanish in "Here am I!"

Story Of Mason And Dixon Markers Given

Mason and Dixon line markers were given a thorough review this past Sunday in J. William Hupt's column, "Across the Desk," in the Cumberland Sunday Times. The account follows:

TWO CENTURIES (all but three years) have passed since Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon began their historic survey of the Pennsylvania-Maryland boundary line in 1763.

Not nearly so famous is the survey made by Mason and Dixon to determine the Delaware-Maryland borders, a survey to determine the western and southern borders of Delaware.

At the completion of the Mason-Dixon Line in 1767 separating Pennsylvania and Maryland, 133 cut stone markers were placed from the northeast corner of this state westward to Sideling Hill, about 30 miles east of Cumberland.

Nine additional markers were on hand to be set up but the mountainous terrain from Sideling Hill westward and the increasing difficulty in moving the heavy stones to this area caused the work to be abandoned.

THE SINCLAIR Survey of 1885 resulted in the placement of a stone marker just east of the present north-west corner of Maryland. In 1910 the boundary commission appointed by the U. S. Supreme Court had a concrete monument erected at the exact spot where West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland meet. This was in settlement of the boundary dispute between West Virginia and Maryland, more particularly the final settlement of the line separating Preston County, W. Va., and Garrett County, Maryland.

The Resurvey of 1900-1903 resulted in the placement of 83 additional stone markers on the Mason and Dixon Line from Sideling Hill to the northwest corner of Maryland.

It is well to keep in mind that the two English surveyors carried their east-west line 33 miles beyond the present western limits of Maryland, but ended their survey 22 miles short of the western limits of Pennsylvania. In fact the Mason and Dixon survey went only to Dunkard Creek, a tributary of the Cheat and Monongahela Rivers on the borders of Preston and Monongalia counties, W. Va. and Fayette County, Pa.

TURNING EASTWARD after reaching Dunkard Creek, Mason and Dixon built mounds of earth and stone heaped around wooden posts to mark the line. These helped the surveyors of 1900 in locating spots to erect more permanent markers.

The original Mason-Dixon map is in the Land Office at Annapolis.

It is interesting to note that the famous survey of 197 years ago had nothing to do with locating the western boundary of Maryland. This was described in the original charter granted to Lord Baltimore by King Charles I as "the true meridian of the first fountain of the River Potowmack." The only assignment Mason and Dixon had was to run the straight line west that would mark Pennsylvania's southern border and Maryland's northern border. During the Civil War this line became more famous as the demarcation between the North and the South, the Union and the Confederacy.

AS THE extension of the Mason-Dixon Line westward, beyond Maryland, marks the border between Pennsylvania and West Virginia for approximately 55 miles, it was agreed by the two states in 1883 to join in an accurate survey of the north-south boundary and also the western border of Pennsylvania where it meets the Northern Panhandle of the Mountain State. The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey assigned C. H. Sinclair to direct this project, and it was when this engineer reached the northwest corner of Garrett County (the eastern terminus of his survey which began at the southwest corner of Pennsylvania) that he erected the stone marker known as the Sinclair Stone. This is not an exact location monument.

THE ORIGINAL stones erected by Mason and Dixon were cut in England and shipped to the colonies. Several of these were left in the Sideling Hill area when it was found too difficult and expensive to transport them farther west by wagon. A century later some of these "crown stones" were located in use as horseblocks, door steps and in the walls of buildings in Washington County. The monument which marked the end of the 50th mile west from the starting point of the survey was found in the possession of the Maryland Historial Society in Baltimore. The Society agreed to furnish an exact replica in white marble if allowed to retain the original. This was done.

Pennsylvania, given the same privilege, decided to locate its marble crown stone where the Mason-Dixon Line crosses the highway at Ellerslie, only a few miles north of Cumberland.

FROM SIDELING Hill westward (following the 1900-1903 Resurvey) the 83 monuments erected along the Western Maryland northern boundary were quarried at Cockeysville, this state. These posts are four feet, six inches long and ten inches square, terminating in a flat pyramid. The letter P is on the north face and the letter M on the south side. On the east and west sides are the dates 1766-1767 and 1902, the latter representing the Resurvey and date of erection.

Two Mason-Dixon monuments were covered by man-made lakes, Conowingo near Baltimore) covered No. 25 and the Youghiogheny Reservoir (about 40 miles west of here) inundated No. 212. There is a report that this latter was removed, but the location is now covered by water. Photographs were taken in 1950 of the 214 existing monuments that mark the Pennsylvania-Maryland border, the markers being at mile intervals.

Some of the stones are damaged, a few have toppled over and several are almost covered by soil and debris.

MUCH OF THE country through which the historic Mason-Dixon Line runs is rough and heavily wooded. The nearest road points to Cumberland. Crossed by the boundary are U. S. 220 North; the roads to Wellersburg-Berlin; Ellersbe-Hyndman; Valley to Bedford Road, and the road to Lake Gordon.

One of the original markers (No. 45) was taken from the Maryland - Delaware boundary and sent to the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 but never returned.

The original Mason-Dixon milestones antedate the milestones on the Cumberland Road (U. S. 40) by more than a half century. Both are to the U. S. as was the Appian Way to the Rowan Empire. Both are closely related to Cumberland. But how many Cumberland area people think of driving their guests a few miles to cross the most famous border in American history—the Mason - Dixon Line?

THE REPUBLICAN

Supreme Issue - - -

Former President Herbert Hoover spoke to the Republican National convention a few weeks ago. What he said had nothing to do with political partisanship. It was directed to everyone, of any political allegiance, who believes in the ideals and principles that created and has sustained this nation thus far.

The former president recognizes the great problems of the time—foreign, domestic, economic, and social. But to his mind one issue is supreme—the moral issue.

This country is now, in his words, "in the midst of a frightening moral slump." We see it in the soaring crime rates, and in corruption in certain areas of government, business and labor. Then, on top of that, he said, ". . . . Communist conspiracies and their 'fronts' have poured their Marxist poisons into our people. We have also been brainwashed with another Communist basic tenet. They insist that love of country, pride of a people in their history, their ideals, and their accomplishments is wicked nationalism."

What, then, is the national need? It is a "rebirth of a great spiritual force, which has been impaired by cynicism and weakened by foreign infections." We need, in other words, to once more remember what so many of us seem to have forgotten—the meaning of the word America. To quote Mr. Hoover once again, "For centuries the word America among the great masses of people over the world has been an emblem of hope, of more security in life—and more freedom."

If we lose sight of this, all the military power on earth, and all the economic strength that anyone can imagine, will not save us from ultimate destruction.

The alleged assault occurred at the home of Sam Friend, father of Charles, after several persons had been to Friendsville for beer, the sheriff said.

Premium Winners At Garrett County Fair Are Listed

Prize Money Totals Over $4,000 And Is Distributed To 495 Participants

Prize money totaling over $4,000 was distributed to some 495 participants who exhibited at the fourth annual Garrett County Fair last week. Fair officials announced there were 543 exhibitors and 2,195 exhibits, compared to 474 exhibitors and 2,251 exhibits last year.

The decrease in the number of exhibits was caused, fair officials said, because of the extreme wet season which retarded the season about two weeks, and the fact that the Fair came a week early this year.

However, there appeared to be a much better quality, and the exhibits were noticeably neater. Rain did not occur at any time in the week to dampen the spirits of the people and the attendance this year was greater than any previous fair. Biggest day was Thursday when over 6,000 people were in attendance. Gate receipts for the week were larger than last year.

AMONG TYPE STYLISTS—Jane Hanst, Monte Vista 4-H club member, Oakland, was in top four of State style revue held last Friday at state 4-H club week at College Park. There were sixty-three entrants. The contest was won by Frances Dunkle, Prince Frederick, Calvert county.

County Girl In Top Four Among Four-H Stylists

Twelve hundred twenty-five 4-H'ers, leaders, and Extension Agents participated in the thirty-eighth annual Maryland 4-H Club Week held last week at the University of Maryland. Garrett County was represented by 18 members, 1 local leader, and 2 extension agents. Educational classes, special interest groups, tours, and Indian Trihal activities filled the week with learning, fun and fellowship.

Jane Hanst, Monte Vista club member, placed in the "Top Four" in the State Dress Revue held Friday during 4-H Club Week. Miss Hanst modeled a blue and green plaid blazer suit made of a nylon and wood blend. The blazer featured a notched collar, two piece set-in sleeves, button front closing, and patch pockets with top-stitching detail. The skirt was box pleated. The plaids were perfectly matched throughout the blazer and skirt. Navy accessories completed the outfit. Sixty-three girls from all 23 counties competed for the honor of representing Maryland in the National Dress Revue to be held in December during National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Frances Dunkle, Calvert County, was named state winner. Her winning outfit was a navy blue tailored wool suit with fitted jacket and gored skirt. Miss Dunkle and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dunkle, resided in Garrett County a number of years ago, where Mr. Dunkle was principal of Oakland High School 1951-1953. Sarah King, Frederick County, and Carolyn Mills, Montgomery County, were also named in the "Top Four". Joyce Ann Haenltling, North Star

Stewart Stanton Is Outstanding Youth At County Fair

Stewart Stanton, 15 year old 4-H member of Grantsville Boys' 4-H Club, received the "Outstanding Youth at the Garrett County Fair" award. An engraved plaque was presented to Stewart on Saturday evening by Mr. M. S. Brookhart, President of the Oakland Rotary Club.

This award, sponsored by the Oakland Rotary Club, is given to any youth under 21 years of age on his record of activities and exhibits in the fair. Points are earned through participation in various departments plus the award won on the exhibit or activity. A total of 186 points was earned by Stewart in eight different departments.

President of the Grantsville Boys' 4-H Club, Stewart has been a member of the club for six years. He and his brother, Tom, got their start in their sheep project by borrowing the necessary money through the Sears Sheep Fund. In this way they purchased their ewes and began their project. Gradually building up their flock they were able to pay back the complete sum by February of 1959. This year blue ribbons won by Stewart were on his Hampshire ewe, 2 years old; ewe yearling and the champion ewe ribbon.

Baby Beef Sale Brings Top Prices

Owner Of Happy Hills Buys Two Top Champions—High Price Is 64c lb.

John Hafer, owner of Happy Hills Farm restaurant, purchased the grand champion and the reserve champion baby beef steers to set the pace at the second annual 4-H and F. F. A. baby beef sale held Saturday, August 13, at the Garrett County Fair.

The final bid for the grand champion Hereford steer exhibited by Tom Jones of Oakland was .64 cents per pound. This price was .04 cents higher then the price brought by last year's champion.

The reserve champion Hereford steer was sold by Dale Evans of Friendsville for .45 cents per pound. Both animals will be butchered for use in Mr. Hafer's restaurant.

Miller's Market in Oakland emerged as the largest single buyer in the sale. Six steers were purchased by Mr. Naylor for resale. Other county retail establishments purchasing steers for resale were Brownings Inc., Smouse's Market, Yoder's Locker Plant, and John Lutz Market. Other buyers were Clem Teets, Grantsville Livestock Auction, Blair Simmons, Charles Wilt, Harland Bowman, Dr. H. R. Gibson, Bridgeport Auction, South Branch Valley Stockyard, W. H. Fratz, Earl Mosser, Eastern States Cooperative, John Reckner, Jr., Allied Mills, Earle Railey, and R. W. Stover.

The thirty three steers sold averaged over .36 cents per pound. This price represents a .12 cent premium over the present market price. Slaughter steer prices have been poor for the past several months due to a temporary oversupply of beef. This situation depressed the average price somewhat below that of last year.

The baby beef project is open to all 4-H and F. F. A. members in Garrett County. It is sponsored and supervised by the Garrett County Beef Producer's Association, according to Virgil Jones, President. This year's participants were Tom Jones, Dale Evans, William Schmidt, Frank Paugh, Simon Opel, Robert Opel, Eddie Wilburn, David Custer, Larry Canon, Ellsworth Yoder, Larry Grove, Donald Stanton, Fred Bowser, James Fratz, Mark Rush, Terry Beitzel, Allan Rush, Brooks Hamilton, Glen Kolbfleisch, John Widesen, Tom Wildesen, Richard Rinker, Tom Magruder, and William Magruder.

Arguments Will Be Heard on Demurrer

The date has been set for argument on the demurrer, filed by the county commissioners against the request for a writ of mandamus asked by several taxpayers, in a case involving payment of fees for drilling work.

The argument will be heard on Thursday, September 1, at 10 o'clock, in the court room and will be heard by Associate Judge Kenneth McLaughlin, of Hagerstown. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, Oakland, will not sit in the case.

Arguing for the County Commissioners will be Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., and Walter W. Dawson. Arguing for the several taxpayers will be Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport.

The taxpayers' petition was filed in the Circuit court a number of weeks ago and contended that payment made to A. C. Brenneman and John J. Brenneman for work performed at the county quarry was in effect illegal since A. C. Brenneman at the time was a member of the Board of County Commissioners.

The Commissioners replied to the petition claiming the writ of mandamus should be denied and listed nine reasons. They asked that a demurrer be granted.

The taxpayers' petition was filed by Blaine Friend, James Ross, Donald Frazee, Friendsville; Arthur C. Savage, Mellenry; Parker Warnick, New Germany; and James Broadwater, Sang Run.

Should the demurrer be granted that would end the proceedings. Should it be denied, then a date would be set for trying the case on its merits.

He served in Germany, Libya, and two years ago was sent to Westover, Mass., where he remained until he was separated from the service August 5.

Poultry Plant Is Closed By Strike

Over 125 Employes Idle By Action Of Union

A contract dispute closed down the Sterling Processing Company's poultry processing plant in Oakland Tuesday morning. The strike was called by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen and the Teamsters' union.

Frank O'Malley, industrial relations director for the firm, said the strike followed termination by the unions Monday at midnight of an extension of the contract. He said drivers represented by the teamsters, delivered all poultry which was processed Monday.

The union groups set up picket lines at the plant following a meeting early Tuesday morning at which the unions rejected the company's contract offer.

Mr. O'Malley said the company's offer included one cent per hour, effective July 1, 1960, three cents effective, September 1, 1961; and two cents effective July 1, 1962. In addition there was a $2.50 annual allowance for aprons, gloves and hair nets, two days' pay for absence for death in the immediate family, modification of shift differentials, and other benefits. The new contract would have expired December 31, 1962.

Under the company's offer the base rate would be $1.19 retroactive to July 1; $1.22 on September 1, 1961; and $1.24 on July 1, 1962.

Union negotiators had proposed, subject to membership action, that the 2½ year contract include a six-cent wage package, with three cents retroactive to July 1 and the other three cents next July, according to Joseph Freno, agent of the Teamsters union in Cumberland. The Union originally sought 15 cents per hour increase with an additional 10 cents in fringe benefits.

No further meetings between company and unions are scheduled. Mr. Freno reported the unions told the company they are willing to sit down and negotiate an agreement.

The Meat Cutters union represented about 110 workers and the Teamsters union has about 15 drivers at the plant.

The plant was located in Oakland slightly more than three years ago, and is a part of Sterling Enterprises. It employs some 125 people, and has a payroll of around $12,000 per week.

In a letter to all its employes, the Sterling corporation said it "regrets that the Unions have taken this action rather than extending the contract while negotiations continue. This was the Unions' decision—not ours."

The company pointed out that the wage contract offered is one far in excess of area wages and practices and competitive with the industry.

It explained that the location of a poultry processing plant at Oakland posed many problems not confronting plants in the Valley or on the Shore. It pointed out its nearest competitors were non-union

Anniversary Waltz Is Final Offering At Summer Theatre

A man's sentimental indiscretion at his 15th wedding anniversary is the spark that sets off a series of amusing situations in the comedy, "Anniversary Waltz," which is the final offering of the Summer Theatre, and which will open next Tuesday, August 23 and continue until Saturday, August 27.

Judith Wiemken and Fred Burrell are in the leading roles as the amiable married couple whose anniversary party results in almost wrecking their marriage.

A long run hit in New York where it drew capacity audiences for 17 months, the play relates the storms that assail a blissful celebration-induced impulse to tell a long-held secret.

The revelation sets the wife's parents off on a delayed tantrum but has an effect upon the couple's teen-age kids.

Written by Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields the show also had long runs in other cities.

Besides Wiemken and Burrell as husband and wife, will be Peg Lewis, Judy Kranz, John Fisher, Richard Dorian, Jennifer Yell, Steve Wagner and Marty McGuire in supporting roles.

For the balance of this week the play, "The Pursuit of Happiness will be presented at the Playhouse at McHenry.

Wrecks Automobile Near Grantsville

Considerable property damage was caused last Wednesday when six automobiles were involved in three separate accidents near Grantsville. No injuries were reported, according to Maryland state police.

All three accidents occurred along U. S. route 40 six miles east of Grantsville.

Trooper John Sweitzer said the first occurred at 2:30 p. m., and involved two cars, one being operated by Herman H. Guethersloh, Hamburg, N. Y., and an unidentified driver. Both cars were westbound when the unidentified vehicle struck the rear of Guethersloh's car. Only minor damage was reported.

The second occurred at 2:40 and caused considerable property damage. Trooper Sweitzer said Mavis dell Dodaro, Second street, Oakland, was driving her car westbound when she lost control on a curve. The Dodaro car ran off the north side of the highway and as the woman was attempting to get back onto the highway she lost control, shot up an embankment and the vehicle flipped over. The car was demolished, but the woman was not injured.

Trooper Sweitzer said while he was clearing up the second accident a third mishap occurred. John A. Conart, route 1, Logan, W. Va., was traveling west when he stopped for the Dodaro accident. Conart stopped his car as did Thomas W. Dunn, Wheeling, who was traveling behind Conart. At the same time a third car, being operated by Marvin F. Sisler, Hazelton, W. Va., was unable to stop and ran into the rear of Dunn, pushing this vehicle into the utomobile of Conart.

Mobile Registration For Most Districts Is Set By Board

The mobile registration dates set by the Board of Supervisors two weeks ago have been enlarged to include most of the districts left out in the original schedule. There had been some talk that the precincts eliminated originally were the ones which would normally have shown Republican majorities, and that the Democratic controlled board was showing partiality. The board indicated this had no bearing on the schedule announced two weeks ago

However, at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors Tuesday night at the Court House the members decided to add to the mobile registration schedule Avilton, Red House, Ryan's Glade Elbow, Sang Run and Bittinger. It indicated that persons desiring to register from Crellin and Mt. Lake areas could come to the board's office in the court house to do so.

The revised schedule now sets the following dates:

Wednesday, August 17, district 10, Deer Park, at fire hall, 3 to 7 p. m.

Wednesday, August 24, district 15, Avilton, in St. Anns hall, 12 noon to 3:30 p. m.; district 9, Johnson, in Edward Robeson building, 4 to 8 p. m.

Friday, August 26, district 8-2, Red House, at Chimney Corner, 1 to 3 p. m.; district 8-1, Ryan's Glade, at fire hall in Gorman, 4 to 6 p. m.

Wednesday, August 31, district 11, Elbow in Parker Warnick building, 12 noon to 2:30 p. m.; district 3, Grantsville, Harry Edwards building, 4 to 8 p. m.

Friday, September 2, district 6, Sang Run in Community building, 12 noon to 2 p. m.; district 2, Friendsville, at fire hall, 3 to 7 p. m.

Wednesday, September 7, district 12, Bittinger, 12 noon to 3 p. m., in Bucked building; district 5, Accident, at fire hall 4 to 7 p. m.

Friday, September 9, district 1, Swanton, at Community building 4 to 7 p. m.

Friday September 16, district 4, Bloomington, at fire hall, 4 to 7 p. m.

Tuesday, September 20, district 13, Kitzmiller, health center, 3 to 7 p. m.

The board's office is open Monday through Friday, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. and on Saturday, 9 a. m. to 12 noon, except on the days when the outside registration is taking place. The office is in the basement of the court house

Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk, said civilian absentee ballots may be obtained by persons who know they will be out of the state on election day. It is necessary that a letter be sent to the board requesting an absentee ballot before October 19

The registration books will close on September 26 and the names of those who plan to vote in November must be on the books at that time

Beitzel has been an active 4-H member for six years with dairy as a main project. For the past two years he has taken an active part in the tractor workshops conducted in the county under the leadership of Paul Stull, Russell Teets and Dale Glotfelty.

Four parts make up a Tractor Operator's contest: Written and practical examination, tractor safety, operation of tractor, and wheel wagon.

The contest is designed to be a practical demonstration and an attempt is made to simulate actual farm operating conditions. The point-off system is used with the winner having the lowest score.

Guy Grenger, extension agricultural engineer, assisted with the contest, along with Paul Stull, 4-H tractor leader; E. Rankin Lusby, Barry Carr and Jack Perkins, assistant county agents; Richard Bishoff and Junior Reckner, Voag instructors. Tractor dealers cooperating included the Garrett Truck and Implement Co., Oakland Equipment Co., and Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc.

Don't Kill Dog In Case It Bites, Physician Warns

Physicians and health authorities were strongly urging this week that whenever a dog bites a human being, he should be penned up and not shot, as the shooting destroys the possibility of discovering whether or not the dog had rabies, in plenty of time to immunize the victim.

This was brought forcibly home this week when a boy was bitten by a dog and the dog was shot between the eyes, thereby destroying the brain and any chance the laboratory might have for establishing whether or not the dog was rabid and whether or not the individual bitten should receive anti-rabies treatment.

Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer explained that rabies or hydrophobia was a disease contracted from the bite of an infected animal. The disease is always fatal and there is no treatment for it, so the only treatment is prevention, he cautioned. This is accomplished by administering vaccine to any who may have been bitten by a rahid animal.

He said an animal may be infectious for as long as a week before it becomes sick but after once becoming sick it will die within three or four days. Then the animal's brain may be examined and the condition known in a short time.

But he said, when an enraged friend or relatives puts a high powered bullet into the brain, it destroys any chance of determining the cause.

The health officer urged that in case of a dog bite that the animal be penned up and observed for ten or eleven days. If the dog is still healthy at the end of this time no treament is necessary, but if it should become sick and die there is ample time for examination of the brain and if rabies is found, to institute treatment on the person who has been bitten.

University of Maryland unveiled a $20 million plan to more than double its Baltimore campus in ten years.

Roads Commission to Investigate 219 Job

Section of U. S. route 219 in this county will be one of the first highways to come under the investigation of a new SRC staff committee on road design.

John B. Funk, chairman-director of the commission, said it would be the duty of the committee to review all specifications and design of proposed highway construction not only in relation to location but also the traffic loads it will be expected to carry.

Mr. Funk said the committee will consist of the chief engineer, the chief of the bureau of traffic, chief of the testing laboratory, construction and maintenance engineers, research engineers and the district engineer in whose area the construction is proposed.

The SRC chairman-director emphasized the need for such a committee with particular emphasis on traffic expectations was dramatized when a section of U. S. route 219, between Oakland and Red House was discovered to be inadequate to carry the heavy loads it attracted. This section was built according to specifications for a contract that was awarded in 1958.

"New highways attract usage in volumes over and above increases that might normally be expected," Mr. Funk said, "In addition, new highways often attract substantial increases in truck traffic and other heavy vehicular movement of the type the route would not carry unless a new facility were built. These traffic factors must be given careful attention in design of new highways. They can have a telling effect on the thickness of the base course of the surfacing. Closer attention must be given to these factors than apparently has been given in the past," he said.

and paved far less than it did, that great quantities of poultry are shipped into the market areas from the South where wage and working conditions are far below those here, that poultry production in the immediate Oakland area is not sufficient to support the plant, that it is removed from the market center, that it is a new plant without established sales outlets, that it is not a cooperative and not a part of a national packing company.

But the company continued that its record for providing liberal employee benefits was without parallel in the industry. The company gave wage increases of 7 cents July 1, 1958, 3 cents January 5, 1959, 4 cents on June 1, 1959, and 4 cents April 30, 1960, with premium pay of from 5 to 10 cents an hour added to certain jobs, a program of paid vacations, six paid holidays, night and Sunday premium pay, maternity and personal leaves of absence and other guaranteed benefits at a cost of around 31 cents per employe hour.

In a statement yesterday Mr. O'Malley said that the Sterling plant had been in operation slightly over three years, during which time it has created a large market for poultry grown in the northern part of the state. The Preston Poultry and Feed company raises a portion of the poultry processed by Sterling at Oakland.

Because of the strike the Preston Poultry and Feed has had to sell its poultry to other processing plants and Sterling has made other arrangements to take care of regular customers.

The Sterling plant has been under Federal inspection since January, 1958. The company has advised that upon commencement of the strike the USDA inspectors were assigned to other processing plants. Because of the removal of government inspectors and other arrangements necessitated by the strike, it will not be possible to reopen the plant for some time after a settlement of the strike occurs.

cost of fuel, and light, and paying custodians for extra work at $1.25 per hour.

Mr. Hawkins said the board felt the expense of use by outside groups should not be borne by the school board budget, and it also felt that nominal charges discourage irresponsible persons from expecting use of the buildings. No charge is made for use of buildings by civic groups, except for fuel, light and custodial services. He said the practice was general throughout the state.

New Room to be Ready

The new room at Red House will be ready for occupancy by the time school opens September 6. Other projects including a new library at Kitzmiller, new cafeteria facilities at route 40, renovations and painting at Friendsville, Kitzmiller, Deer Park, Red House, Southern High gymnasium and Northern High shops, are nearing completion.

Obtain Restraining Order But Pickets Fail To Show Up

In anticipation of the appearance of some pickets at the wood yard of the Kitzmiller company at White Church, near Steyer, on Tuesday, a bill of complaint was filed in the Circuit court and an order issued enjoining them from acts of intimidation, coercion, violence, mass picketing and threats of violence.

However, the pickets failed to show up. There was information that the pickets would appear later this week, probably Friday.

The bill of complaint named as defendants the Construction and General Laborers' Local 954, affiliated with the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union of America, AFL-CIO, Charleston, W. Va., C. A. Smallwood and Thurman L. Radford, union agents, and thirty-two other individuals from Parsons, Hambleton, Hendricks, St. George, Porterwood, and Kerens.

The company stated it owned and operated a manufacturing plant at Parsons and a wood yard at White Church, employing some 125 persons, 17 of them at White Church. Employes of Parsons went on strike but none of the employes at White Church did so.

The group has been engaged in picketing at Parsons since August 3, the complaint said, interfering with passage of autos, trucks and railroad trains in and out of the plant, threatening employes with violence and bodily injury. The complaint said the strikers appeared at the kiln site on three occasions causing disturbances, calling workers vile and profane names, threatening bodily injury and damage to autos and property, and threatened on August 13 that they would return on August 16 to take action.

The bill added that they had threatened David Clark, an employe. Injunction proceedings were filed in Tucker county on August 10 at which time the company was granted an injunction restraining any illegal acts.

The restraining order here was signed by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Better Health Through Knowledge

To Spank or Not

- Air Travel
- Stroke Warnings
- Heart Murmurs

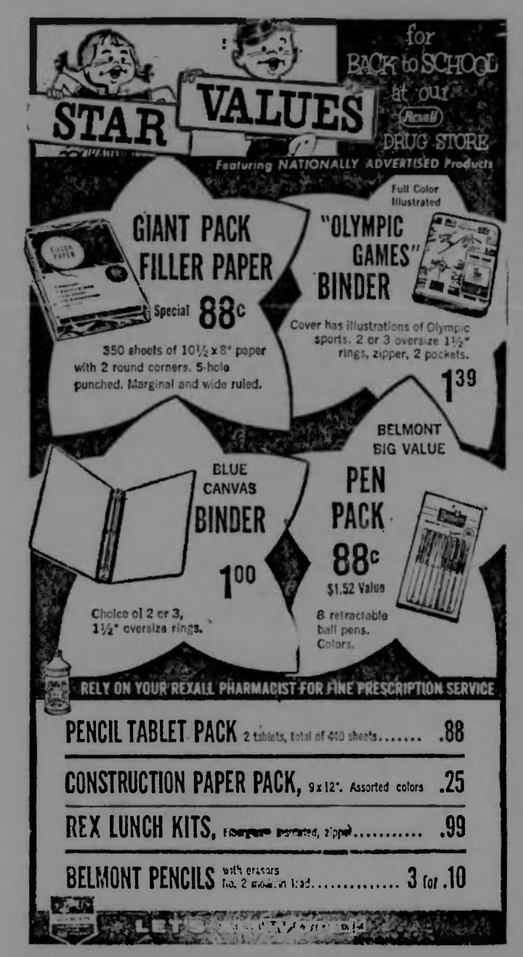
Q. In general, do doctors believe in spanking?

A. Obedience from a child comes mainly from his love and respect for the parents. Some parents rear well-behaved, obedient children without ever resorting to spanking; others (especially those who were spanked themselves) use physical punishment. Most doctors would probably neither recommend nor condemn spanking but rather try to encourage a better understanding between the parent and the child who is constantly disobedient.

Q. Would air travel cause menstrual irregularities?

A. According to Air Transport Association doctors there is no evidence that flying in any type of aircraft is a cause of menstrual trouble.

Q. Do elderly people ever have any warnings before a stroke occurs? Is there any way to prevent strokes?



A. Very often there are no symptoms that warn a person of an impending stroke. General principles can be followed in preventing strokes. They include maintaining weight at a sensible level, moderation in food, drink, and exercise, and avoidance of emotional upsets.

Q. A doctor recently told me that I had a heart murmur but that it was nothing to worry about. Why shouldn't I worry? Aren't heart murmurs serious?

A. Some are but the doctor was probably referring to "innocent" or "benign" murmur which arises in presumably normal hearts. By using special equipment, doctors can detect heart murmurs in virtually all normal persons.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Fishermen Report Catches In Yough

Reports of some catches of fish in the Youghiogheny river at Swallow Falls and south of Friendsville, during the past week have encouraged fishermen to believe that it may not be too long before the entire Youghiogheny river will regain its status as one of the finest fishing spots in Western Maryland.

This information was received by Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council through Robert Brown, district game warden. Brown said fisherman had been catching small bluegills and a few nice rainbow trout around Swallow Falls and smallmouth bass and bluegills south of Friendsville.

Big Catches at Deep Creek

Fishing success picked up during the week at Deep Creek Lake with pickerel fishing especially good in Penn Point area. Walleyes were caught around the Beckman peninsula, with bass fishing best at Pawa Run and Glendale bridge areas. Fishing was slow in the area of the dam.

Rev. Edwin Smith lured three pickerel, 18½, 17½ and 17 near Green Glade. He and his son Dallas then took four pickerel out of Deep Creek cove, ranging from 11 to 20 inches. Rev. Smith also got two more pickerel, 17 and 18 inchers, in Pawn run inlet.

Lieu Phillips, Mt Lebanon, got a 19½ inch 2-pound walleye in Beckman peninsula. Another walleye was taken by J. C. Davis, Morgantown, 13 inches, at Bee Tree hollow.

Richard Broome got two largemouth bass of 15 and 18 inches and 17-inch chain pickerel, at Pawn Run. Bob Hartley, Morgantown, hooked a 17½ inch small mouth bass at Glendale. Raymond Montgomery, Falls Place, Ind., caught a 21-inch smallmouth bass of 4 pounds, 3 ounces.

An 18-inch rainbow trout was creeled by Joseph Hinebaugh, Oakland, at Deep Creek dam. George Gilot, Morgantown, got three eastern chain pickerel near Hazelhurst. Largest one measured 20 inches and weighed 1 pound and 11 ounces.

"These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck...but not our Chevy"

Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day . . . make $15 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."

In every weight class these Chevies are doing more work at less expense than trucks have ever done before. Drive one at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's an experience that could pay you big dividends.

"That 6-cylinder engine really performs," says Bobby Fox. "It's got the tugging power we need in the woods and walks right along with a full load on the highway."

Review of The Play

Bundle - verb intransative - to occupy the same bed without undressing - said of a man and woman especially during courtship. Webster's New Collegiate dictionary bundling - present participle

In his forword to the readiag version of the play, Lawrence Langner, the authou, states: This play, in its earliest inception, was written as a social satire - an attempt to show something of the problems which any young man or young woman coming from Europe to this country might encounter, whether in 1776 or in 1934

The subject of bundling has considerable interest to persons living in this area since according to rumor and legend it is still practiced in some form or another by certain peoples in nearby Pennsylvania. Little booklets pertaining to the practice may still be purchased in York and Lancaster counties.

"The Pursuit Of Happiness" being presented this week at the Playhouse is a well written play concerned with certain American customs. It is a funny play with many laughs and one of the best third act taglines ever listened to. The Playhouse group does a commendable job with this opus.

The production is good all the way through. It is well staged with authentic looking stage properties, straight forward direction, and last but not least, most attractive costumes, by the Evans Costume company of New York.

In a word "The Pursuit Of Happiness" is a comedy where boy meets girl - boy likes girl - girl likes boy - and boy gets girl. All accomplished while certain strange American frailties are gently spooted.

All of the boys and girls seem to be having quite a ball in providing a quite cohesive performance. We must award the accolades this week to John Fisher who performs the part of the "Pater Familias" of the play. This is John's 3rd straight week with an important role and each time he has essayed a performance which has been a joy to watch and hear.

The two other principal characters around which the action centers are: Judy Knaiz as Prudence Kirkland, the young daughter of Aaron Kirkland of the Connecticut Militia. Judy is again most convincing in an interpretation of a spirited young girl in love. Jim Friedman is well cast as the gallant Hussian who becomes involved in the strange American custom and in so doing gains a wife. Jim also is most handsome as the young foreign mercenary.

Peggy Lewis is quite delightful as Meg, a lady of negotiable virtue who is responsible for some of the best lines in the show. Fred Burrell makes a very dashing appearance as the Virginia gentleman who is somewhat confused by many of the strange practices of the colonists in New England. Judy Weimken is excellent this week as the mother of the young bundlee. But may we call to Judy's attention that she didn't entertain any soldier from West Virginia in Connecticut in November, 1777 - since West Virginia as a state did not exist until after the Civil War. Marty McGuire is quite sinister and all around nasty as the Reverend Lyman Banks, a prying, keyhole peeping individual whose only redeeming quality as expressed by Captain Kirkland, is that he is a good horse doctor. Steve Wagner, in black face makes a convincing Mose and Richard Dorian completes the cast as a country bumpkin type of sheriff.

All in all a lively group of individuals living an interesting existence during the time of the American Revolution while they are busily engaged in life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Republican Booth At Fair Effective

Effectiveness of the Republican Women's Club booth at the County fair last week was attested by the women who were on hand through out the period. Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, president, said about ninety perecnt of the persons stopping at the booth, belonging to both major parties, said they planned to vote for the Nixon-Lodge ticket as they felt they were the best qualified to cope with the nation's problems.

The booth was sponsored by the Women's club and State Central committee. Much interest in the election was shown and voters were asking about places and dates of registration, absentee ballots and other general information.

Over one hundred dollars worth of Republican jewelry was sold and free literature, stickers and buttons were given out. Several dozen elephant cookie cutters were sold and fourteen hundred sugar cookies, made in the shape of an elephant, baked by Mrs. Sam Wood, Mt. Lake Park, were given away.

Charles McC. Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress, who visited the booth, said he was pleased with his reception in the county.

Mrs. Glotfelty said the Women's club would have Nixon hats to sell at 60 cents each in the near future and that more cookie cutters would be ordered.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Railroad Street Was Once The Main Drag

Industrial business places formerly located on Railroad street in Oakland have been shown from time to time in the old picture series but today's photograph is the first to give a complete overall view of the street, the original business section of the town.

When the photo was taken in 1903 business activity had already begun to move a block away, to Second street, shown to the right of the picture. The pile of building material, shown on the corner of Second and Alder, is being used for construction of the First National Bank Building, a more complete view of which was printed in the August 4 issue.

The small white building in the background appears repeatedly in early Oakland views, and its comings and goings have been recorded before. At the time the picture was taken it was being moved a short distance to a new location farther down Railroad street.

The photo is the first to show Oakland's early street lighting system. Discernible on the original negative over the middle of Second street are several arc type electric lights. It is believed that Oakland was one of the very first communities in the United States and perhaps the world to light its streets with electricity. Baltimore is generally credited with being the first.

The police officer standing by the curbing at Alder street has been identified as William Nelson who completed the police force at that time. Further research may identify the cross-walk watchman with Pete in hand keeping a wary eye on the photographer.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Ezekiel	46	2-3
Monday	Romans	11	22-23
Tuesday	Psalms	132	25-28
Wednesday	John	1	17
Thursday	Colossians	1	6-9
Friday	Romans	12	6-9
Saturday	Romans	12	10-18

Hardest fact for the adult mind to comprehend is that a teen-ager stands at the threshold of life.

When you enter a strange door you are uncertain. You don't know what's in store for you. You aren't sure which way to turn.

There may be familiar, welcoming voices — but even these now have the ring of uncertainty. For when your whole world is changing, can you be sure that the people around you are not changing also?

For boys and girls in this time of uncertainty the Church is the fulcrum of strength. Its truth is unchanging. Its teaching is clear. Its promises are worthy of hope, trust, endeavor, sacrifice.

The problems of the teen-ager are tremendous . . . but so is the might of his God. The character, the certainty, the charity of the Church inspires his ideals . . . challenges his courage.

After the Drinks

Lesson for August 21, 1960

THE BIBLE says not a word against whiskey. The reason is the same as the reason why it does not warn against too-fast driving, or the excessive use of sleeping pills, or flying a light plane in freezing rain. These are all ways of cutting life short, just as whiskey is. But the Bible does not mention them because they had not yet been invented. The Bible does warn us many times about the use of wine and the equivalent of beer. Most of the references to "strong drink" could be translated "beer" without seriously changing the meaning.

Dr. Foreman

Death

The prophet Isaiah, looking about him in his own city of Jerusalem, saw a drinking people, men and women for whom social drinking was a well-established, popular habit. But he did not like what he saw. Furthermore, since an authentic prophet is one who sees with God's eyes, we can be sure, if we take the Bible seriously, that God did not like it either.

Does God like it any better in America? In 1958, the last year for which figures are available, the sales of liquor stores were $4,439,000,000. This is just about double what the public spent in shoe stores in the same year.

Liquor advertising accounts for some of this, to be sure. But liquor ads—very attractive they are, too—always show the liquor-drinker before the drinks, never after. They never show the murders committed under the influence of alcohol, they do not show the wrecks caused by drinking (not necessarily drunk) drivers. The ads show a man—before; they do not show him after his drinks have made him less than a man. "The grave has opened its mouth," Isaiah said, referring to his hard-drinking nation. The grave opens its mouth today . . . not to mention the living death of alcoholism.

A nation that spends twice as much in liquor stores as in shoe stores has a very odd standard of values, to say the least. The drinker, even the modest drinker, opens the door to becoming a man (or woman) who cannot think straight. If you were to be operated on, would you like to think the surgeon had just taken a little rum to warm himself up? Would you willingly fly in a plane if you knew the pilot kept himself pretty well "juned up" between flights? If you were a prisoner, would you like to be sentenced by a judge who had several drinks under his robe? You would not. But if we don't want important things done for us by people even a tiny bit tipsy, we should not want people thinking for us with their brains even a little fuzzed with alcohol. The farther a man goes with a drinking habit, the bigger and higger the bottle grows, bigger in importance, that is. Isaiah knew that a drinking nation calls "evil good, and good evil."

The Rotten Root

The people, the liquor-loving people, that swarmed in Isaiah's city, he compares to a plant of which the root is rotten and the blossom is dust. They have lost their stamina, they will fall to their enemies like dry grass before a flame! (This came true, we must remember). One of the most frightening features of America is the attitude of many leaders toward liquor. Charles A. Wells, in "Between the Lines" for Jan. 15, 1959, writes: "The favored treatment liquor gets in the U. S. Armed Services, and in U. S. diplomacy, is notorious . . . Liquor gets priority treatment . . . The Kremlin is cracking down on liquor in Russia with severity, and preaching sobriety and temperance—as is Red China. Are not the despoilers in the American defense program guilty of sabotage as much as if they mined a bridge or put a time-bomb in a plane? Narcotics squads knock themselves out going after dope-users and peddlers. Why is it nobody much bothers with the enormously larger number of drug addicts who drug themselves with alcohol? Could it be because too many "Important People" are the same kind of drug victims?

"To Thee I Will Give The Keys of the Kingdom"

George Johnson didn't hate the Pope. Indeed, he held the head of the Catholic Church in high esteem as a leader in the spheres of morality, world peace and human rights.

But nobody could convince George Johnson that the Holy Father had any special authority to speak officially for Christ. Where in the Bible, George wanted to know, is there any mention of such a person as a Vicar of Christ? Where in Holy Scripture does Our Lord delegate any of His authority to a single human being?

It was not until he read, and read again, the words of Jesus to Peter (Matthew 16:18-19) that George Johnson began to understand the Catholic claim of papal authority.

"And I say unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it" . . . "And, I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The Catholic claim concerning the authority of the Pope does not depend solely, of course, upon this or other significant passages of Holy Scripture. For the Vicarship of the Pontiffs had been universally recognized throughout Christendom long before the books of the Bible had been gathered together, and several centuries before the Church had officially selected the writings which were to be regarded as inspired.

But for the benefit of those who wish to weigh the Catholic claim in the light of the Bible, we respectfully suggest that they do as George Johnson did—read and read again Our Lord's words to Peter, "And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven . . ."

For is it not a clear delegation of His authority when Christ tells Peter: " . . . whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven . . ."? For a long time George Johnson had believed Our Lord's reference to "this rock" meant Peter's faith and not Peter's person. But now he saw in the Savior's words a specific command to exercise specific powers of judgment, which had to be an act of Peter the man.

A highly interesting and authoritative story of the origin of the papacy . . . the reasons why Catholics believe as they do concerning the Pope . . . a brief but exciting history of the Popes since the time of Peter, the first Pontiff—all these and many other interesting facts are contained in a pamphlet which we will gladly send to you free on request. We will mail it in a plain wrapper and nobody will call on you. Mail coupon today. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-11.

Counties Seeking Bigger Share Of State Gas Tax

County Commissioners from five Western Maryland counties agreed last Thursday to urge statewide action to give the 23 counties of the state a larger share of the gasoline tax revenue.

The decision was reached at the quarterly meeting of the commissioners from Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties at Deep Creek lodge in McHenry.

United action on the part of all 23 counties will be urged when the State Association of County Commissioners meets August 25-27 in Ocean City. The aim is to get legislative action during the 90-day session of the General Assembly opening in January.

Under the present arrangement, 50 percent of the state's gasoline tax revenues go to the State Roads Commission, Baltimore city gets 30 per cent and the remaining 20 percent is divided among all 23 counties.

John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany Commissioners, contends that most of the growth in Maryland today is not in Baltimore, or other cities of the state but in the suburban areas near the cities.

The possibility of a single engineering staff for the five counties was also discussed. In conjunction with the engineering proposal the possibility of a five-county laboratory was also discussed. It was suggested that in view of the rigid standards necessary to obtain federal aid, it might be wise to have a joint laboratory to test materials to be used in road construction.

Combined insurance for the five counties also came up for discussion.

The next meeting of the five-county group is set for Thursday, Nov. 17, in Washington county. Garrett county was represented by Carl Schell, president of the board; Elra Garletts and Fred Glotfelty, members; Darrell Wotring, roads supervisor; Paul DeWitt, assistant roads supervisor; Stuart F. Hamill, attorney to the board; Mrs. Virginia Fizer, clerk; and State Senator Bernard I. Gowder, Jr.

BITTINGER

The ULCW of Emmanuel Lutheran church held its regular monthly meeting last Friday evening. Mrs. Kermit Gotchy and Mrs. Herbert Buckel led the topic "Are I Informed." The chief aim of the lesson was to motivate women of the church to become informed regarding the problems of other Christian and non-Christians in the rapidly changing world today; and to learn what the church is doing in these areas and what we as individuals can do to help.

A good representation of women attended from the Accident parish. The organizational structure, the Unified Plan, was explained. This plan consists of four committees and a table was decorated representing each. The Membership committee symbolized spring, the season when everything is new and fresh and green; the Christian Service committee symbolized summer, the time when we work and are so busy; the Offerings committee symbolized fall, or the harvest of the fruits of our labors of the summer; and the Education committee represented winter, when we have time to study and read and learn. There was conversation and discussion around each table by the chairmen and committee members, who explained the task of each committee. A social hour followed.

HELPING HAND FOR A YOUNG LADY

The morning rush hour was in full swing as the C & P installer slowed his small panel truck at one of Baltimore's busiest intersections. He could hear the angry sound of many auto horns. Then he saw the cause.

Stalled across 4 lanes of traffic was an old car. All alone in the car was a young lady, trying frantically to start the motor. A tremendous traffic jam of cars was piling up in the blocked lanes.

Horns were honking, blood pressures were rising, as drivers too far down the street to see the cause of the tie-up tried to hurry its untangling with a blast of their horns.

The C & P truck pulled to a stop. The driver jumped out, walked over to the stalled car, and spoke to the young lady. Then he pushed the car and the young driver to the far curb. You could almost hear the sigh of relief from the young lady, and the stalled motorists, as traffic began to move again.

To the young man from C & P, this was all part of a day's work. (We know this because one of you readers took the time to write and tell us about his act of courtesy.) We at C & P believe courtesy makes our day and your day more pleasant. Lending a helping hand to others, on or off the job, is a courteous service we're glad to extend.

Economic Boost . . .

Two stories this week give information on the economy of this county. One gives a definite boost, while the other is just the opposite. The latter one may be only temporary, and we hope this is the case.

The boost concerns the story of the growing of snap beans. On a limited scale this year it proved a profitable undertaking and may be enlarged in future years, depending on the industrious farm people of the area.

With the average yield 250 bushels per acre, some fields showed a yield of 400 bushels per acre. Farmers obtaining an average yield of 250 pounds will gross $415 per acre. With the 45 acres set out this year there should be a minimum of $18,675 realized. If it would grow to the extent desired by the vegetable company, it could gross $160,000, which would be quite a boost to the county's economy. This is encouraging.

Not so encouraging is the trouble stirred up in the chicken processing plant. Workers are out on strike and are losing some $12,000 or more each week in wages. If this keeps up for any length of time the loss would be severely felt in the area.

According to a company statement a third of the strikers would like to return to work. The number would probably be much higher if the feeling of fear or the possibility of intimidation was absent. We hope the workers use their own best judgment to get this business in operation in the very near future.

Growing Of Snap Beans Proves Profitable Project

The growing of snap beans in Garrett county this summer has proved a profitable undertaking, it was learned this week from James McHenry, county farm agent.

Mr McHenry said that snap bean production was not new to the county but that a new idea for marketing was introduced this year by Dulany Foods of Fruitland, Md., and Exmore, Va.

Forty-five acres of snap beans were under contract by Dulany, to 13 farmers, and this short season crop was found very adaptable to the moisture and climate conditions of the county. The average yield obtained this year proved the above statement. McHenry said. Beans were planted in the Oakland, Pleasant Valley and Red House areas.

He said the anticipated average yield is approximately 4,500 pounds per acre whereas the actual yield of 400 bushels or 12,000 pounds per acre. Some fields showed a yield of 490 bushels or 1,200 pounds per acre. Beans now being harvested were planted June 27th.

Baity Ridder, field man, reported that farmers obtaining an average yield of 250 pounds would gross $115 under contract agreement. The net figures are not yet available.

Tour Is Planned

The County agent's office in cooperation with Baity Ridder have planned a farm tour of the Snap bean project. This tour will be held Saturday, August 27, from 1:30 until 3:00. The tour will assemble at Hamilton farms' packing shed. Data obtained this year will be explained, beans will be graded and harvesting methods discussed. All farmers, business men and interested citizens are welcome to attend and ask any question they may have concerning this project.

Snap beans produced are being consumed as packaged frozen foods. McHenry said the Dulany representatives were very well satisfied with the exceptional quality of the beans produced, and the farmers producing the beans were learning information that would help boost future production.

McHenry declared that snap beans and other vegetables produced with a sound market agreement would would very beneficial to small acreage farms of the county. He anticipated an acreage for 1961 of 200 acres with still room for growth. Dulany, he said, could use 400 acreas of top quality snap beans produced in this county. This could mean a boost to our agricultural economy, he concluded.

Resource Board Man To Address Rotary

David Hume, member of the Maryland Board of Natural Resources, will address the Oakland Rotary club on Friday, August 26, on the overall problem of conservation in Maryland. Mr. Hume is a member of the conservation section of the national advisory committee of the Democratic party.

He was in the Navy prior to Pearl Harbor and throughout World War II and again during the Korean campaign he was in the Navy's submarine service, reaching the rank of captain in the naval reserve. He was decorated for "heroic service" by Admiral C. C. Nimitz.

Following the war he was a trial attorney for the U. S. Department of Justice in Washington. He is now a member of a private law firm in Washington.

At a meeting of the Garrett County Bar association on Monday, August 22, Fred A. Thayer was elected president of the group. Lewis R. Jones was named vice president and W. Dwight Stover was named secretary- treasurer.

C. C. Nathan is the immediate past president.

Mother Of Six Dies Of Polio

Mrs. William E Fitzwater, Jr., 27, Succumbs In Pittsburgh Hospital

Mrs. William E. Fitzwater, Jr., aged 27, of near Swanton, mother of six children, died Monday of bulbar polio in Shadyside hospital in Pittsburgh, shortly after being admitted.

She and her husband operated a dairy farm near Altamont. They were declared the Farming for Better Living winners just last November, and had been active in community activities. Mr. Fitzwater is a member of the Republican State Central committee.

Mrs. Fitzwater was stricken Saturday and was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland. She was rushed to the hospital in Pittsburgh Monday but died shortly afterwards of bulbar polio, according to an Oakland physician.

The youngest child of the Fitzwaters, one-year-old Michael, also is a patient in the Oakland hospital and is believed to be suffering from polio. He is responding to treatment. He was admitted to the hospital August 17, and was reported in satisfactory condition last night.

It was reported neither Mrs. Fitzwater nor Michael had received any Salk inoculations, but that the other children in the family had received their polio shots.

Mrs. Fitzwater was born in Terra Alta, W. Va., a daughter of John A. and Dessie N. Durst Bell, who reside in Cumberland.

Found Not Guilty

No Cause for Alarm Over Polio Attacks Health Officer Says

After a consultation yesterday with Dr. Glenn Gresben, state epidemiologist, State Health Department, Baltimore, Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer announced the officials felt the cases in this county were not of epidemic nature or proportions.

However, he said he had considered it advisable to curtail football practice at both high schools for a few days, pending any further suspected cases. He added that no restrictions had been placed on swimming or on any swimming areas.

Contrary to a number of rumors, there are just three suspected cases of polio at the hospital at present. These are Joe DeWitt, Michael Fitzwater and Emily Gene Wiles. Dr. Jones added that there are two cases in Allegany county but in no other county of the state outside of Baltimore city. Two cases have been documented in Somerset county, Pa., with several others on the suspected list.

Dr. Jones said there was plenty of Salk vaccine in the county at present and he urged those who had not received the immunization to have the matter taken care of. The Health department is giving immunization all day today and Friday at the health department offices in the bospital, and today from 1 to 3, in Kitzmiller. Dr. Salk recommended that the physician who took Mrs. W. E. Fitzwater, Jr., to Pittsburgh, be given a dose of gamma globulin, and also Mr. Fitzwater, and that this had been done.

TOWARD THE RIVER—Ditching for the raw water intake line for Oakland's new water system proceeds from the intake basin, in the center of the photograph, toward the Youghiogheny river. Water will travel by gravity about 1,000 feet to this gathering tank. The cleared area in the center background is the route the pipeline will follow to the filtration plant at the Golf course.

Construction On Water System Is Now Underway

Workmen Push Ahead On First Phase Of Project

Construction of Oakland's new $450,000 water supply system was well underway this week, as workmen of the J. R. Savage Construction company pushed ahead on the first phase of the project, the raw water intake.

An inspection disclosed that excavation had been completed for the 28-foot-deep intake basin, located several hundred feet from the Youghiogheny river in the vicinity of the Eighty-Eight bridge, and the tile "shells" for the basin were on the job site and scheduled to be lowered into place in the next few days.

Work was proceeding on digging a trench for the 10-inch mains, from the basin to the river bed, where the actual intake will be located.

The mouth of the pipe will be secured six feet below the river's surface, and water will travel by gravity 1,000 feet to the basin below the shore of the river, dropping 22 feet in the journey. From there, it will be pumped to the filtration plant, to be built in the vicinity of the Golf course, and after purification will be pumped again to the water reservoirs on Crook Crest.

Construction of these mains is a part of the second phase of the project and will be done by the Tri-W Construction company of Pittsburgh. Actual construction of the filtration plant is a part of a third contract awarded to White, Reynor, Marion Co., also of Pittsburgh.

A company spokesman on the job site said work on the first phase was proceeding about on schedule, but had been slowed somewhat by the necessity of shoring up the deep ditch from the intake basin to the river. At a depth of somewhat over 20 feet, an underground spring was struck.

CONSTANT SHORING is necessary to protect the 28-foot-deep channel from collapse as ditching operations proceed. In the background is the Eighty-Eight bridge.

Man Is Charged With Murder In Death Of Wife

Tragedy Follows Violent Argument At New Germany

A 31-year-old Baltimore man last Friday afternoon was charged with murder in the early morning shooting of his wife during a violent argument in the New Germany area.

Victim of the shooting was Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Yuhaniak, 39, who died minutes after being admitted to Miners hospital in Frostburg by her husband, John Yuhaniak, a sugar refinery worker in Baltimore.

Mr. Yuhaniak, who was arrested at the hospital by State Police, was given a preliminary hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney in Oakland. Maroney ordered Mr. Yuhaniak held without bond in the county jail pending action of the September term grand jury.

Cpl. Samuel Conrad said Mr. Yuhaniak pulled a .22 caliber revolver from under the front seat of their parked car and after a struggle the gun went off.

During the argument the victim allegedly struck her husband's hand that was holding the gun and the weapon discharged, sending a bullet through her left cheek and lodging in her brain.

He drove his wounded wife to her uncle's home and the two men rushed her to the hospital where she died shortly after being admitted.

Mrs. Yuhaniak, mother of two grown daughters, was twice married and had been employed at a canning plant in Baltimore. Sgt. Harry S. Boyles and Troopers Lynwood Robinette and R. J. Graham responded to the call at the hospital and took the husband into custody.

A native of Frostburg the victim was a daughter of Mrs. Margaret W. Larue and the late Henry Stafford. Farmer Explains Control For Face Fly On Cattle

An effective control for the face fly of Europe, which has been in this area and annoying cattle, was explained this week by William Wildesen, farmer of the Gormania area.

Wildesen said the fly has been in the United States since 1952. It looks like the house fly but is one of the most aggravating cattle pests known, concentrating on the heads of cattle, annoying and keeping them from feeding, spreading pink eye and other infections which may result in blindness.

Wildesen said that during the past 30 days he had used a control worked out by Dr. Willis Bruce of the Illinois Natural History survey. It consists of a poison bait made up of 75 percent corn syrup, 25 percent water and one-half of one percent DDVP as the poison. A pint jar is filled with the bait and a one-inch paint brush used to make a quick dab or about one-tenth of an ounce of the bait on the forehead of the cow. The flies will feed on the syrup to satisfy their appetite for sweets and the result has averaged better than a 90 percent kill.

Wildesen said a morning application was better than evening because the fly is more active during the day. The treatment will last 1 to 3 days, depending on the weather.

On August 20 the Food and Drug administration okayed this method of control and commercial formulas may now be bought under various trade names such as Purina Liquid Fly Bait, Ban-A-Fly, etc.

which necessitated pumping to keep the basin and ditch free from seeping water, as work progressed.

At a depth of 14 feet, shale was encountered, and the final digging to the 28-foot mark was through solid rock, it was reported. The basin will be lined with five sections of pre-cast concrete tubing, each five feet in diameter and weighing eight tons. These will be put into place by crane, sometime this week.

The accompanying photograph, take from Eighty-Eight bridge, shows the excavation ready for the tile and workmen channeling from the basin to the river's edge.

It was expected that this first phase of construction would be completed before cold weather hampers further work. The entire project carries a completion date of one year. Work has been underway for about three weeks.

A truck owned and operated by McClintock also was traveling west. The plaintiff blew his horn as a signal that he intended to pass. The defendant drove to the left center of the highway to enter a private driveway and the plaintiff's car was forced off the road and was damaged $576.15, the declaration said.

No Agreement

A Teamsters Union official said the last proposal made for the unions which called for three cents retroactive to July 1 and the same amount next July was made by union negotiators who had no assurance that the memberships would accept.

The Processing company said that its offer had been presented to a vote of the membership by the Meat Cutters union with the recommendation that the offer be rejected. The members rejected the offer by a vote of 70 to 33 with 1 voided ballot.

Frank O'Malley, industrial relations director for the firm, said last week that under the company's offer there would be an increase of one cent per hour, effective July 1 three cents, effective September 1, 1961; and two cents effective July 1, 1962; in addition to $2.50 annual allowance for aprons, gloves and hair nets; two days' pay for absence for death in immediate family, modification of shift differentials, and other benefits. The new contract would have run to December 31, 1962.

Under the company's offer the base rate would be $1.19 retroactive to July 1; $1.22 on September 1 1961, and $1.24 on July 1, 1962.

At the meeting with mediator Holden, Mr. O'Malley said the union initially had objected to a contract longer than two years but that when the company suggested a contract of approximately 17 months, to January 31 1962, the Union insisted on the expiration date remaining July 1. The company had insisted on changing its contract expiration date in order to bring the expiration date of its contract in line with other contracts in the industry. He said the Union has endeavored to use the Sterling negotiations to establish a pattern for the Shore and Valley negotiations.

He said the company had repeatedly emphasized that it does not compete to any significant degree with either the Shore or Valley plants for labor or in sale of dressed poultry, and that conditions faced in operating a plant in Oakland prevent it being comparable to the Shore or Valley plants. Unlike most poultry processing plants which draw their live poultry from the immediate area of their plants, the Holzapfel-Plazeman draws its live poultry from a 12 mile radius while Sterling must draw its live poultry from a 200 mile radius.

In concluding Mr. O'Malley said the company believed that the plant could be successfully operated in Oakland, but the operation has incurred heavy losses to date. In view of the impasse in negotiations, the company indicated that it intended to resume poultry processing, and that at such time as the Oakland plant is reopened, if the strike remains unsettled, that replacements would be hired for strikers who do not desire to return to work. All strikers who are premanently replaced would lose their right to reinstatment, it was stated.

Representing the Teamsters Tuesday was Stutzman, E. V. Borhowica, and Francis Cousins represented the meat cutters. Company representatives were Earl Wise, plant manager; Mr. O'Malley, industrial relations; and William Deveney, attorney.

Football Workouts Halted Temporarily

Southern High School's football team workouts were curtailed temporarily this week upon the suggestion of Dr. Arthur Jones, county health physician. Dr. Jones made the suggestion following a conference with State health officials in Baltimore shortly after two cases of polio were found in Garrett County.

The team, which has twenty-eight boys reporting daily, had planned to go into training at the Bittinger 4-H area next week. Whitey Adolfson, head football coach, expressed optimism, and said that he hoped that the first such football training camp ever to be held would still go on as scheduled.

"However", he said, "if the health department suggests that we cancel our camp this year, we will certainly follow its advice. After all, a basic aim of our program is the health of each boy who participates in athletics, and we certainly do not want to jeopardize the physical well being of any of the boys."

Meanwhile, Marvin Jones, president of the Southern High School Athletic Boosters' Club indicated that the football lighting project was temporarily delayed pending arrival of crossarms for the poles.

He also urged all individuals who had pledged funds to the project to send their cash or money to the persons who had contacted them as soon as possible. "If all pledges are paid up, we shall be within sight of realizing our goal of $6500," he said.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and helpfulness during the illness and following the death of our husband and father, the late Dewey E. Gnegy.

We also want to thank those who gave flowers or money as a memorial, and Rev. Pugh for his words of comfort.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

Telling The Cancer Patient
● Thick Blood
● Psoriasis

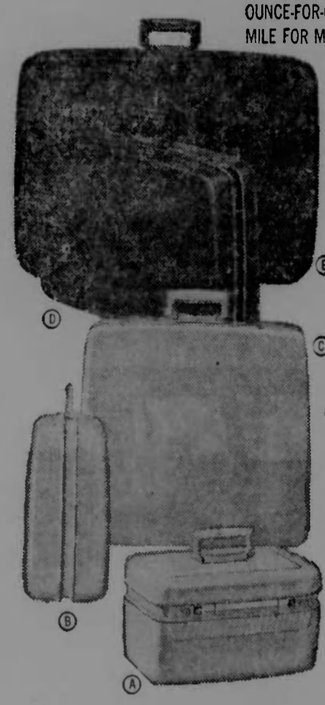
Q. Should the cancer patient be told?

A. This is a difficult question and certainly one that can not be answered with a flat yes or no. What to do would seem to depend entirely on the circumstances. Perhaps a certain amount of beating around the bush is desirable or essential, depending upon the individual, but it would very often seem unwise to resort to outright untruths. Many sufferers, though untold of their condition, must be able to make shrewd guesses by the very nature of their treatment. They really need no telling—they already know.

Q. I have often heard older men and women say that they have "thick blood." Is it actually possible for the blood to become too thick?

A. True thickening of the blood, called polyglobulism, can occur but the condition is rather rare. The lack of pep and general feeling of tiredness that old-timers attribute to "thick blood" probably is nothing more than spring fever.

Q. Please answer the following questions about psoriasis. It is caused by some internal disorder? Could allergy play a part? Would vitamins help? Are there any new discoveries? When one doctor speaks of psoriasis and another of fungus are they both referring to the same thing?



A. To answer your questions briefly: the cause of psoriasis isn't known. Taking vitamins might improve the general health (if there is a vitamin deficiency) but would have no direct effect on the psoriasis. Fungus infections of the skin and psoriasis are two entirely different conditions. Important advances have recently been made in the treatment of fungus infections but, as far as we know, no startling discoveries about psoriasis have been reported.

Questions submitted by readers are appreciated and answers to those of general interest will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

EYES BRACES — David Gordon, aged 5 years, is eyeing his braces with an approving eye—and why not? He was never supposed to be able to walk—but now he is. David, of Table Rock, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon, received the braces through the Crippled Children's clinic, and began using them in July. Born in Oakland March 14, 1955, he was cared for at the Cleveland clinic for a brain injury at two years but has been unable to walk. Recently he has begun to develop normally.

A financial report of the annual Garrett county fair will be available in the near future, it was learned following a meeting of the Board of Directors Monday night at McHenry. The directors were fairly certain that the event would show a profit.

Shows Casselman Bridge

"Ripley's Believe it or Not," appearing in numerous city daily newspapers, recently carried a picture of the Casselman River bridge, explaining it had a span of 80 feet, and at the time of its construction in 1813 the longest stone arch in the United States.

Two people cut this picture from daily newspapers to send it to The Republican.

Local Air Patrol Aids in Search For Missing Plane

The newly formed squadron of the Civil Air patrol in Oakland had its first opportunity to aid in a search mission here Monday.

Word was received by Fred Tichnell, squadron commander on Sunday evening to alert members and have them ready for a ground search. The alert came as the result of a New Jersey executive and his family who were missing on a plane flight from New Jersey to Oklahoma City.

Henry S. Griffing, his wife, son and daughter left Teterboro, N. J., August 16 and no word of them was heard since that time. A reward of $5,000 was offered for information leading to the plane's whereabouts.

Tichnell said a ground team from Glen Burnie also assisted. After going over maps it was decided a ground search would be fruitless, and that an air search would be made. Three planes were used, that of Ward Hinebaugh, one brought here from Connellsville by Burg Thomas, and another from the Wing Civil Air Patrol. The air field of Ward Hinebaugh, Fingerboard road, was used as center for operations.

The area search was along U. S. 40 into Cumberland, over to U. S. 50 and back to Oakland. The most intensive search was around Savage river area. Later in the afternoon a plane was reported down in the Mt. Storm area but inclement weather hindered that search. The mission was called off about 6 p. m. Monday and on Tuesday the Morgantown squadron took over.

Men participating in the search included Tichnell, Charles Thomas, executive officer, Neil Woods, communication officer, and the two pilots and their planes. The local squadron was complimented Monday evening by the Wing commander for its efforts in this first call for assistance.

Tichnell said more members are needed. The group meets every Thursday night at the Episcopal parish house, Center street, at 8. He said the group planned the formation of a cadet squadron around October 1 consisting of boys and girls 14 to 18. Interested persons may receive application blanks by coming to the meetings.

Four Towns Show Population Increase

Although Garrett County's census showed a drop in comparison to the 1950 figures, four towns of the county showed increases. They were Deer Park, Loch Lynn Heights, Mt. Lake Park and Oakland.

Deer Park jumped from 320 to 368, Loch Lynn from 415 to 474, Mt. Lake Park from 891 to 972; and Oakland from 1,640 to 1,953. Oakland's boundary was enlarged somewhat between 1950 and 1960.

Accident decreased 242 to 236; Friendsville, 607 to 577; Kitzmiller, 652 to 538. The figures for Grantsville were not listed, but the present population, according to 1960 census, is 445.

"Old Folks" Day At Loch Lynn Church Set August 28th

Sunday, August 28, will mark the annual "Old Folks" day at the Loch Lynn Evangelical United Brethren church, according to Rev. Bryan Blair, pastor.

Two former pastors, both now retired, will participate in the morning services. Rev. George W. Simpson will speak at 11 a. m., with the prayer being offered by the Rev. J. E. Johnson. The Sunday school will convene at 10 a. m. with a former superintendent presiding.

Those attending the services are being asked to wear clothing reminiscent of by-gone days such as overalls for men, sun bonnets and shawls for the women. Spinning, old time utensils etc., are to be displayed on the platform during the service. Efforts also are being made to secure an "Old Timers" choir for the morning, along with the use of a reed type pump organ.

All are invited. Transportation may be arranged by calling the pastor.

The air force snatched a capsule ejected from space in mid-air, scoring a historic first in satellite history.

New Teachers For Coming School Term Will Total Nineteen

When the schools open Tuesday, September 6, for the 1960-61 school term, nineteen of the one hundred eighty-eight instructors will be new to Garrett county. Twelve of the nineteen new teachers will be entering the classroom for their first year of teaching experience.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said all teacher replacements have good qualifications and excellent recommendations. He said the number of replacements represents a 10 percent turnover for the year, from all causes, including the seven retirements at the end of the last school year.

Mr. Hawkins said this county for the past several years has had one of the lowest teacher turnovers in the state, some counties having as high as 35 percent.

Among the 188 teachers in the county school system 37 will have Master's degrees, 125 will have Bachelor degrees and 26 will be non-degree teachers. He said the figures show a constant improvement in the educational qualifications of the total teaching staff.

Review of The Play

Comment on this week's offering at the Playhouse is approached with just a little sadness: not because of the vehicle, but rather that we have come to the last week of the 1960 season. Whether it is because of the cold summer, or perhaps because one is another year older; but it would seem this summer has rolled by at an incredible rate. Just around the corner is Labor Day. Soon the days and evenings will have frost in the air, the leaves will be turning and before we realize it one will be in the midst of the football season. Thanksgiving and winter. Some years ago a British novelist write "If winds of winter come, can spring be far behind." Sometimes we think spring is, and can be very, very far behind.

As the activity to ring down the curtain on what might well be considered one of the most successful seasons so far, Gene Yell has selected a most successful Broadway play, "Anniversary Waltz." A simple comedy of errors, tribulations, and ultimate resolution of all problems to the complete satisfaction of everyone concerned.

This week Gene has entrusted the direction to Jim Friedman, who in a general way has done a commendable job and brought forth a tight performance. True on opening night there were a few missed cues, but these were not enough to mar the enjoyment of a modern comedy with plenty of laughs.

The fact that "Anniversary Waltz" has a character who experiences his disgust, dislike and all around displeasure with the type of entertainment offered on television (this by the simple expedient of kicking the tube out of the set) makes this week's effort one which will be well remembered by this reviewer, more so than some of the other bits of business of the play. Our bats are doffed to Fred Burrell who as Bud Walters performs the splendid scene heretofore mentioned. We hope that Fred may someday, in real life, do the same thing to a TV set as an evidence of disapproval of the big-eyed monster.

Fred this week essays the role of Bud Walters, an attorney, who with his wife, Judith Weimken, is preparing to celebrate their 15th wedding anniversary. Two rather precocious children, played by Peggy Lewis and newcomer, Darrell Salk, who is quite excellent, are also on hand to render whatever aid possible. Enter Mr. and Mrs. Gans, two well meaning parents of the wife. In the course of the celebration it is revealed that really this is not number fifteen, but rather sixteen, since there had been one year of connubial bliss without the benefit of clergy. Much consternation is exhibited by John Fisher and Judy Knaiz as the not so proud by this time parents of Judith Weimken. Both John and Judy do an excellent job as parents. The slow burns as demonstrated some few times by John Fisher are something to remember. Almost takes one back to the days of Edgar Kennedy. Judy as the mother determined that things come out well for our "Little Nelle", gives another not to be forgotten comedy portrayal.

In secondary roles we have Jennifer Yell as a young woman whose marriages have been more successful in a financial way than in a temporal way. Richard Dorian is the law partner of Fred Burrell, and Sally Lutin as the ubiquitous maid. Marty McGuire and Steve Wagner are two TV delivery men kept busy bringing in new sets for the sacrificial altar. Jim Friedman winds out the cast as a handyman busy on his little door.

As the reviewer mentioned at the opening of the season, "This could be one of the best groups of any season." We wind up stating we feel our optimism has been rewarded and that this is one of our better groups. True there have been a few rough spots, but all in all there have been few times when everyone hasn't been in there pitching—and pitching hard.

With the calculated risk of there being differences of opinion, two somewhat battered but nonetheless serviceable ivy wreaths with palms are being bestowed upon Jim Friedman and Judy Knaiz for giving week in and week out the most outstanding performances.

This is the end of the 1960 season. Approximately 46 plays have been presented during the years by Producer Yell. Much has been contributed to the cultural betterment of the community. Much entertainment has been provided. Much do we owe him for his efforts.

Too soon the curtain descends and everything ends. Our little group will be disbanded to go on their individual ways. Much luck to all of them. Let's hope we see them again. And so 'til another year—our thanks to Gene, Barbara, Ray and all the Players. We'll see you next year. Cheers!!

E. I. BAUMGARTNER, M.D.

To Plan County's Participation In Civil War Event

For the purpose of organizing and planning for Garrett county's participation in the coming Civil War Centennial observance, Park W. T. Loy, executive secretary of the Maryland Civil War Centennial comadssion will meet with members of county organizations at the William-James hotel in Oakland this evening at 7:30.

The State Centennial commission is encouraging and aiding people of every county to take part. One end result desired is as Mr. Loy's words "that young and old alike may be inspired to adopt a truly American way of thinking that tribute may be paid to the memory of our forefathers who took part in the bitter conflict to determine the exact path our national government should follow."

Members of eleven organized groups are expected to attend including Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, Proctor Kildow Post, American Legion, Garrett County Historical society, Oakland Civic club, Junior Woman's Civic club, American Association of University Women, Business and Professional Women's club, Oakland Rotary club, Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club, Mt. Lake Park Civic club and the Barbershoppers.

Maryland was early among 42 states planning for the centennials which begin officially on January 8, 1961.

In Maryland the principal centennial observances will center around events of the civil war Maryland campaign of September, 1862 which culminated in the battle of Antietam at Sharpsburg, Washington county. The battle is often referred to as the most costly in lives of any single day's fighting during the conflict, the combined losses of both sides being nearly 24,000 in killed, wounded and missing.

It has been suggested that some local military episodes of the war particularly events during the cavalry raid known as the General William E. Jones raid, might be suitable themes for a theatrical performance or pageantry.

Camps End Monday

Camps Minnetoska and Whitethorn, located near Hutton, completed its season on Monday after a successful six weeks.

Operated by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johns, of Baltimore for the past several years, and previous to that by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hansen, the camps for girls and boys have been at capacity for a number of years.

Miss Tarnn Conners, physical education instructor at Southern High school, was chief counselor for the girls, while Vaughn Hardesty was also a boys' counselor. Campers from the area included Marilyn and Claire Englander, Tom Eicht, Fred Feld and Vicki Smous.

Upon closing their camp Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johns and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johns, left for a motor trip to parts of Canada and northern United States.

"Heap of Work" Is Needed For Every Bloodmobile Visit

The next visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile unit in this area is scheduled for Oakland on Wednesday, September 14, from 12 o'clock noon to 6 p. m., at the Oakland Fire hall, it was announced by Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman for the county.

In the past two visits to the county the blood quota has been exceeded. Grantsville exceeded its quota by 18 pints and Kitzmiller by 4 pints, Mrs. Stemple said. Oakland fell three short in its last visit here. Mrs. Stemple remarked that "it takes a heap of work to get blood donors," but added that those who came to the fire hall on September 14 would "see a quietly and smoothly running operation."

She pointed out that few donors realize the detailed planning that precedes a blood collection, the varied work and variety also of equipment required to make the collection efficient and successful.

The date of the collection is scheduled months in advance, to be sure the visit fits in with other activities, to give the local Red Cross chapter ample time to make arrangements and to recruit donors. "That's where our work really begins," Mrs. Stemple said. The recruitment committee of volunteers telephones and calls on prospective donors to urge them to give blood. Sometimes five calls are necessary before one donor promises to appear.

Two or three weeks before the collection the chairman of other Red Cross committees begin getting volunteer workers lined up to perform the many important duties. These include motor corps, hostesses, staff aides as registrars, and canteen workers. Technical work is performed by the professional staff from Johnstown which consists of a nurse in charge, four to six staff nurses, and a custodian. A physician must always be on the floor and this requirement is filled by a local doctor. Registered nurses and four nurse aides and a typist also are required.

Under direction of a physician the nurses take medical history of prospective doners, measure blood pressures, do hemoglobin tests and carry on the procedure of taking blood of donors found to be eligible. The physician supervises these activities and examines donors whose eligibility, because of physical reasons are in doubt.

The custodian drives the bloodmobile containing equipment, checks refrigerated chests in which blood is stored, and with assistance of volunteers at the places of collection, loads and unloads the equipment. In Oakland this part is done by town employees in unloading and explorer scouts in loading. A second auto brings the nurses.

The mobile unit carries all supplies and equipment required for a week's operation, including 12 donor beds, refrigerator chests, sterile jars, gauze sponges, donor sets, bottles for blood and other articles.

After the blood is collected it is shipped back to the regional center for processing.

"And that," said Mrs. Stemple, "is how it is done. It looks simple but it takes a lot of work, and involves many people."

Horse Was Popular Method Of Travel Half Century Ago

Riding is still considered a fine sport by many, but when this week's old picture was taken, just a half century ago, it meant more than that, for the horse was still the most popular method of getting from one place to another.

But practical necessity though it might have been, it still attracted those who rode just for the pleasure they received, and to cater to those so inclined many bridle paths were laid out convenient to the numerous fashionable hotels which flourished around the turn of the century.

Such a group is shown today the three young ladies mounted side-saddle in front of the Oakland Hotel, one of the last of the large summer hostelries.

The hotel was located approximately on the site of the present Carnation company plant in Oakland, and riding was only one of a number of activities designed to interest its guests. In today's picture, the young women have been identified as Dora Brown, Edith Bolden and Fannie Browning. The picture is from the collection of Ted Mason.

Recalls Picnic

A member of the Swallow Falls picnic group, published in the issue of August 11 recalls the event, and writes from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where he now resides.

William H. DeWitt writes: "The picture was taken in the summer of 1899. I am the youngest one in the picture, being about six years old when it was taken. I am now 67. I was with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cyphart and Mary Skipper at the time. There are probably only one or two of the picture still living, other than myself. I am the youngest son of George W. and Mary Jane Sanders DeWitt. George DeWitt died in December, 1894, and his wife died in November of the following year, leaving me an orphan. I was partly raised by Mr. and Mrs. Cyphart.

"I have been a resident of Fort Lauderdale for the past three years. My wife and I get lots of pleasure from your Pictures Out of the Past."

In his letter, Mr. DeWitt said he had several Garrett county pictures taken many years ago, and offered to share them with readers of The Republican in some future issues.

Watchman Identified

At least one of our readers has identified the crossing watchman shown in the Railroad street view in last week's issue. Joe Cogley, of Oakland, said he was almost certain of the identification as soon as he saw the photo, but dropped into the office for a closer look at the original picture. He recalled the man as George Dumire, one of a number of crossing guards he remembered serving at the location over the years until the installation of automatic signals about ten years ago abolished the position.

Policeman Identified

Further information has been received concerning the town policeman standing by the crossing in last week's picture.

In the story, he was identified as William Newman, a member of the Oakland police force at one time.

However, Mrs. Clarence G. Dixon writes from Columbus, Ohio:

"We have a copy of The Republican issued August 18. We would like some more information about the old time picture shown in this issue.

"We have one of the originals, and have been told that the officer in the picture was my father-in-law W. D. Dixon. My husband, Clarence Dixon, has been under the impression since a small boy. Today, his mother gave him this picture and again stated that it was W. D. Dixon.

"Is there any way this can be verified?"

The picture itself was dated as having been taken in 1903. Upon questioning Henry Arnold, Oakland's present police chief, he referred to his records and learned that at a meeting of the town council on April 9, 1903, upon recommendation of Mayor Frear, council reappointed W. D. Dixon as day policeman and W. R. Broderick Jr., as night officer. Both had been on the force since April, 1902.

Further delving revealed that Mr. Newman was on the force in 1900. Therefore, it would appear that the man shown in the photograph was in reality W. D. Dixon, and not William Newman, as first believed.

More About Lights

Last week's picture provoked discussion along another line, also. In the accompanying story, it was stated that the view was the first to show Oakland's early street lighting lamps, and pointed out that the town was one of the first to be lighted by the newly developed system.

It was brought to the writer's attention that the first use of electricity in any form in the area was in Deer Park where the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's Deer Park hotel was so lighted. Shortly afterward, hotels in Oakland were wired. The date is estimated to have been shortly after 1890.

Oakland's street lights and business places, however, received their electricity from a plant set up by D. F. Offutt primarily to provide current for his own store building.

The power house, which generated electricity through the use of steam, was located on Wilson street near the railroad, and operated only for a few hours after dark.

In charge of the boilers for many years were Samuel and Abraham Lawton. One older resident recalled that on those nights when "Abe" was on duty it was his custom to sneak away on occasion for refreshments, and a few hands of pinochle at one of the Railroad street rendezvous.

Sometimes Mr. Lawton would become engrossed in the game, and steam pressure in the neglected boilers would begin to drop. When this happened, the lights would start to dim and this was the cue for him to throw in his hand, hustle back to the power plant and throw on another shovel of coal.

About 1926, this private power plant was purchased by the Town of Oakland, and several years later was acquired by the West Maryland Power company, a subsidiary of the Monongahela Power company.

But wherever it shines . . . there are shadows.

Wherever there are golden opportunities there are also sombre tragedies. Some fail to grasp their blessings.

Ours is a nation which guarantees to every child the opportunity for religious training. Yet ours is a nation which smarts under the scourge of a moral disease — juvenile delinquency.

In blessing you with a son or daughter, God has entrusted to you a precious soul. You are required by law to give your child a secular education. But, despite the scourge of delinquency, a free nation must leave to your conscience the question of your child's moral and religious education.

God has blessed America. With a nearby Church ready and eager to provide Christian training for your child, and religious foundation for your family's life — the Sun shines bright. But there are shadows. You must decide!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Armed Alliances

Lesson for August 28, 1960

WE ALL LIVE inside many circles. The smallest of these is the one your belt goes around. It is just the circle around the immediate you, which you can never escape because you live inside it. It goes where you go. Then there is the larger circle passing around your family. You can run away from that, but you would wish you hadn't. Beyond are larger circles, big enough to take in the neighborhood, the school, the church, the county, the nation . . . and so, finally, the great circle around the world, the circle of the sky, under which are all the nations of the world.

Dr. Foreman

The Circle of Religion

Where, in that arrangement, is the Circle of Religion? It is not the same thing as the circle of the church, for there can be religion outside of church; otherwise we would be irreligious people every time we walked out of the church building. The fact is, religion—the Christian religion in particular—is concerned with all those circles and all the people inside them, and all that makes their lives good or bad, joyous or sorrowful. Any religion that can be fenced in is a mighty poor sort. Christianity is concerned with everything human. Therefore Christianity cannot, without shame, turn its face away and mutter "None of my business" when anything is going on that affects human lives.

One circle in particular is often thought to be "out of bounds" for religion; that is to say, the preacher should never mention it in a sermon, and the people need not look to the Bible for any light on the subject. This is the circle of International Affairs. This is the circle that takes in diplomacy, and treaties, and war and peace. If we stand by the Bible we must try to think what God's will is in such matters. For the prophets of old preached on the foreign policy of their nations, and made no apologies.

In those far-off days, and now, the average man old enough to pay taxes and be drafted in war, put a good deal of stock in foreign alliances. Line up with a large number of nations, arm them yourself if they are not armed, be sure your gang of nations is bigger and stronger than any other gang of nations between the Nile and the Euphrates River, and you can stop worrying about your country's future; you've got it made. So they thought (and it sounds familiar in these cold-and-hot war and near-war days) but it was not so. The true prophets did not urge more and better alliances. Indeed most alliances would prove to be actually dangerous. Isaiah pointed out that alliances of armed nations are often short-lived, they shift like sand, allies of one generation may become enemies of the next, one nation drags down others in its fall. To put it another way: Security is not finally in force. Security is not in more force. Real security is not in decisions of the high command, not in the schemes of chiefs of staff.

What General Trudeau Says

Don't think the lines you have just read are clear out of touch with reality! The following is a statement by General Trudeau, at the time he was placed in charge of the U. S. Army's Missile Development Program:

"Despite the extreme importance of exploring Space to its furthermost limits, and of sending up satellites that can begin to do our exploring, even more important is this 20th Century's challenge to believing men and women—a challenge for us to launch our prayers, which can and do go higher and farther than satellite or rocket or space ship can ever reach, namely to the waiting heart of our Creator, if we ever expect to solve these problems about the peace of our world, which man clearly does not seem able to accomplish on his own."

In other words, this devout Christian military leader, with know-how enough to be placed in charge of a vitally important national military project, knows the most important thing of all: TRUST IN GOD!

Lumberman Declares Tree Crops Boost Economy Of State

The best way to increase the level of the economy in the forested regions of West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania is to grow more and better timber crops."

This advice was given to more than a hundred tree farmers and their friends near here recently at a formal dedication of 14 newly certified Tree Farms in the tri-state region of West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. It came from a nationally-known timberman-conservationist, John B. Veach, of Asheville, N. C.

"Forests under intensive management," said Veach, "can produce two or three times the volume of unmanaged forests." Complimenting the nation's more than 18,000 tree farmers in 47 states, he noted that "America's tree farmers have accepted the challenge of producing more and better timber crops for a growing economy and an exploding population."

But there is still much to be done, the Carolinian declared. "There are too many idle acres; there are too many acres still needing tree planting; there are too many forested acres with not enough of the right kind of trees growing on them.

"We cannot 'grow' more forest land," Veach said, 'but we can grow more and better trees on the land we have if more landowners follow tree farming practices. If landowners will grow more trees, industry will be there to use them."

Quoting from U. S. Forest Service figures, Veach said 10,000 acres of forest land under intensive management for full production of tree crops will create 370 new jobs. In turn, he said, these jobs will mean 300 new homes, 134 new cars and five more retail stores.

Veach was the principal speaker on the dedication program held on the Elmer C. Grimm Tree Farm in Preston County, W. Va. Each of the tree farmers was awarded a sign and certificate denoting his membership in the American Tree Farm System, an industry-sponsored program designed to stimulate the practice of good forest management on taxpaying lands.

Veach is a veteran lumberman with many years experience in growing timber, harvesting trees and marketing wood products. He has been active in the Bemis Hardwood Lumber Co., Rohbinsville, N. C., since 1935 and heads the Hardwood Corp. of America at Asheville, N. C. He recently completed a two-year term as president of American Forest Products Industries, Inc., national Tree Farm sponsor; he was president of the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn. in 1952, and Appalachian Hardwood Manufacturers in 1948-49.

Maryland landowners receiving the Tree Farm award for practicing the type of woodland care advocated by Veach were Logan Weber, Oakland; Herbert C. Wildesen, Gormania, W. Va. (lands in Garrett County;) Dr. Gerald C. Palmer, Bel Air; Glatfelter Pulp Wood Co., Gettysburg, Pa. (lands in Caroline and Dorchester Counties, Md.); and the Western Maryland Railway, Oakland. The awards were presented by David W. Sowers, Jr., of Hancock, chairman of the Maryland Tree Farm Committee.

Weber was cited for initiating a program of timber stand improvement on his 61 acres of woodland. In this work, overmature, defective trees and trees of inferior species are removed. This speeds the growth of quality trees.

Similar work has been done by Wildesen, who also practiced good conservation by the salvage cutting of 60 acres of fire-damaged timber. In addition, he has planted white pine seedlings on 15 acres of his forest where there were not enough naturally seeded trees growing.

Both Wildesen and Mr. Weber are supplied technical forestry advice by R. Thomas Thayer and other foresters of the Oakland office of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks.

Sewerage Needs of County Are Listed

The State Health department this week released estimated costs of community sewerage improvements which it termed needed in Maryland in the next 10 to 20 years and they show Garrett's total need costing $1,850,000.

Dr. Perry F. Prather, state health director, explained that these estimates were prepared by the Bureau of Environmental Hygiene in answer to a request from the director of the State Fiscal Research Bureau. The legislative Council's committee on taxation and fiscal matters is surveying the financial needs of local governments and the overall fiscal relationship between the state and its subdivisions.

The grand total estimated cost for 22 Maryland counties and Baltimore city is $120,300,000. Of this total $27,450,000 is needed within the next five years, $41,000,000 in five to ten years and the other $51,850,000 is needed later than ten years. St. Mary's county is not included.

Seven Garrett county communities are listed in the report. The three with the most immediate need, in the next five years, according to the health department, are Oakland, $400,000 for treatment plant; Loch Lynn-Mt. Lake Park, $300,000 for treatment plant; and Accident, $150,000 for sewers and treatment plant.

Deer Park is the only county community in the five to ten year group. It is listed for $200,000 for sewers and treatment plant. The other three county towns cited are in the ten to twenty year need group. Friendsville and Kitzmiller are down for $300,000 each for sewers and treatment plants, and Bloomington is listed for $200,000 for sewers and treatment plant.

Allegany's need was listed at $3,600,000, and Washington county $3,800,000.

Not Dumped By Workmen

Further details concerning the accident last week in which Webster Fazenbaker, aged 4, was seriously burned, were forthcoming this week. The child was not dumped accidentally into the fire by workmen as was indicated last week.

Joe DeWitt, sawmill operator, said the sawmill had not been in operation for three days prior to the accident. The Fazenbaker family live near the mill and his father is employed by DeWitt. The Fazenbaker boy apparently had wandered away from his home and was playing alone on the mill. Just how the lad got into the fire is not known. His mother heard his cries and found the child in the fire. Mrs. Fazenbaker had to walk quite a distance to a neighbor's house for help to take the boy to the hospital since the father was not at home at the time.

Former Resident Has Idea On National Scout Camp

A former Garrett county resident, now residing in Ottawa, Ill., was given credit for proposing an idea for a series of scout camps, in honor of scouting's anniversary of 50 years in America.

Emeric G. Dusic proposed the establishment of a 50-acre scout camp at Ottawa to be known as William D. Boyce Memorial Park. The next step in Dusic's proposal would be a series of camps from coast to coast, to be used for scouts who are stopping overnight or want to spend a week-end.

Boyce, of the Ottawa area, began the scout movement 50 years ago, and Dusic said we have the opportunity today to inaugurate a great new phase of Scouting in America. Dusic is trying to interest civic minded people of the area.

No. 5017 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the complainant from the respondent, and permission of the complainant to resume her maiden name of Mildred Mae Miller.

The Bill states:

That the complainant was married to the respondent August 4, 1928, at Fayette City, Pennsylvania; that there was one child born of this marriage, to-wit: Sherman Lee Van Ripper; that, although the conduct of the complainant was always that of a kind, affectionate and faithful wife, the said respondent, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the complainant during the month of April, 1931, and that she has neither seen nor heard from him since that date, and that the separation between them is deliberate and final, and beyond any hope or expectation of a reconciliation; that the complainant is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, where she has resided for the past six years, but that the said respondent is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and was last known by the complainant to reside at 5th Street, Charleroi, Pennsylvania.

The Bill then prays for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the complainant from the respondent; for the right of the complainant to resume her maiden name of Mildred Mae Miller; for general relief and for an order of publication.

It is, thereupon, this 17th day of August, 1960, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the complainant, by having a copy of this order inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 9th day of September, 1960, give notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of said bill of complaint, and warning him to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 24th day of September, 1960, and show cause, if any he has, why the prayers of said Bill of Complaint should not be granted unto the complainant.

Is It Any Use? . . .

With the approach of the Labor Day week-end, people are reminded once again of the need for safety on the highway. Is it any use to continue to call this danger to the attention of the drivers?

Previous reminders have seemed to have no effect. The death rate keeps on rising at every holiday, but there is always the chance that some day people will become sensible. So let's give it another fling.

Labor day was set aside to honor the skill and industry of the American working man, but the use of such skill in automobiles has increased the deadliness of this machine. In Maryland last year over Labor Day week-end six people lost their lives, 370 traffic accidents occurred and 188 people were injured. The annual toll on highways is twice that of persons killed while at their jobs.

Many people are going to be taking advantage of the long week-end. They will want to take that last trip of the summer with the family. Too many will make the fatal mistake of trying to get every last drop out of the holiday week-end. They will start early and return late. Those hours of driving will be with ill temper and exhaustion. The final hours will be in darkness.

Safety is a way of life and if people could just get that idea into their skulls, the accident rate would decrease materially. Under the possibility of being trite, may we remind everyone who drives to do so at a sensible speed, avoid alcohol, keep ones temper, display courtesy at all times, obey all traffic laws and signs, watch out for the other person, and be prepared to meet added danger with extra care. Take your safe walking and driving habits out on the streets and highways this week and help make this Labor Day week-end a happy and safe one. If this advice is trite, may we say it still makes good sense.

Oakland Poultry Reopens Tuesday

A 12-day strike at Sterling Processing Corporation's Oakland poultry processing plant was settled Saturday and the company was set to resume operations Tuesday. This hinged on the availability of United States Department of Agriculture inspectors.

The two and one-half year contract settlement followed the resumption of contract negotiations Saturday morning at the request of Local 424, Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union.

The 30-month pact provides for a one-cent wage increase retroactive to July 1, 1960; two cents effective July 1, 1961; and four cents effective July 1, 1962. It also includes a company financed $500 life insurance policy, two days off with pay for a death in the immediate family; a $2.50 annual allowance for gloves, hair nets and aprons; a change in shift differential payment and a 90-day wage progression plan for new employes.

The working agreement contains a no strike, no lockout clause and other contract changes, and has a December 31, 1962 expiration date.

The union membership, accepted the settlement by a vote of 68 to 17, it was stated.

Pickets Jailed for Violence

Two days prior to the settlement, however, seven pickets, including two women, were jailed for several hours on charges that they threw stones and scattered tacks to prevent two trucks from leaving the plant.

All were released on bond later. The arrests were made after violence broke out when two Sterling Processing trucks were sent to remove equipment from the plant.

Labor Day Parade To Be Resumed Al Mrs. G With Picnic

A large number of entries have been promised for next Monday's Labor Day parade, according to members of the Knights of Pythias committee, and they report it is shaping up as one of the largest to be held here in recent years.

The procession will form on North Third street at the junction of Old Route 219 at 10 a. m., and will begin to march through the business section to the picnic grounds at 10:30. In the line of march will be the mayor and town council, National Guard, boy and girl scouts, 4-H clubs, numerous fire companies, bands and drum corps, trades displays and special features of antique cars, horses and ponies.

The parade will disband at the William Weber grove, near Southern High school, where a carnival will be set up and picnic tables set up for use of those desiring to participate in the homecoming activities during the day.

The traditional Labor Day picnic and homecoming of the lodge is being resumed after a lapse of more than ten years. The carnival will remain on the grounds for the balance of the week.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College. The revival will conclude September 18th.

Plane In Area Making Check For Intensity Of Radiation

The mountains of Western Maryland, nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania are being checked for radiation together with being measured for the intensity of the earth's magnetic field by an air team based at Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The scientists, flyers and technicians are a team of the U. S. Geological Survey that has been working for the past five years in various sections of the nation.

A. J. Petty, Washington, the party chief, pointed out the DC-3 type plane is equipped with measuring devices and graph recording instruments.

The crew checks radiation from various nuclear reactors in this general area and also measures environmental radiation levels from surface soils and rocks.

The magnetometer in the plane is a device that is being used to measure the total intensity of the earth's magnetic field.

Petty explained that not all of the nation is being checked, but only areas where scientists and geologists feel there is the greatest potential from the standpoint of minerals.

That is, he said, the sections where there are formations which show promise of mineral bearing.

The team, which has D. L. Crist Washington, as pilot, and V. R. Drake, Pensacola, Fla., as co-pilot, planned to remain in the area this week.

Cumberland is a base for a lower part of a block-type segment which has Pittsburgh as its center.

Crist said the lower line of this square runs from Cumberland westward through Morgantown to New Martinville, W. Va., then northerly through Canton, Ohio, and Cleveland, and then eastward to a point in central Pennsylvania, and then southward through the Johnstown section to Cumberland.

The task of the pilot is not an easy one, as he has to keep the plane within 500 feet of the ground.

From the craft is extended a "bomb" which is raised and lowered by cable. Inside the cable is the wiring that takes the impulses back to the recording instruments in the cabin.

The "bomb" contains the detector head for the magnetometer inside the plane.

Radiation is picked up through equipment installed in the belly of the plane.

Weather has much to do with the operations of the team. Summers are spent in the more rigorous locations, weatherwise, while the late winter, spring and fall are spent in the south, southwest and west.

Report Given On Summer Activity Of Roads Dept.

Roads, Bridges, Repairs And Plans Included

Construction of new improved roads and bridges, repairs and patching of present roads, have produced an enviable record this summer for the Garrett County Roads department.

A list of the accomplishments was compiled this week by Darrell Wotring, county roads supervisor.

Chief among the road improvements are the completion of the road from Mt. Lake Park to the Old Deer Park road at Broadford, a distance of 1.2 miles; and partial work on the White Rock-Cranesville road, a distance of 2 miles; the road from Southern High school to the Dennett Road elementary; and the Sang Run to Friendsville road, a distance of one mile.

The Broadford road has a rock base topped with choke material, and then surface treated with calcium chloride. Mr. Wotring explained that calcium chloride aids in compaction, is dust free and provides a cheaper constructed road and one that is more economical to maintain. This road cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Grading has been completed on the White Rock to Cranesville road and the base is being laid. This road is being similarly treated.

Grading also is being done on the road between Southern High school and the Dennett Road elementary school and is ready for stabilization. This road was sought by the Parent-Teacher associations and other groups to make it possible for school buses to get to these two points in much quicker time than before. Buses now have to go either by way of Mt. Lake Park or by Oakland, using the back road between the two towns.

The Sang Run-Friendsville road is the first of a number of Federal Aid projects. The base has been completed and surfacing was scheduled to begin today. Com-

Three County 4-H Members Set For State Demonstrations

Linda Oursler, Sally Hoffman, and Anne Lou Gibson, all members of the Monte Vista 4-H Club, will represent the Western Maryland 4-H District at the State Fair Demonstrations being held at Timonium this week. These girls will compete in the Junior Division (10-14 age group) Baked Foods class. Miss Oursler will present an individual demonstration on "Apple Pie", while Miss Hoffman and Miss Gibson team up to do "Pizza Sandwiches". They won their right to demonstrate at State Fair by winning champion in the District Contest held at Flintstone in June.

Miss Oursler, 12, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Taft Oursler, Third Street Extended. She has been in club work 3 years, and has carried Foods and Clothing projects. In 1958 she was county champion in the Baked Foods class with the demonstration, Mince Meat Drop Cookies. Miss Oursler was named first place winner in the 1959 County Junior Public Speaking Contest; as well as champion in the Poultry Foods class at Demonstration Day. She received the Betty Crocker Food Preparation Awards for outstanding work in the 4-H foods project in 1959. In addition to demonstration work, Miss Oursler has appeared in county Dress Revues; exhibited at the Garrett County Fair, attended 4-H Camp, and has served as secretary and vice-president of her local club.

Miss Hoffman, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Hoffman, Pennington Street, is a 4 year 4-H member of the Monte Vista Club. During this time, she has carried Foods and Clothing projects. At the 1957 and 1958 County Demonstration Days she received blue ribbons for her foods demonstrations. She was named champion in 1959 for demonstrating Muffins. Miss Hoffman has exhibited at the

Pleads Guilty To Assault

Thomas Hoover, at a hearing before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney in Oakland last Thursday, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery upon the person of Edna Mae Wilburn, and was fined $10 and costs.

Demonstration Of Faith

A perfect demonstration of faith was exhibited by a Mt. Lake Park homemaker on Wednesday—faith in the future, in the power company, and in humanity in general.

During the time when the electricity was off, someone remarked to Emile Germain, "Well, I don't suppose you have sold any electric sewing machines in the past few minutes." "It so happens that I have," said Germain, and he wasn't kidding.

During the electric interruption Germain sold a Singer electric sewing machine to Mrs. James Harvey, of the Park, and they had to draw up the contract by candle light.

Water Difficulties Being Experienced By City and Park

Oakland and Mt. Lake Park are having water supply difficulties again but this time it is not on account of any shortage, but because of repairs to existing systems.

Both towns have placed advertisements in today's issue, asking that citizens conserve the water for several days.

In the Oakland system, it is necessary that repairs be made to the spring house. Water superintendent James Lewis, said that a leak was discovered in the spring house when some workmen were engaged in pumping water from an excavation nearby where the new filtration plant is to be placed. When the pumps endeavored to pump water out of the excavation the water level in the spring house would be lowered considerably.

Lewis said it would be necessary to get the reservoirs full and then to drain the spring house and discover and fix the leak.

In the meantime he asks cooperation in the use of water, only using it for necessities. He said the supply of water would be sufficient this year for necessary uses and he said the work should take only three or four days.

At Mt. Lake Park the water company has found it necessary to drain the storage tank for an inspection by the Chicago Bridge and Iron company. The company said that the water service would be disrupted in several areas and that the pressures and flow would be below normal for several days and until the tank is filled again. It also asked that the people refrain from unnecessary use of water during the week of September 12 to 17.

Car Collision Sunday Hospitalizes One

One person was hospitalized and several others injured, none seriously early Sunday morning as the result of a collision of two automobiles on the Crellin highway near Rosedale.

Hospitalized was Mary Katherine Knox, who is still a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital. In the same car were Carolyn Broadwater and Earl Thornton Hinebaugh, driver, Deer Park, who were treated in the hospital emergency room and released.

Driver of the other automobile was Marvin Elwood Tichnell, Oakland, and riding with him were Sylvia Mae Tichnell, Lanta Joyce Tichnell and Sylvia Dean Tichnell. All were treated at the emergency room for lacerations and abrasions and then released.

Trooper first class Donald E. Tucker, who investigated the accident, said both drivers would be charged. Hinebaugh is charged with operating a vehicle at a speed too great for weather conditions. Tichnell is charged with improper parking, stopping or standing on the highway.

Fine Tavern Owner

The operator of a tavern near Avilton pleaded guilty Tuesday before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, to a charge of illegal possession of whisky on the premises.

Hermas Garlitz, who operates Avilton Acres, was fined $250 by Maroney plus costs. Garlitz was arrested August 6 and had been released on $500 bond.

The raid was conducted by Sheriff James E. Frantz, State Trooper Robert Henline, Tfc. Donald Wade and Deputy Sheriff Wayne Will. Officers said they found a small quantity of liquor in the place. Frantz said also quite a few teen-agers were in the tavern at the time. Garlitz has a license to sell beer.

Judge McLaughlin To Hear Demurrer Argument Today

Several Taxpayers Seek Writ Of Mandamus Against Commissioners

Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin, of Hagerstown, was scheduled to hear arguments this morning on the demurrer, filed by the County Commissioners against the request for a writ of mandamus sought by several taxpayers, in a case involving payment of fees for drilling work.

The argument was set for 10 o'clock this morning and it was possible the presentations of both sides would continue into the afternoon.

Arguing for the Commissioners are Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., attorney to the board, and Walter W. Dawson. Arguing for the several taxpayers is Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport.

The taxpayers' petition was filed in the Circuit court a number of weeks ago and contended that payment made to A. C. Brenneman and John J. Brenneman for work performed at the county quarry was in effect illegal since A. C. Brenneman at the time was a member of the Board of County Commissioners.

The Commissioners replied to the petition claiming the request for a writ of mandamus should be denied and listed nine reasons. The reasons:

1. That there is a misjoinder of parties in that Carl Schell, Frede-

Large Crowd Sees Deep Creek Regatta

An unusually large crowd, one of the largest ever seen at Deep Creek, jammed all roads leading to the lake Sunday to see the boat parade and water show.

Fifty-seven decorated floats were in the boat parade that started at Mellenry and traveled to Deep Creek State Park, and several hundred additional boats were in the line. Cars were parked on each side of route 219 all the way from Mellenry to a point south of the lake.

For an hour after the boat parade started at 1:30 p. m., cars were bumper to bumper on the highway. All parking space in Deep Creek State Park was filled. The ramp for the water ski show was located just off the swimming area at the Park.

Robert Barron, of Johnstown, thrilled the crowd with a take-off with a 14-foot kite. He also did shoe skiing and several jumps from the ramp.

Sonny Fortney, Luke, did exhibitions of barefoot skiing and other skiers participated in the show which was sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council.

In the boat parade floats were entered with titles of songs as their theme. First place went to Pierson Glover, Belle Vernon, Pa., for his inboard motor boat decorated to depict the song, "Sayonara." Second place went to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoag, Jr., West Elizabeth, Pa., who had their boat decorated with a large birthday cake, "Anniversary Waltz." They were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Ward Ashby, Deep Creek, took third prize for her inboard having the title, "Going to Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair." C. E. McLelland, route 3, Washington, Pa., was fourth; fifth went to John Marple, Oakland. A barge type cruiser owned by H. C. Humphries, Beckman peninsula, was made into a log cabin to go along with the song, "A Hunting We Will Go."

Aza Stanton, of Oakland, acted as grand marshal for the afternoon's proceedings.

Judges were Earl Poorbaugh Baltimore; Mrs. Gladys Vannucci, Mavadell Dodaro, Emile Germain and Charles Briner.

The regatta and water show was the first of its kind to be sponsored at the lake and there were plans to make it an annual event.

Some Articles Returned

As a result of the notice of articles lost at the Fair, published last week, H ribbons and a set of crocheted hot mats were sent to the Sheriff's office which in turn sent them to Mrs. K. Ridder, department head.

Still missing are the afghan of Mrs. George Brunson, umbrella, saw, two marking pencils, large butcher knife, and scissors.

FOUR HUNDRED BUSHEL FIELD.—Here is Baity Ridder, local field representative for Dulany Foods, inspecting the snap beans on the Hurley Miller farm plot at Red House. Mr. Miller's plot grew 400 bushels to the acre, which is 150 bushels more than the average yield. Mr. Miller had just under three acres of beans planted this year. With 30 pounds to the bushel, figures reveal that Mr. Miller was raising 12,000 pounds of beans to the acre. The growing of snap beans in the county this summer has proved a profitable undertaking.

Retires At Age 55 After 32 Years In Postal Department

Thomas Joseph Stanton, who observed his 55th birthday on Tuesday, retired yesterday as assistant postmaster of the Oakland post office after thirty-two years of duty in the postal service. A dinner was given in his honor last evening at Backbone Mountain Inn, by postal employes.

The calendar favored Stanton somewhat. An employe must take retirement at the end of a month. He began work on August 25, 1928, had his 55th birthday on Tuesday and the end of the month came the next day. He didn't stay one day longer than the minimum.

Back in 1928 Stanton began his duties as a substitute clerk. He was appointed regular clerk April 1, 1929, and became assistant postmaster January 1, 1938, succeeding Fred Peddicord. At the time he began to work the Oakland office was a small second class office, but became first class July 1, 1954.

A first class office is dependent upon gross receipts from stamp sales in excess of $40,000, and it was explained that activity of the 11-P stores gave the necessary boost to receipts which advanced the class in 1951. Actually the receipts at the Oakland office have more than quadrupled since 1928.

Only two employes in the office have been there longer than Stanton. They are William Eggers, rural carrier, and Robert T. Hoffman, city carrier.

Since Stanton went into the postal service the post office also has moved. When he began work the office was located in the McIntire building, corner Third and Alder streets, which had been moved there a few years before from the First National Bank building. The present building on Second street was occupied December 8, 1940.

During the thirty-two years Stanton has served under seven postmasters. They were Dr. Webster Ravenscroft, Lawrence M. Fraley, Mrs. Frances Matthews, J. Frank Browning, Irvin R. Rudy, Sr., W. F. Spoerlein and the present postmaster, Donald M. Browning. Mr. Spoerlein was postmaster when it was made a first class office.

Mr. Stanton has been the youngest person in the postal service in this area to retire except Merrill Crane, who retired about two years ago with disability.

No successor has yet been named to the position made vacant.

Campaign Kickoff Slated For Sept. 12

The official kickoff of the national Nixon-Lodge campaign is scheduled for Monday morning, September 12, at the Friendship International airport near Baltimore, it was announced this morning in telegrams to the Republican State Central Committee and the Republican Women's Club.

President Eisenhower, Nixon and Lodge will be present and a mammoth send-off rally is being planned.

Several Republican groups in the area are arranging caravans and motorcades to go to Friendship on that day. All persons will meet at the airport by 8 a. m. Parking facilities will be available.

The telegrams to local groups were sent by D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Maryland.

One Home Struck By Lightning During Electrical Storm

A severe electrical storm hit the mountain top about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, interrupting electric current and striking one Garrett county home.

The Oakland Fire department actually received two calls, one being an assist call from the Terra Alta fire company, to help fight a blaze at the Terra Alta Stockyards.

The first call came from Mr. and Mrs. John O'Haver, where lightning struck their frame and stone dwelling near the old Fingerboard road leading to Hutton. This call came at 11:07.

There was no loss on either the building or the contents, according to fireman Donald M. Browning, who filled out the report. The No. 3 truck answered this alarm.

At 11:10 just three minutes later, another call came from Terra Alta where a stock barn had been ignited as the result of lightning. The number two truck went to this fire but the blaze was under control when it arrived and there was no hook-up.

About an hour before the storm hit this area the electricity had been knocked out by lightning in the vicinity of Grafton. That area, Morgantown and Fairmont had sharp electrical storms. The current was interrupted for some forty-five minutes.

The Grafton lines feed the Howesville station from which place Oakland receives its current.

About one-half inch of rain fell in the area during the downpour which lasted half an hour or more. At the weather station at Weber's .37 of an inch had been measured.

The total rainfall for August reached 4.86 inches, somewhat above normal.

The hottest days of the year also were reached this week. The thermometer reached 86 degrees on Sunday, August 28, and Tuesday, August 30.

Wrecked Airplane Discovered Tuesday

The Cessna airplane which members of the newly formed squadron of the Civil Air patrol in Oakland were seeking in this area last week was discovered Tuesday in a remote wooded area in the mountains of Somerset county, Pa. The plane had burned and four bodies were burnied beyond recognition.

Only the tail section was intact. The plane was identified by the number on the tail section. It was registered in the name of Henry S. Griffing, Oklahoma City movie and television executive and attorney. He was accompanied by his wife and two children. The plane was last seen August 16 when it took off from Teterboro, N. J., bound for Oklahoma City.

The plane apparently struck a tree. The wreckage was discovered by Arthur Poorbaugh, a lumber firm owner who was inspecting a lumber tract.

Collapses On Street

Ray Matheny, of Terra Alta, W. Va., engaged in work at Lake Ford on Tuesday, collapsed and was brought to an Oakland physician. Upon arriving here he collapsed again on the street as he was being taken into the physician's office and ended up in the Garrett County Memorial hospital where he remains a patient.

He suffered a slight heart attack, according to the diagnosis.

4,750 Students Slated To Enroll For 1960-61 Term

School Doors Will Open On Tuesday, September 6

Approximately 4,750 students will return to the classrooms of the public schools of the county next Tuesday morning, September 6, and their program of studies will start on the first day with a complete session.

Preparation for the opening of school is being done this week by principals and teachers, in a series of meetings laid out by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Yesterday there was a meeting of principals and supervisors in the office of the Board of Education.

Today there are meetings with all teachers at Southern High school. Special speakers are Dr. William Hartley, specialist in audio visual education, Towson State Teachers college; Paul Kosiak, specialist in reading from Science Research associates; Dr. Wesley Dorn, specialist in school finance and legislation, Maryland State Department of Education.

Dr. Dorn will also meet with a group of citizens on Thursday evening, known as the education council. This session will be at the Center street school, at 8 p. m.

Friday, September 2, all teachers will report to their respective schools for a full day in preparation for the school opening.

Robert Rodeheaver is presiding at the teacher meeting today with Mr. Hawkins scheduled for opening remarks. Dr. Hartley was scheduled for the morning address with group meetings set from 10:50 to 11:40. High school teachers are meeting with Foster D. Bittle, supervisor; while elementary teachers are meeting with Mrs. Caroline Wilson and Edwin Ellas, supervisors.

Mr. Kosiak is to speak prior to the luncheon session and Dr. Dorn will be the luncheon speaker. He will discuss the balanced partnership plan of financing schools to be submitted to the legislature in January by the State Department of Education.

The number of students expected is about the same as last year, Mr. Hawkins said. On opening day last year, 4,679 students enrolled, 64 more than for the enrollment on opening day a year previous. This increased within two or three weeks to 4,700 and better. Of the total there were 1,100 at Southern and 750 at Northern. There was not expected to be much change in the two high schools.

All schools have been renovated during the summer months and paint was added where necessary.

Plans For Civil War Centennials Heard At Meeting

Members of twelve local organizations met at the William-James Hotel on last Thursday to consider the idea of Garrett County's participation in the coming nation wide observances of Civil War centennials.

Park W. T. Lov, Executive Secretary of the Maryland Civil War Centennial Commission, set forth the aims and purposes of the Commission and offered suggestions as to the forms of local observances and the methods of planning for them.

The response being favorable, a unanimous decision was made to form a temporary committee headed by the Garrett County Historial Society, with the understanding that pending official action by each organization represented the temporary committee would receive the support and encouragement of those in attendance. The temporary committee would seek the aid of other organized groups not represented at the meeting, and set in motion the process of forming a permanent committee to plan for the Centennials.

To Attend Convention

Some ten members of the Oakland congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are planning to attend a three-day convention at New Centerville, Pa., near Somerset, this coming week-end. From 900 to 1200 delegates are expected.

Morning, afternoon and evening sessions will feature Bible talks, experiences in ministry and demonstrations for ministerial progress.

Great Nations Have Been Obliterated—The price of history is replete with accounts of the wreckage and obliteration of great nations that knew not how to combat barbarian hordes. Today, on every continent the master Communists are lighting the fires of hatred to conquer America and freedom, using the tools of ignorance and poverty. Russian Premier Khrushchev has said, "I want to see the Red flag fly over the whole world in my lifetime." If we elect officials who are weak in moral fibre or who lack sound judgment, the real winners of the election this fall are likely to be the group of ruthless Communist tyrants in Russia whose steadfast purpose is to enslave the whole world.

Our next President will have to be able not only to deal effectively with the enemy abroad, but no less effectively with the forces of destruction within this country, not the least of which is the insidious movement for more government spending and more of the welfare-state concept.

There was never a graver time in history than now.

Minimum-Wage Battle — The Minimum-Wage bill that finally passed the Senate was not the Minimum-Wage bill as reported. After the Senate got through working it over, it did not resemble the bill wanted by Senator Kennedy and his political backers. The original Kennedy Bill—reaching in, as it did, to control or meddle in local businesses—violated the basic principle of the Fair Labor Standards Act which specifically limited Federal regulation to interstate commerce, and it violated a basic American principle of separation of responsibilities of Federal and local governments.

Although the Holland Amendment and some other limiting amendments (all of which I supported) were rejected, the Senate accepted strong amendments designed to say to the Federal government: "Hands off strictly local businesses!" Excluded from coverage were all hotels, motels, restaurants, automobile dealers, and farm implement dealers, and all concerns doing less than a million-dollars-per-year business. Excluded from regulation by the Federal government were others—agricultural workers, for instance. We ended up with an acceptable bill—one which placed safeguards against Federal encroachment in local matters.

When the Senate passed the whittled-down bill, it asked for a conference with the House, which previously had passed an even more limited bill. The House bill would increase the minimum wage to $1.15 per hour (compared with $1.25 in the Senate bill), and the coverage for retail establishments would be limited to those operating in more than one State. As this is written, it remains to be seen just what the Senate-House compromise will be. I entertain the hope that the main points of the House bill will prevail, for, although the Senate bill was made acceptable, the House bill was more to my liking.

A Conference Report, whatever it is, must be considered and acted upon by both Houses. When the House and the Senate iron out all differences and agree on a measure, it is sent to the President for signature or veto.

What A Session!—There were days in May and June when the Senate was twiddling its thumbs, waiting for the Majority Leadership to call up important bills, but they weren't called up. The bills that seemed to hold political advantage were saved for the pre-election session. I feel that to pass legislation for political purposes is to put political advantage above a sacred public responsibility.

How Our State Compares With Others—The State of Maryland ranks high when compared with other States, in several respects. In some respects, however, we do not fare so well. The Research Division of the National Education Association has come up with a number of interesting tables. From them, we find this:

Population classified as urban, State of Maryland, 69.0%, U. S. A. Average, 56.6%. Maryland's Rating, 11th.

Increase in over-65 population since 1950, State of Maryland 22.8%, U. S. A. Average 23.4%, Maryland's Rating 25th.

Percentage of voters who voted, 1956, State of Maryland 54.9%, U. S. A. Average 60.4%, Maryland's Rating 36th.

Adults with 4 or more years of college, State of Maryland 7.0%, U. S. A. Average 6.0%, Maryland's Rating 13th.

Per capita income taxes, 1958, State of Maryland $364., U. S. A. Average $228., Maryland's Rating 6th.

Per capita personal income, 1958, State of Maryland $2221., U. S. A. Average $2057, Maryland's Rating 9th.

Maryland And The Space Program—A Maryland firm is helping on the reported test of the rocket ship we're sending to the Moon. Allegany Ballistics at Cumberland was awarded the contract for the retro-rockets to be used in the Lunar Capsule program. The 300-pound package which is to be rocketed to the Moon and impacted on the Moon's surface will contain some delicate instruments to relay information to us. To slow down the capsule so that it will strike the Moon's surface only hard enough to open the package without damaging the equipment, retro-rockets will be used as a brake.

Bendix of Baltimore was awarded a $2,000,000 contract for "satellite communications equipment." Bendix was also awarded a $1,254,-335 contract for building and installing the world-wide "Criticon Teletype Communication Network" for the Army.

Giant Steps In Space—During the past week, the Russians put into orbit a capsule containing some live animals and, according to their report, which we have no good reason to disbelieve, brought the capsule back to earth and recovered it with the animals still alive.

We beat the Russians by a few days in bringing back to earth and recovering an orbiting capsule, although so far as I know our capsule did not contain any animals. The recovery was made in the ocean. A few hours later, we sent another capsule into orbit and brought it back to earth, snagging it in mid-air—THE FIRST MID-AIR SNARING OF A SATELLITE ENTERING EARTH'S ATMOSPHERE.

In a single day, we sent into orbit the largest man-made object ever put into space. Echo I achieved the highest altitude ever reached by a piloted aircraft—138,560 feet, nearly 26 miles up; shot an Atlas missile 5,000 miles, guided on target, launched a Polaris missile from under water on a successful 1,100 mile test, hitting the target; and recovered an orbiting satellite (mentioned above). As though that were not enough, we followed up with a 102,800-foot parachute jump, with one man falling free more than 16 miles, reaching the speed of sound. Before he opened his parachute at 17,500 feet—a total fall of nearly 20 miles. Also at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida we launched a Bomarc-A interceptor missile at a Pilotless Supersonic Jet Drone 172 miles out over the gulf and blew it apart—the 18th successful hit out of 19 tries. We also flew the X-15 rocket plane at a speed of 2,196 miles an hour. Our nation's triumphs in space and rocketry have outstriped the most sanguine hopes.

Where Do Government Benefits Come From?—An African eager to learn about democracy was having difficulty with the idea of taxation of the people "for the benefit of the people". Suddenly the light dawned. "I see!" he cried. "It means that if I want to give my dog a nice piece of fresh meat, I just take a knife and chop off part of his tail."

Broadwater Clan Elects

The annual Broadwater reunion was held at Meadow Mountain Inn. Elmer Broadwater, Cresaptown, was elected president, Verda I. Michael, Barton, secretary; and Miss Zella Broadwater, New Germany, treasurer, all direct descendants of the late Cornelius Broadwater, who immigrated from Sussex, England and settled in Loudoun county, Va., before moving to Allegany county in 1807.

An early member of the family, Charles Broadwater, of King William county, Va., was a member of the House of Burgess from 1766 to 1775 and later served in public office with George Washington in Fairfax county, Va., in 1781 and 1782.

Broadwater reunions have been held for the past 55 years. Outgoing officers were Clarence Broadwater, Cumberland, president; and Miss Viola Broadwater, Grantsville, secretary.

Poultry Plant

trial relations manager, said he and two other company officials, Earl Wise, plant manager, and A. D. Summers, general manager, were riding on the trucks.

He said only a few pickets were at the plant when the trucks arrived. When the loaded trucks started to leave, however, about 20 pickets gathered on the county road at the end of the plant driveway. Truck drivers stopped when they saw a woman strewing tacks on the road. Sheriff's deputies later arrested Mrs. Elizabeth Ervin, Mt. Lake Park. Drivers made a second attempt to leave the plant but stones were thrown at the trucks. The windshield of a tractor-trailer was broken.

This time the deputies and state police arrested Richard Sharpless, Gladys Hauser, Melvin Sines, James Holler, Charles Smith and Theodore Wakefield on a motor vehicle law which makes it unlawful to throw stones or missiles on a public highway.

The eighth person was out under bond this week. She was Mary Warnick and she was apprehended at her home. She was not able to be found for several days. The cash bond was put up by the Union, as was the case with the other seven.

The hearing was set for Friday September 9 by Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney.

125 Affected by Strike

About 125 workers were affected by the contract agreement. They include plant workers represented by Pittsburgh Local 421, Meat Cutters Union, and about 15 truck drivers who belong to Cumberland Local 453, Teamsters Union.

The meeting was arranged by James A. Holden, conciliator for the U. S. Mediation Service. Representing the company were Earl Wise, manager; Frank O'Malley, industrial relations director; and William Devaney, attorney. Representing the union were C. E. Stutzman, for the Teamsters, and E. V. Bobrowica and Francis Cousins, the meat cutters.

Judge McLaughlin

rick Glotfelty and Elra Garletts individually, are joined with the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, and no allegations are made against these individuals in the petition, and no relief is asked against them.

2. The petitioners did not state in their petition for a Writ of Mandamus any cause which would entitle them to the relief for which they ask against the individual defendants.

3. The petitioners did not state in their petition any cause which would entitle them for relief against the Board of County Commissioners which is a corporate body.

4. That the petition shows that the payment involved was made voluntarily by the Commissioners acting with full authority, and that the relief prayed, a writ of mandamus "directing the County Commissioners of Garrett County, Md., to demand of Aubrey C. Brenneman and John J. Brenneman, the payment to them of the sum of $13,206 paid to them illegally by order of the County Commissioners on February 4, 1959, and to the case of their refusal to make said payment, that the County Commissioners bring forthwith such action or proceedings as are appropriate for the recovery of said sum of money for the taxpayers of the county" would be useless and purgatory, and that no other relief is asked.

5. That the payment made to Brenneman was in the sound discretion of the Board, and that the petition does not show gross abuse of discretion by the board, and that the payment was one which involved the exercise of discretion under authority of the general laws of Maryland.

6. That the petitioners ask, in effect, that the Board rescind an act already accomplished, rather than to perform an act which it is under affirmative duty to perform.

7. That the petition does not show, nor does it allege, a duty on the part of the Board to perform the matters sought in the petition, nor do the facts presented show any clear legal right on the part of the petitioners which would entitle them to the writ of mandamus.

8. That the petition and order is bad in substance and insufficient in law.

9. That for other good and sufficient reasons apparent upon the fact of the petition.

The taxpayers' petition was filed by Blaine Friend, James Ross, Donald Frazee, Friendsville; Arthur C. Savage, McHenry; Parker Warnick, New Germany; and James Broadwater, Sang Run.

They stated that Brenneman elected as a commissioner in 1954, in that capacity also functioned as a member of the County Roads department. In 1955, the petition stated, the board contracted with John J. Brenneman to drill 1,500 feet of rock at Bishop's quarry at $2.49 per foot. After four months with the contract completed he continued to drill without contract on the "overburden" with the price reduced to $2.00 per foot and submitted a total of $24,438 for drilling 12,219 feet.

Subsequently Ervin Roth, then a member of the board, asked for an injunction to restrain the commissioners from paying for future work and charged Brenneman, as a commissioner, with "doing business with himself." Judge George Henderson heard the case and instituted the injunction.

The Maryland Court of Appeals upheld a portion of Judge Henderson's ruling but did not rule on the question of the work done in the overburden. They claimed the court of appeals said this would be determined by future proceedings.

Should the demurrer be granted that would end the proceedings. Should it be denied, then a date would be set for trying the case on its merits.

Roads Report

ideration was expected within ten days. The Federal aid totals $7,830, or 50 percent of the base and surfacing.

Mr. Wotring said the winter weather had been unusually hard on surfaced roads and that many of the workmen had been employed all summer on patching and repairing these highways. There 130 employes in the roads department.

Also in the planning stage is a one-half mile strip of road in the Herrington Manor area, from the bridge at the Youghiogheny river to the bridge at Dunkard Lick. This is to eliminate a bad section of road that is a difficult area in winter.

Work on Bridges

The county roads employes are completing a new bridge at Merrill which should be open within ten days. This is a 63-foot, two-span bridge with steel beam and steel deck.

The single span bridge across the Potomac river at Bayard is to be repaired.

The Piney Run bridge in the Grantsville area is finished. This is a 28-foot span steel beam and steel deck bridge. Repairs to the other bridges are being made and a number of small bridges have been replaced with large pipe.

Wotring said a number of bridges also had been painted this summer including the one that crosses the Meadow Mountain inlet of Deep Creek leading to the Deep Creek State park.

Planned for this fall is the start of construction on two miles of the New Germany road. This is also a Federal aid project.

New Project With Signs

Some progress is being made on the erection of road signs throughout the county. Most of the county roads have well known names, Wotring said, and it is planned to erect signs with the names of roads at each end of each road. Maps with these names designated are available in the county roads office for cost, at 60 cents each. Roads which have county numbers will retain these numbers but also will have signs erected designating their names.

Wotring said that additional road construction was in the planning stage, in conjunction with Federal Aid.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT
Better Health Through Knowledge
High Cost of Accidents
● Premature Greying
● Blackstrap Molasses

Q. I have three children, all less than 5 years old. Hardly a week goes by without one or the other getting hurt. I know there is no such thing as "anti-injury" medicine but surely something can be done—but what?
A. Eternal vigilance on the part of parents and other adult members of the family is probably the only sure way to reduce the drain on health, happiness and pocketbook that results from childhood injuries.
Q. What causes premature greying of the hair?
A. Greying of the hair is accepted as a sign of aging but this neither answers the question nor helps us understand the process. The cause is unknown. A doctor examined almost 4,000 dark-haired persons ages 9 to 92 and concluded that the greying process starts in childhood and continues throughout life. However, it is usually not until men reach 30 to 34 and women 35 to 39 that the greying process becomes rapid. An interesting sidelight is that eyebrow greying precedes eyelash greying in men whereas the reverse is true for women.
Q. I use blackstrap molasses because they say it contains a lot of iron. Is this true? What is it good for?
A. Blackstrap molasses is the final liquid end product in the manufacture of sugar and is used principally by fermentation industries and as cattle feed. Although such molasses is a good source of iron and calcium, nutritional authorities say that it does not have the special or mystical properties claimed for it by some food faddists.

Methodist Church Has New Bishop For West Virginia

West Virginia's new Methodist bishop, who has jurisdiction over Methodist churches in Garrett county, is Fred G. Holloway, who was elected to that office by the Northeastern Jurisdictional conference at Washington, D. C., June 16.

He is the first bishop to be named exclusively for the West Virginia conference, since prior to this year one bishop had presided over three conferences. Mr. Holloway was a classmate of Harold H. Harned, at Western Maryland college a number of years ago.

Bishop Holloway served as president of Westminster Theological Seminary, president of Western Maryland college, dean of Drew Theological school and president of Drew university.

He holds degrees from a number of colleges. He was ordained a minister in the Methodist Protestant church in 1921. He was a delegate to the Uniting conference in 1939 which merged the three main branches of Methodism in America. In addition to holding pastorates in Delaware, Maryland and Virginia he has filled leading pulpits of the country.

Bishop Holloway is a past president of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the Methodist church, the Association of Methodist Theological Seminaries and the Council of Protestant Colleges and Universities. He is a member of the General Board of Education, the National Council of Churches, a trustee of the Pennington (N. J.) School, and of the Methodist hospital of Brooklyn, N. Y. He was ministerial delegate to the second assembly of the World Council of Churches at Evanston, Ill.

Born March 28, 1898 in Newark, N. J., he married the former Winifred Maxwell Jackson in 1923. They have two sons and seven grandchildren.

'The Importance Of Saying No'

If you place before a child a gallon of strawberry ice cream, a five-pound box of candy, four hot dogs topped with mustard, relish and chili sauce, three bottle of root beer and a lage box of hot buttered popcorn, he will gorge himself until he is sick. Similarly, if you bring before a Liberal bills to raise wages, to extend medical benefits, to increase farm subsidies, to build more highways, to pay teachers' salaries, to create a Civilian Conservation Corps, he will support every one of these government projects to the very last dollar in the Federal Treasury.

Like the small boy with the large eyes, the Liberal just can't say no. Apparently he believes that if he does he will be banished forever from the rolls of the Americans for Democratic Action, a fate that strikes terror into his bones. Now, I am not arguing that a Liberal or a Conservative should vote no every time. For my part, I voted in favor of the Mutual Security Bill last week because I believe it to be a necessary expense in view of the unyielding preserves exerted by the Soviet Union and its co-conspirators.

But I do marvel at the seemingly blind acceptance by the Liberals of so many schemes to transform the United States into Socialist Paradise. What they lack are principles by which to guide themselves. Last year the Chicago Tribune printed a series of 20 editorials entitled, "First Principles," which I have found to be the clearest and most convincing declaration of an American creed in maay years.

Here is one short bit of advice: "We should cease cultivating the habit of dependency among the people. Politicians have been contriving to convert America into a society of workers and drones. In the name of 'social justice' government defeats the impulse to private charity and ignores the obligations of the family to take care of its own. It plays the professional humanitarian to purchase favor and votes. (And) The most of its benefactions is charged to those able to take care of themselves or to future generations."

As a great President once remarked, "While the people should patriotically and cheerfully support their government, its functions do not include the support of the people." You may not believe it but those are the words of a Democratic President Grover Cleveland.

Gaster Reunion Held

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gaster in Deer Park, recently, the first assembly of family members for eleven years. There were seven daughters and one son in the group.

Children included Mrs. Freda Wilson and Mrs. Vergie Beaman, Hallister Calif.; Mrs. Anna Ruby, Smock, Pa.; Mrs. Dorcas Louie, Oakland; Mrs. Maxine Howe, Baltimore; Mrs. Ethel Smith, Braddock, Pa.; Miss Betty Jeanne Gaster, Deer Park; and John Gaster, Chevy Chase.

A number of other relatives were present.

Want CCC Again

Trial magistrates of Allegany county, meeting recently adopted a resolution calling for re-enactment of the Civilian Conservation corps or an equivalent organization.

Apart from the lasting benefit to society in reforestation, erosion control, parks, etc., the group felt that a more lasting benefit would enure to society through utilization of presently wasted manpower and an employment climate which would reduce anti-social motivation which is associated with enforced idleness. The group felt such a move would have an effect of reducing the rising crime rate.

Nixon urged Southern Democrats to vote Republican this year because their party had "deserted" them.

Savage Area Timber Project of 1908 Is Weeks Old-Timer

Logging operations have featured several previous old photographs, and in every case readers have been able to come up with some recollections of the places or people depicted.

Today's picture shows members of a timber cutting crew posing in front of their camp shack, but not much else is known about the group. The picture was taken in 1908 in the Savage River area, when timbering was an important business throughout the county.

Besides the sixteen workers shown, the group also includes three women, to the left, who served as cooks for the crew.

The photograph belongs to William Welch, who has several others taken about the same time in the Savage River section, probably of the same group of timbermen.

Mr. Welch is certain that many of the persons shown are still alive and living in the county, and will undoubtedly recognize themselves or their friends from bygone years. Should this be the case, perhaps they will help to pinpoint more exactly the location of the camp and the purpose of the photograph.

Fifty years ago, taking photographs was not the casual process it is today. Cumbersome equipment, elaborate posing and slow, painstaking processing were necessary to produce even the simplest picture. For this reason, photos such as the one shown today are rather rare, for it was not an everyday affair for a photographer to carry his heavy apparatus long distances into the woods for a casual "snapshot." Because of this, the purpose behind many of the old pictures is as interesting as the subjects.

Area Manager For Monongahela Power Is Retiring Today

John O. Collins, area manager for Monogahela Power Company in Preston County and the western portion of Garrett County, is retiring today, September 1, after more than 40 years of service, with the electric company and its predecessors.

His title as area manger will go with him into retirement. In 1952 the utility firm established its "Mountain Area", with Collins in charge, taking in all of Preston County and that part of Garrett County which is served by the West Maryland Power Company, a subsidiary of Monongahela. The same area now will be served by two district offices, one at Kingwood, the other at Oakland. Managers of those two districts are Harold Ellis, at Kingwood and Henry Hupp, at Oakland.

A native of Oakland, the manager has spent most of his life in that area and is widely known for his community services. He was president of the Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department for 24 years during which time the Firemen instituted the Buckwheat Festival and, for 18 years, have sponsored that popular fall event. Through that same organization he had a part in providing the Kingwood Community Building and the City's "Cow Palace", a livestock exhibition hall. Throughout his years with Monongahela he has been active in most of the civic activities of Kingwood and the general area. He presently is a director of the Albright National Bank and for several years served on the City Council.

Collins' career with the electric industry started in March, 1920, when he operated a small power plant for the City of Oakland. In 1922 the property was acquired by the West Penn Power Company and he became a lineman for the new owners. In 1925, when the Oakland properties became a part of the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company, predecessor of Monongahela, he transferred to Kingwood as a lineman, advanced to line foreman in 1932 and in 1940 became Kingwood district manager.

In 1945 Collins was transferred to Morgantown as general line foreman for the Morgantown division which included Monongalia, Preston and Garrett counties. In 1952 he returned to Kingwood to become manager of the newly-established Mountain Area.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins will continue to reside in Kingwood. Their four children are scattered: Virginia, Mrs. James Loar, in Port Arthur, Texas; Marie, in Los Angeles; Robert, in South Fork, Michigan and John, Jr., in North Palm Beach, Florida.

Polio Patient Should Fully Recover Soon

Six months from now, doctors say, Stella Merrbach, 12-year-old girl of near Grantsville, would be completely recovered from a bulbar polio attack which drew statewide attention.

The girl is back home, less than a month after she was first admitted to Cumberland's Memorial hospital and a few days later taken by ambulance to City Hospitals in Baltimore.

She was released from the hospital last Wednesday and returned home almost completely recovered. Some of her facial and larynx muscles still are affected by slight paralysis and her smile isn't up to normal yet.

Dr. David Draper, chief resident in pediatrics at the Baltimore hospital, said normal use of the muscles would return by next spring.

Meanwhile annual late August and September polio warnings are up for persons to guard against the disease.

More polio vaccine was rushed to this county last week when the supply became exhausted. Since the death of Mrs. William E. Fitzwater, Jr., young homemaker, last week Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer, said he had been swamped with requests for the Salk vaccine. More than 600 doses had been administered up to last Friday.

It was once again emphasized that there was no epidemic of the disease in the county.

where are they Going?

A familiar sight . . . men with briefcases daily throng airports all over the nation, winging their way from one place to another. But where, really, are they going?

In this busy age of appointments, rush hours, and summit meetings, we search for success, for more money, for a better future, for a variety of things. Yet, like so many mid-twentieth century Americans, the harder we seek the less we find.

We need a job, a purpose, a home, a family. But also, we need a church. We need to go into that church to reaffirm our faith both in God and in our fellow beings. Only then does our quest — and our ultimate destination — begin to make sense.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

God in History

Lesson for September 4, 1960

GOD IN HISTORY can be seen only with the eyes of faith. There is no demonstrating either that God exists or that he is doing any particular thing. Nevertheless, once seen with the insight of faith, God is unmistakably there—everywhere in the story of the universe and of man. God does not, so to speak, burst into the story like some one late to a meeting. He does not come in and out like a light out of order. He does not play a minor role on the stage of humanity. He is out there all the time.

Dr. Foreman

God's Will In History

What are God's intentions? Does he know what he wants and is he trying to get it? Does he know what he wants done and is he finding men who will do it? Such questions haunt the mind of one who has not yet become sure about God. They would haunt the mind of a believing man too, if the Bible did not help him with some answers. The prophets of "olden times" lived in a pretty modern era, after all. It was a time like ours in many ways. Nations were armed to the teeth, national wealth was being spent on defense, the common man was taxed right out of his sandals, the whole nation was morally weak and growing flabbier all the time.

At such a time arose prophets, men of God with insight into the mind of God. They did not know all God's "secret counsels" but they were quite certain on some points. First of all, they declared that God does have a purpose—a great all-embracing Purpose that includes every nation in the world. Translated into terms of our time, this means God has a purpose regarding Russia, China, Afghanistan, Canada, the State of Mississippi . . . there is not a territory so obscure, there is not an empire so great, as to be outside God's purposes. Does this mean that every "people and tongue and nation" and every subdivision thereof always does God's will? How about Russia? we would ask. How about Assyria" the ancient Hebrew would ask. Are they in line with God's high intention?

This was a bitter question when Assyria was invading Judah, and Isaiah, speaking for God, gives the answer of chapter 10. Judah, the nation, has sinned, and God is about to punish her. But he does not punish the nation by means of avenging angels swinging thunderbolts. He punishes the nation with a rod: and the name of the rod is Assyria. It is a wicked nation to be sure; nations defeated by Assyria have a tragic fate in store. But when God has sufficiently punished Israel with this "rod of anger", he will cast the rod aside. Where is God's hand in history? At that time, His hand held the rod called Assyria. Since then there have been other nations which like Assyria carried out God's will without being aware of it or of Him. The reader no doubt can name some of these.

God's Character In History

The prophets saw something more than a powerful hand guiding the course of nations. They could see what kind of God this is. To the eye and mind of faith, the whole course of history, the rise and fall of nations, the chains of cause and effect in all ages, strongly speak of a God who loves justice and mercy, a God who is concerned about the helpless and the depressed peoples of the world. Nations as well as individuals that defy God's laws are just digging their own graves. In a real sense of the word, every nation that has fallen into the pit (and the mortality among nations, to date, is 100%) has dug that pit for itself. God's throne of justice is not set on some remote star, it is here on the flying earth. "Though with patience he stands waiting, with exactness grinds he all." The judgments of God are not swift but they are sure. From them there is no appeal. His judgments are not arbitrary, they come right out of the sin itself, the punishment fits the crime. For God is no intruder into history, he is Lord of History. In fulfilling his will is the Good, for all men.

Last known address:

No. 5017 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the complainant from the respondent, and permission of the complainant to resume her maiden name of Mildred Mae Miller.

The Bill states:

That the complainant was married to the respondent August 4, 1928, at Fayette City, Pennsylvania; that there was one child born of this marriage, to-wit: Sherman Lee Van Ripper; that, although the conduct of the complainant was always that of a kind, affectionate and faithful wife, the said respondent, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the complainant during the month of April, 1931, and that she has neither seen nor heard from him since that date, and that the separation between them is deliberate and final, and beyond any hope or expectation of a reconciliation; that the complainant is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, where she has resided for the past six years, but that the said respondent is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and was last known by the complainant to reside at 5th Street, Charleroi, Pennsylvania.

The Bill then prays for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the complainant from the respondent; for the right of the complainant to resume her maiden name of Mildred Mae Miller; for general relief and for an order of publication.

It is, thereupon, this 17th day of August, 1960, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the complainant, by having a copy of this order inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 9th day of September, 1960, give notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of said bill of complaint, and warning him to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 24th day of September, 1960, and show cause, if any he has, why the prayers of said Bill of Complaint should not be granted unto the complainant.

THE REPUBLICAN

Pretty Low . . .

Citizens of this county have dropped pretty close the bottom of the barrel morally, when they insist on being paid to register, or insist on being paid to get someone else to register. And we must admit that there are a number of such citizens in this county. They ought to be ashamed of themselves.

If they reflected on the history of this country and how hard people had to struggle to gain the right to vote, they would admit that their performance is shameful.

Next to having to be paid to register, is the necessity of getting paid in order to vote. Both these items go hand in hand and this inevitably leads to corruption. Let's have none of that in this county.

There were charges of vote purchases in the Kennedy primary campaign in West Virginia; charges that money flowed freely in every election precinct. And why does that have to be? I'm sure both major parties are responsible for similar instances all over the United States. Why? Because voters are as willing to receive as the parties are to give.

Our forefathers fought for the independence which we still enjoy today. How long we will continue to enjoy it depends upon maintaining honesty in government, pride in our constitutional system, and integrity in our voting customs.

Let's face it. The person who demands money to register and who registers, Democratic or Republican, depending upon who slips him the larger amount, is not worthy of the right to vote. He is the man whose vote goes to the highest bidder, and if nothing is forthcoming from either party, he will stay at home. For shame!

Let's have a rebirth of moral integrity, and a dedicated interest in our country's welfare. Our moral decline is a more dangerous foe than communism.

Judge McLaughlin Ends Taxpayers' Mandamus Claim

Sustains Demurrer Sought By County Commissioners At Hearing Thursday

Without waiting to hear all the argument in the case, Associate Judge Kenneth McLaughlin last Thursday sustained the demurrer filed by the County Commissioners against the request for a writ of mandamus sought by several taxpayers in a case involving payment of fees for drilling work. The demurrer was sustained without leave to amend, which was considered a complete victory for the Commissioners.

The decision apparently ended any further attempt at court litigation over the drilling payment of the Commissiuners to John J. Brenneman in the amount of $16,206, for balance uf werk done by the man in 1957.

The payment to Brenneman was appruved February 3, 1959, and paid the following day. A group of taxpayers in April of this year threatened the possibility of a suit in an attempt to compel the funds paid to Brenneman to be restured to the county.

At that time Stuart F. Hamill, the Commissioners' attorney, said they had made a thorough investigation as to the merits of the claim and that he had personally investigated the court proceedings when Aubrey Brenneman as a Commissioner had been bruught into court on the charge of doing business with himself.

Hamill declared there was never any evidence or testimony that the work had not been performed or that the price was not reasonable. He said the county had received the benefit from Brenneman's labor, that it was in accordance with an agreement with the company, and that there was nothing in the Court of Appeals record which indicated that the claim could not or should not be paid ur that Brenneman was not entitled to be paid.

Mr. Whitworth contended the money paid to Brenneman was subject to litigation in 1957 and that it was his understanding that the claim was to be determined by further proceedings in a court of law and would not be paid until the court decided upon the legality of the claim.

Judge McLaughlin told Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., attorney for the six taxpayers, that he knew full well that the Commissioners had discretionary power and that the court could not substitute its will in the matter.

The judge ruled that the County Commissiuners had the discretion either to pay or not to pay the bill for the work as it was entirely within their province.

A 16-year-old county youth, who police said was probably accidentally shot in the chest late last Thursday night, and who underwent surgery early Friday morning, died Saturday September 3, in Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

The youth was Eddie Ray Stanton, 16, a son of Edward and Mabel Hoover Stanton, of near Accident. His parents told that he walked out of his house Thursday night presumably to go raccoon hunting with an uncle, Marvin L. Hoover, 24, of Bittinger. After determining the youth was wounded, the uncle ran to the home and got the boy's father. Both men took him to the home of another uncle, Kirk Patton, about a mile away, and he was brought to the hospital from there.

He underwent surgery for the removal of the .22 calibre slug which had entered the stomach, ranged upward into the chest and tore several arteries. Four persuns were called by the American Red Cross blood recruitment chairman, Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, who came to the hospital and gave blood for transfusions. The hospital surgeon called state police at LaVale barracks and asked them to pick up a Cumberland surgeon and rush him to the hospital.

Authorities were still invesigating the accident over the Labor day week-end, and could not determine what had caused the rifle to discharge.

Stanton was a ninth grade student at Northern High school at Cove. He is survived by his parents, three brothers, Glenn, Dennis and Roger Stanton, and two sisters, Wilma and Janie Stanton, all at home.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bittinger Lutheran church, Rev. David Fetter, Grantsville, officiated and Interment was in the Bittinger cemetery.

Accident Insurance Available to Pupils

The Board of Education has given approval tu schools to offer the Pilot Life Insurance Company plan and is urging parents to purchase the school accident insurance covering all possible sources of injuries to children (except football) from the time they leave for school until they return home in the evening.

The Pilot plan costs $2 per pupil per year and is effective as soon as the premium is paid. Up to $3,000 per injury is guaranteed by the company, if the injury occurs to a pupil while at school or enroute to and from school.

The school board emphasized that no school accident insurance is carried on pupils other than school bus insurance. Mr. Hawkins said the board felt insurance on pupils was a matter of parent responsibility and that the program was presented through the schools merely as a matter of economy and convenience to parents.

Premium collections for school accident insurance are handled by each homeroom teacher.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen John Marshall Butler

"The Circus and the Ringmaster"

It would be well for all of us to realize and remember that the President of the United States is Dwight David Eisenhower. He determines our foreign policy, he sets the course for our domestic affairs and, a most important point for every member of Congress to retain during this unusual session, he signs the bills into law. And he will continue to be our President until Inauguration Day next January.

It therefore behooves the presidential nominees of both parties to consider the policies and philosophy of a man who has led this country to an annual one-half trillion dollar gross national product during the last eight years. Furthermore, as we begin this extended session, which probably would not have been necessary if a greater effort at legislating had been made earlier this year, we should keep in mind that we are in Washington to act on certain legislative items carried over from before the convention hiatus. This extraordinary session of Congress was most assuredly not called to implement new and untested legislation plucked from a party platform.

Legislation requires hearings, committee discussion and Congressional debate. There is just not enough time during this August session for these necessary tests, and so new legislation should be deferred in favor of the many appropriation bills and other items which must be passed this month.

There has been much talk about sacrifice of late—it remains to be seen whether those who have been demanding it will find the strength during this session to sacrifice a possible political gain to themselves for prompt and necessary attention to a program in the best interests of this Nation. Proceedings during the first week of the session, however, suggest that such sacrificial behavior is behind mere mortals— or at least mere politicians.

All in all, this session will provide a Congressional spectacle with all the color and ballyhoo of a two-ring circus under the Big Dome. And the crowd-pleasers will strut their stuff: the exponents of expediency, the idolators of irresponsibility, the fanciers of fanfare. It may quickly turn into the Greatest Show on Earth, but hopefully for the country, the ringmaster, Dwight David Eisenhower, holds the big whip, the Presidential veto, which he will crack when and if he has to.

At the hearing last Thursday, Mr. Hamill opened the case by outlining the points to be covered which included nine separate reasons. He termed it a "misjoinder of parties," and stated that the court has no jurisdiction to impose its wishes on the Commissioners. He further declared the payment was made voluntarily and in good faith and couldn't be recalled even if the Commissioners had wanted to do that.

Whitworth's main contention seemed to imply that by filing a demurrer the defendants had admitted every allegation he had made in his suit for the writ of mandamus. Judge McLaughin did not agree with him on this point. He also claimed the payment had been illegal.

McLaughlin told Whitworth that his clients "might" have a remedy but it was not in a mandamus preceeding. He said he was sustaining the demurrer without leave to amend and would hear the balance of the argument only if the attorneys insisted. He declared, "I'm ready to make a decision in this case without forther discussion."

The Commissioners based their stand on the decision of the Court of appeals which had affirmed the case in part and reversed it in part.

The reversal concerned paragraphs 3 and 4 and paragraph two was the only part affirmed.

Part two concerned the fact that Aubrey C. Brenneman was enjoined as long as he was a county commissioner, from doing any business with the County Commissioners and from acting as such during any discussions or action by the board in reference to the balance of the money which might be due to Brenneman for drilling work performed at Bishop's quarry.

The court of appeals reversed the decision of Judge George Henderson which would have enjoined the commissioners from making any further payments until the further order of the court.

The last paragraph of the Court of Appeals decision stated: "We are not in any way passing upon any amount claimed to be due John J. Brenneman by the Commissioners or the road board. This will have to be determined by future proceedings, and nothing in this opinion or in the opinion of the chancellor is to be construed in any way passing upon the merits of any such claims."

As far back as April Mr. Hamill had told Whitworth he felt it was inconceivable that any person would object to payment of a bill which the court had considered fair and just. Judge Henderson's oral opinion following the original trial had acknowledged this feeling.

The taxpayers' petition originally was filed by Blaine Friend, James Ross, Donald Frazee, Friendsville; Arthur G. Savage, McHenry; Parker Warnick, New Germany; and James Broadwater, Sang Run.

The court house was well filled to hear the arguments and it was felt that perhaps the decision would not be made immediately but the proceedings ended abruptly about 11:45.

Arguing for sustaining the demurrer were Stuart F. Hamill and Walter W. Dawson. Whitworth said the taxpayers have 30 days in which to file an appeal in the Maryland Court of Appeals but no decision is likely at present. If an appeal is filed, then the case is considered dismissed.

It was reported that one of the taxpayers told the judge following his decision that he wanted to discuss the case but Judge McLaughlin said he would not discuss the case with him. The individual then said he would write him a letter. It was reported the judge then warned him to be careful what was said as he might find himself in contempt of court. No one present was found who would confirm this report.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley had earlier in the case disqualified himself from the proceedings and Judge McLaughlin of Hagerstown was ordered to hear the case.

Mr. Hawkins said that curriculum emphasis during the year would be placed on mathematics, grades 1 through 12, high school science, social studies, English, reading and language arts, continuing emphasis on music, both vocal and instrumental in both elementary and high school and continued emphasis on programs caring for individual differences of children through better school guidance and pupil personnel programs.

He said Albert Ringer, math instructor at Southern, would head a study program in that field, assisted by curriculum supervisors and elementary and high school teachers. Lewin Wheat, state supervisor of science and math, will head a study on science. Curriculum supervisors will head the social studies program.

Nineteen teachers out of a total staff of 188 joined the teaching force for the first time. Twelve of them are college gradoates beginning their careers.

PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

Whatever you may have read about the "student riots" against the Hoouse Un-American Activities Committee in San Francisco last May 12-14, here is the official report issued by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, after a thorough investigation:

"The Communist attack on the HCUA in San Francisco was in line with a longstanding Party aim to destroy (the Committee and its work) . . . The first objective of the Party was to fill the scene of the hearings with demonstrators. The second was to incite them to action through the use of mob psychology.

"The first stage of the Party's plan of action began to unfold after word was received on April 25, 1960, by Party officials that subpoenas had been issued for local Communists to appear for the hearings. One of the recipients of a subpoena was Douglas Wachter, an 18-year-old sophomore at the University of California. Wachter had attended the 17th national convention of the Communist Party in December as an official delegate.

"Party officials decided to build a major part of their plan of attack around Wachter. Immediately after receiving a subpoena, Wachter proceeded to the University of California campus to organize student demonstrators . . . " (The report tells how other Communists contacted student groups at Santa Rosa Junior College, San Francisco State College, and others) . . .

The Party line on the hearings and the general plan of attack were outlined and distributed early in May to all Party members in the area . . . rank and file Party members quickly responded. Members of the San Jose Club of the Santa Clara County Communist Party circulated petitions and arranged for the publishing of a protest advertisement in the local San Jose newspapers. Oakland (Calif.) Communist Party members arranged for radio broadcasts and publications of protest ads. Fund drives were initiated in the various clubs to provide financial support for the attack.

"When the day arrived for the hearings to begin, the Party was set (for) its second objective of inciting the mob. A few key Party members were to play major roles as agitators"; (to incite violence inside and outside the courtroom.)

As planned, the Communists threw the hearings into near panic. Policemen were attacked; the mobs of Communist-led students outside stormed the hearing room doors. Fire hose had to be brought into play, and finally police clubs. For three days the Communist-controlled mobs ran amuck making a shambles of the hearings. Finally, the danger to the Committee itself became so acute, members and staff had to be taken out rear doors by police and whisked away under guard. The hearings were called off.

Riot charges were lodged against 62 persons. But Judge Albert A. Axtrod dismissed the charges declaring that most of the defendants were "clean-cut American college students" merely incited by agitators. Yet 58 of the 62 "clean-cut American students" thereupon signed a statement of defiance: "Nobody incited us," it said. "Nobody misguided us. We were led by our own convictions."

Mr. Hoover said in his report: "Particularly unfortunate is the fact that many youth and student groups in our Nation today are totally unaware of the extent to which they can be victimized and exploited by Communists."

The Procrastinators Club

Such a club does exist and has its headquarters in Philadelphia. They have as their motto, "Never do today what you can put off until tomorrow." They celebrated Independence Day of July 4, 1958 on January of 1959. They put off their Christmas colebration until June 1959. Now all of this no doubt is done in fun, but it is surprising how many people unofficially belong to the Procrastinators Club. Especially is this true of their spiritual relation to God. They are fully aware that they have sinned and come short of God's approval and are in no condition to meet Him in the judgment. They have heard and believe that e way has been opened up for them through Jesus Christ. But they put off the matter of yielding themselves to God by receiving Christ as their personal Saviour. Oh, it is not that they intend to do so permanently, for they do not wish to be lost for ever. They have put it off for the present. If you are such a one, let me say to you that every sudden death is a warning that you ere playing the part of a fool. Procrastinate with the affairs of this world if you will, but do not delay ..this.. matter of getting right with God.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Misconception About Glasses

- Mushrooms
- Split Lip
- Glands and Hair

Q. If I wear my glasses faithfully (I am nearsighted) will I need them later on? I am 14.

A. You probably will. In fact, nearsightedness (myopia) tends to increase with growth and age. No harm comes of not wearing corrective glasses constantly other than that which may result from inability to see distant objects on such occasions.

Q. Is there any test to tell the difference between nonpoisonous and poisonous mushrooms?

A. No, there is no simple test to distinguish edible mushrooms from poisonous ones (toadstools).

Q. I have had a split in my lower lip for quite some time. It heals, only to break open when I talk or smile. Is there any medicine to use that will heal the split permanently?

A. You should, we think, see a doctor. The chronic split or fissure may have produced some slight scarring or thickening of the tissue. If so, medical assistance is necessary to achieve permanent healing.

Q. Recently I was told that there is a gland which causes excessive hair growth on the face and body of women. Is this true? Would an operation help?

A. First, there is a rather wide range of normalcy in hair growth, and allowance must be made for the individual's racial and family background. If it is decided that hair growth is abnormal, any of several possible causes may be involved. The trouble could lie in the pituitary gland, the adrenal glands, or the ovaries. The age of the patient could have some bearing. As an example, increased facial hair is often noted in women past the menopause. The cause of excess facial hair must first be determined, and treatment planned accordingly. Very often no specific trouble can be detected and the only solution is to remove the hair locally by one of several methods. The entire problem should, of course, be discussed with your doctor.

What Congress Left Undone—What the 86th Congress did is small potatoes in comparison with what is left undone. The list of what it didn't do is long. With politics in the air—on both sides of the aisle, of course—there was much jockeying for position in the Senate and the calling up, particularly in the bobtail session, of measures which seemed to hold the promise of political advantage, with the result that legislation in the national interest was neglected.

This was pointed up by U. S. Senator Frank J. Lausche (Democrat, of Ohio) in a dramatic and earnest plea on the Senate Floor for legislation to restrain the issuance of passports to Communists. Senator Lausche said, in part:

"Some explanation will have to be made to the question of why we gave the utmost of consideration to matters that could have waited until next January, and yet we declined to listen to the plea of the Secretary of State, who repeatedly has said, 'I need this legislation. Please pass it.' What tremendous power is operating upon the Senate? Who is it that possesses the influence to see to it that such a bill is not brought up for consideration? . . . The headman of the Communist association of the United States testified that the bill should not be passed. . . To him we listen. To the Secretary of State we turn a deaf ear."

What happened to the legislative program? Note what happened on the most talked about issues:

Civil Rights: The Senate Majority leadership blocked all action.

Farm: Despite the promise made, no farm bill was introduced.

Housing: Omnibus bill was sidetracked by the Majority in the House.

School Aid: Bogged down in the House.

Defense: No more, no less, than recommended by General Eisenhower.

Minimum Wage: The titular head of the Majority who sponsored this legislation could not deliver what he had promised.

Medical Care: In its final form, the legislation is much the same as President Eisenhower favored, not at all what the Majority Leadership wanted.

President's Requests Ignored—On August 8, 1960, at the opening of the bobtail session of Congress, President Eisenhower sent to Congress a list of proposals for legislation which he said were vital to the national interest. This was not in jest—or to embarrass the Majority. It was a legislative program which could have been enacted in the short session. It was not a new legislative program; it embodied measures which the President had repeatedly urged Congress to pass and on which Congress had conducted hearings and debate.

The President, first of all, requested four specific measures "to build free world strength"— as follows:

—restoration of the over half-billion dollars that had been cut from the appropriations for the Mutual Security Program;

—a 100 million-dollar increase in the Mutual Security Contingency Fund, to enable us to "maintain ourselves in a position to give rapid backing to the efforts of the United Nations";

—authorization of 600 million dollars to help our Latin American neighbors in their efforts to strengthen the social and economic structure of their nations;

—authorization for a proposal to the United Nations "whereby we and other fortunate nations can, together, make greater use of our combined agricultural abundance to help feed the hungry of the world."

On the domestic front, President Eisenhower asked that the two major deletions of the Civil Rights measure previously passed by this session of Congress be restored—in keeping with both the party platforms.

The President listed measures previously requested which he felt this session could have enacted—as follows:

—Federal assistance in the construction of facilities for colleges, universities and elementary and secondary schools;

—assistance to older people to meet serious illnesses;

—expansion of coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act;

—a moderate upward adjustment of the minimum wage;

—the authorizing of 40 new judgeships;

—proper financing for our Interstate Highway Program;

—an increase in the aviation fuel tax to facilitate proper financing of our Airways Modernization Program;

—removal of the interest rate limitation on long-term Treasury bonds;

—a postal rate increase to avoid saddling the next administration and taxpayers generally, wholly unjustifiably, with a postal deficit nearing a billion dollars a year;"

—liberalization of our immigration laws;

—continuation of the long-established authority for the President to reorganize the Executive branch;

—conservation measures;

—ratification of the Antarctica Treaty;

—amendments to speed our space exploration efforts;

—a restoration of the traditional relationship between the active duty and the retired pay of our military personnel;

—constructive measures to meet existing farm problems; and

—a sound area-assistance program "directed specifically to the areas in need."

Precious little of this reasonable program was considered, as you have observed—despite the fact that the Majority leadership which staged the bobtail session, had a whopping 2 to 1 majority in both Houses of Congress and complete control of every Congressional committee, and could have brought up anything it wanted to bring up.

The "image" of leadership was lacking.

The "image" of faithful public service was lacking.

P. S. We will resume our weekly reports by way of the Senate Cloakroom when the 87th Congress convenes in January.

Regulations Changed In Farm Housing

Under a recent change in the eligibility requirements for Farm Housing loans, a farmer who owns a farm that will annually produce for sale or home use at least $100 worth of commodities may, if he meets other eligibility requirements, be able to obtain a Farm Housing loan.

Previously, according to B. Beeson Snyder, Farmers Home Administration County Supervisor for Garrett and Allegany counties, an applicant had to own a farm that would produce a substantial amount of the operator's income.

Farm Housing loans are made by the Farmers Home Administration and are used to construct and repair needed farm houses and farm service buildings. Since this program has been in progress, 17 loans totaling $129,820 have been advanced for this purpose in Allegany and Garrett Counties.

Other eligibility requirements for Farm Housing loans remain unchanged. These requirements are that the applicant lacks the resources needed to obtain credit elsewhere, be a citizen of the United States, and have sufficient income from farm and other sources to pay farm operating and family living expenses and meet payments, when due, on his debts.

Applications for this type of credit may be made at the County Office of the Farmers Home Administration located on the second floor of the Garrett National Bank Building in Oakland.

Experts Are Heard At Teacher Session

Garrett County teachers heard three experts in the field of education at their pre-school meeting held at Southern High School last Thursday. The first of the speeches was given by Dr William Hartley, head of the department of history at Towson State Teachers College. Dr. Hartley is a recognized authority in the field of audio-visual education and spoke to the group on the various ways visual aids can assist pupil learning.

The second speaker was Paul Kosiak, presently with the Science Research Associates. Mr. Kosiak, a former teacher and educator, is also an authority in the field of the teaching of reading and in the use of the S. R. A. Reading Kit now being purchased by the County Board of Education for many classrooms in the county schools. Mr. Kosiak demonstrated means by which the S. R. A. Kit can assist children with their reading problems and actually help children at any reading level or comprehension to improve. Mr. Kosiak may return during the year to work with teachers.

Dr. Wesley Dorn spoke to the teacher group following the luncheon. Dr. Dorn received his doctor's degree from Columbia University. He was administrative assistant in the Baltimore City school system and assistant superintendent of schools in Washington County. In 1957 he became a member of the State Department of Education in charge of research. Dr. Dorn has helped to prepare the balanced partnership plan for better financing of the public school program that will be submitted to the Maryland Legislature in January by the State Board of Education. It was the balanced partnership plan of school financing that Dr. Dorn discussed. The plan, if approved by the Legislature, would provide more money from both state and county sources on an equalization basis for the total support of growing educational needs. Dr. Dorn also discussed the plan with the County Education Council at a meeting held in the Center Street School last Thursday evening. This meeting was attended by approximately thirty members of the council. Senator Gonder and Delegates Bray and Savage were also present.

Other features of the teachers meeting last week were group meetings with the instructional supervisors in charge and a short opening address by Willard L. Hawkins, Superintendent of Schools. In his remarks Mr. Hawkins stressed the need for constant improvement in the quality of classroom instruction. In stressing this need he said that he was not unmindful of the fine teaching now going on in many classrooms of the county. Mr. Hawkins also pointed out many advantages operating in favor of the classroom teachers of Garrett County. The list included. No overcrowding of classes. No double shifts or part-time schooling. No problems of integration. No discipline problems of any serious consequence. No large teacher turnover. No excessive and unreasonable demands upon teachers by parents. No lack of wholesome classroom environment or textbooks or instructional materials or school libraries.

The superintendent also pointed out a number of factors upon which quality teaching can be easily and objectively judged indicating a belief that salary raises beyond a minimum level are likely in the future to be related to the quality of teaching being done.

Is Your Name HETRICK?

Hetrick, an old and honored surname, is principally of German origin. Although a search of a number of the leading works on the origin of names discloses no direct reference to it, it is logical to assume that it is obtained from the German "heide" and "reich" which mean respectively "heath" and "rich". Thus Hetrick, in its original form, was spelled "Heidereich" which was the name often bestowed, when surnames first came into vogue, upon those who lived on or near a substantial heath. Equivalent names to Hetrick are Hetrich, Hetnick, Heiderich and Hedrick.

Jacob Hetrick (1761-1834) served as lieutenant of York County, Pennsylvania troops during the Revolutionary War. He died in Jefferson County, Pa. Another patriot was Captain Philip Hetrick of the Berks County, Pennsylvania militia.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has a listing of Adam Hetrick who was a resident of Northumberland County, Pennsylvania and head of a family at that time. The census records of Maryland for the same year contain no references to the name of Hetrick.

D. Murray Hetrick (1876-1941) was elected to the Pennsylvania House of Representatives for three terms. He served also as a member of the board of directors of the Peoples National Bank of Mifflin, Pa.

Llewellyn E. Hetrick (1876-1959) was a distinguished surgeon who practiced his profession in New York City for fifty-five years. He was a specialist in diseases of the ear.

Lawrence Andrew Hetrick is professor of forestry at the University of Florida. He is an authority on the life and control of various forest insects.

Jacob Adam Werner Hetrick is president of New York Medical College which is associated with the Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospitals of New York City. He has earned national recognition as a surgeon and is the author of numerous articles and books pertaining to his field.

Frederick J. Hetrick is vice-president and a member of the board of directors, Albany Savings Bank, Albany, N. Y.

Kitzmiller School Of 1921 Is Shown

The little school house is no more, but many of these students will recall their days spent at the Kitzmiller elementary school and perhaps recognize themselves or their class-mates from this picture, taken in 1921.

Miss Josephine Price was the teacher who had her hands full, and she is shown standing in the back row of the gromp.

Dwight Barrick, who owns the photograph, recalled most of the group by name. The building was destroyed when high water from the Potomac swept through Kitzmiller on March 29, 1924.

Timbermen Identified

Concerning last week's old picture of a logging crew at Savage river, none of whom were identified, John Howell of the Deer Park section, immediately recognized the scene and said, "I know them all!"

Mr. Howell said he was a member of the group which was engaged in timbering at Blue Lick near Avilton.

Barton Logger Killed When Tractor Upsets

A 42-year-old tractor operator who resided in Barton was killed last Thursday morning when the vehicle upset while he was driving it near Moscow in a logging operation.

Maurice B. Fazenbaker, according to the Allegany county medical examiner's office, died almost instantly due to traumatic asphyxiation. His lungs were compressed and he was unable to get his breath.

The accident occurred about 11:45 a. m. on Pekin Hill about a mile west of Moscow on the property of the A. P. Hoffa Coal Company located off Maryland Route 36 in the Georges Creek section of Allegany County.

Hauling Logs

The victim and his brother, Robert Fazenbaker and a nephew, Paul Fazenbaker, were cutting and hauling logs used for pulpwood.

His brother and nephew were about 200 feet from the scene of the accident and heard the motor of the tractor stop.

Upon investigation they found the victim pinned under the wreckage, and lifted the vehicle from his body. The victim was reported to have been driving the tractor upgrade when it apparently hit a rock or stump and upset.

A native of Firm Rock, this county Mr. Fazenbaker, who was single, was a son of Mrs. Fannie (Grove) Fazenbaker of Barton and the late Oliver C. Fazenbaker.

Besides his mother he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Bertha Miller, Westernport; Mrs. Leona Magruder and Mrs. Mary Broadwater, both of Barton.

Funeral Sunday

Also surviving are four brothers, John Fazenbaker, of Baltimore; Stanley Fazenbaker, Barton; Howard Fazenbaker of Westernport and Robert Fazenbaker, of Lonaconing

The body was taken to the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport where a service was conducted Sunday at 1:30 p. m.

Rev. H. G. Lanbe, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Westernport, officiated and interment was in Philos Cemetery.

Bankers On Committee

Garrett county bankers have been named to Maryland Bankers association committees for 1960-61 by Charles W. Hoff, president.

Wesley Schaible, vice-president and cashier of the Garrett National bank in Oakland, has been appointed to two committees and elected to another. He was named on the Pension promotion committee and elected to the pension-retirement committee. He will also serve on the agricultural committee.

Frank L. McDaniel, cashier of the First National Bank, Oakland, is on the emergency operations committee.

Plan Class Reunion

There will be a meeting of all members of the graduating class of 1951 of Oakland High school on Monday evening, September 12, at 8 o'clock, at the city hall in Oakland.

Plans are to be made for a ten-year class reunion in 1961, according to Mrs. Eleanor Jean Beeghly, vice-president of the class.

Bloomintaon Adds Tank Truck To Fire Equipment

The new tank truck of the Bloomington Volunteer Fire Department is ready for service, according to Chief Charles Price.

The truck has been constructed by firemen with materials and equipment obtained through cooperation with the Maryland Civil Defense Organization at an estimated cost of $1,000.

The tank of the pumper has a capacity of 700 gallons which, in addition to the 300 gallon tank on the old truck, now gives the company 1,000 gallons of water with which to fight each fire.

This is particularly important since the Bloomington area is not incorporated and does not have a system of water mains or hydrants from which water could be pumped to fight fires in the town.

President DeGaulle of France proposed a popular referendum in Western Europe to name an assembly that would be a step toward political unity.

Conservation Association To Meet September 13

The Garrett County Conservation Association will meet on Tuesday evening, September 13, at the Oakland fire hall at 8 o'clock p. m.

Meetings were discontinued during the summer and this session will be for the purpose of getting the association set for the coming winter months.

Crayfish Was Best Bait For Fishermen

John Kolb, a creel-census employee of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, interviewed a number of successful anglers this week at Deep Creek Lake.

Anglers were using crayfish this week at Paradise Point, Pena Point, and the Holy Cross area. Bass were the biggest and best catches.

22" 5¾ lb. Largemouth Bass was captured by Charles Shilke of Bedford, Pennsylvania, while still fishing with a minnow in the Holy Cross region.

Nine year old Harold Bartz, Uniontown, Pennsylvania, bagged a 16¾ in. Pickerel at Thayers' Barn.

Walter Weaver of California, Pa., landed a 5 lb. Smallmouth Bass with the aid of crayfish. This 20½ in. bass was caught while Walter was still-fishing at Paradise Point.

Andy Newman caught both a 20 in. 4 lb. and a 15¾ in. 1¾ lb. Smallmouth Bass still-fishing at the Deep Creek Bridge. A crayfish snagged Andy's 4 pounder and a minnow his 1¾ pounder.

While casting a nepp spinner, Robert Watson hauled in a 20 in. 2 lb. Pickerel at Turkey Neck.

A woman from Frostburg caught a 16 in. Smallmouth Bass in Cherry Creek. Mrs. Philip Lehr was still-fishing with a crayfish.

Casting with a river runt, Jack Smett of Washington, D. C., hooked a 21¼ in. 6lb. 9 oz. Largemouth Bass at Paradise Point.

Rev. Leroy Harvey, Pastor

Deep in the human heart is the desire for greater and wider vision. It prompted early man to climb the trees and to scale the peaks. Every year it lures thousands to the top of the Empire State Building. It inspired the telescope and microscope, and eventually radar.

Similar to this yearning for vision, yet sacred in its powerful prompting, has been man's spiritual quest. Although there is much natural evidence around us to prove there is a God, we want to understand His mind, His power and will . . . His heart!

No human inventions are needed here. In the Church established by Jesus Christ, in the Truth taught by Jesus Christ, in the Life inspired by Jesus Christ — each of us finds that wider vision his soul craves.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Why No Peace?

Lesson for September 11, 1960

ASK ANY ten or one hundred people the same question: If you could have, tomorrow, an ideal world, a world made to your order, what kind of world would it be? You might get ten or a hundred different answers, but it is safe to say that one feature would be found in all of these ideal worlds: it would be a world at peace. Nobody—nobody in America, nobody anywhere in the world—wants to live in a warring world. Everybody is in favor of peace.

Dr. Foreman

Why We All Want Peace

Turn to the Bible and you find the same thing. Every prophet who looks down the long vista of time to God's Golden Age, see a world at peace. Some of the best-known passages from the Bible are those from Isaiah selected for this week. So if human beings want peace, at least to this extent they are on God's side.

Why we hope for peace is plain enough. Reasons may vary from low (bad) to high (good). The prophets' reasons are certainly high ones. The reason why war is bad is what it does to people. Nowadays, of course, war means total destruction; but even when that is not true, war means the slow or swift degeneration of human beings. "All's fair in love and war" is not true but most people think it is, and the longer war goes on, the more people believe it. Lying, cruelty, theft, murder, adultery become commonplace. The enemy looks to us less than human (and so do we to the enemy), so that we make excuses for our beastly treatment of him by calling him a beast.

Now, why that something we all want, and that God wants, we don't get? The history of western Europe, and of the United States, is one long series of wars. We scarcely get over one before the next one comes off the assembly line. If it isn't a hot war it's a cold one—and the "cold war" is no 20th-century invention. Only the name is new.

Of course one reason we don't get peace is that we want it for wrong reasons. One of the commonest of wrong reasons is that we want peace in order to establish our own nation (whatever nation that is) as "top dog." There have been such periods of peace in the world, when Egypt, or Macedonia, or Rome, or the British Empire, just sat on the rest of the world and maintained peace by threat of force, maintaining its own position at the top of the heap. The trouble with that kind of peace is that nobody likes it except the people or top of the pile. Sooner or later the people who have been sat on decide they've had enough—and the fight starts all over again.

The Things That Make For Peace

There are other bad motives for desiring a world at peace, but you can think of them without too much trouble. Let us look at another point. We do not hear of Jesus weeping often; but one of the rare occasions when he did cry was when he looked on his own capital city and wept over it. He saw in his minds eye "the days . . . when your enemies will . . . surround you . . . and dash you to the ground" (Lk. 19:41-44). And why? "The things that make for peace are hid from your eyes." Peace does not glide down from heaven on a moonbeam. Peace has to be made and kept.

Prince of Peace

Nations neglecting these things are going down the road to war. But the most important thing remains to be said: The nation that neglects Christ is shutting itself off from peace, while the nation that is Christian is a strong force for peace. This is not just a matter of theology. It is not saying that if you believe articles one, two, et-cetera, you will never have a war. It is saying that the nation with an increasing number of citizens whose lives are truly Christlike, who honor him and follow him, is a nation which is more and more able to lead other nations in the way of peace.

Miss Kessel Weds Lieut. Gale

The marriage of Miss Jenny Evan Kessel and Lieutenant Paul S Gale was solemnized Saturday, September 3, in the Williamsburg Methodist Church, Williamsburg, Virginia.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Genevieve Kessel of Gormania, West Virginia.

Lieutenant Gale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Gale of Hanlin, Pennsylvania.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Roscoe Johnson. The altar was decorated with a background of palms and lighted candelabra with a center arrangement of white gladioli and white stock before an open Bible on the pulpit.

Mrs. W. J. Bodie presented the wedding music and Mrs. Mac Luther sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "O Promise Me" before the ceremony. And "O Perfect Love" immediately following the ceremony while the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, Roy W. Harvey, wore an ankle length gown with Chantilly lace bodice, scalloped neckline touched with pearls and sequins and long tapering sleeves with points over the hands. The bouffant tulle skirt was fashioned with panels of lace. Her shoulder length pouf veil of imported illusion was arranged to a pearl and sequin tiara. She carried a white Bible with a cascade of princess orchids and florets of double white stock.

Miss Janet Bowness of Washington, D. C., was maid of honor and Miss Margaret Johnson of Fort Eustis, Virginia was the bridesmaid. They wore identical turquoise silk organza ballerina length gowns with tier skirt, scoop neckline and cap sleeves. Small feather pillbox hats were worn with nose length veil attached. They carried nosegays of pink sweetheart roses and pink stock florets.

Kay Harvey of Denbigh, Virginia, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a turquoise silk organza dress similar in style to the other attendants. She carried a small nosegay of pink roses and pink stock florets.

Lieutenant William Redman, U. S. Army, Fort Eustis, Va., was best man. Ushers were John C. Gale, of Hanlin, brother of the bridegroom and Lieutenant Kenneth Kellogg, U. S. Army, Fort Eustis, Virginia.

Mrs. Kessel, mother of the bride, wore a street length beige lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Gale, mother of the bridegroom, wore a street length printed green chiffon dress with winter green accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

A reception was held in the church social hall. Mrs. Roy W. Harvey, aunt of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Myron Hopps, aunt of the bride room, presided at the punch bowl.

For traveling, the bride chose a plaid fall cotton dress with benedictine tan accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

After a northern trip, Lieutenant and Mrs. Gale will reside in Lee Hall, Virginia.

Collection of Old Coins Is Exhibited

An exhibit containing a representative collection of old coins which date back to 1722, has been obtained from the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond and is on display in the window of the Garrett National Bank in Oakland.

One panel includes types of coins which circulated in the American colonies and early days of Independence, from the 1722 Wood's coinage farthing and halfpenny through the Civil War tokens of 1864. It also features Spanish reals which were legal tender in the U. S. until 1857, as well as two Virginia halfpennies minted in 1773. Also in the panel is the "fugio" with legend by Benjamin Franklin, the first authorized U. S. coin.

Another panel features regular issues of U. S. coins from 1794 to 1952. One coin in this panel was the 1865 two-cent piece which was the first coin to carry the motto "In God We Trust."

An unusual coin in panel three is the Trade Dollar, used in the Orient to compete with the Mexican peso. In panel four are various types of American coins, gold issues, regular and commemorative issues. There are also silver commemorative issues beginning with Columbian Exposition half dollar of 1892 and continuing to 1954.

Mildred Mae Van Ripper
Mountain Lake Park, Maryland vs.
Roy Van Ripper
Last known address:
5th Street, Charleroi, Pennsylvania
No. 5017 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the complainant from the respondent, and permission of the complainant to resume her maiden name of Mildred Mae Miller.

The Bill states:

That the complainant was married to the respondent August 4, 1928, at Fayette City, Pennsylvania; that there was one child born of this marriage, to-wit: Sherman Lee Van Ripper; that, although the conduct of the complainant was always that of a kind, affectionate and faithful wife, the said respondent, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the complainant during the month of April, 1931, and that she has neither seen nor heard from him since that date, and that the separation between them is deliberate and final, and beyond any hope or expectation of a reconciliation; that the complainant is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, where she has resided for the past six years, but that the said respondent is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and was last known by the complainant to reside at 5th Street, Charleroi, Pennsylvania.

The Bill then prays for a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the complainant from the respondent; for the right of the complainant to resume her maiden name of Mildred Mae Miller; for general relief and for an order of publication.

It is, thereupon, this 17th day of August, 1960, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, In Equity, ordered that the complainant, by having a copy of this order inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 9th day of September, 1960, give notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of said bill of complaint, and warning him to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 24th day of September, 1960, and show cause, if any he has, why the prayers of said Bill of Complaint should not be granted unto the complainant.

Couple Wed Saturday In Charleston

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Walworth, of Indianapolis, Ind., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Walworth, of 4003 Staunton Avenue, Charleston, W. Va., to Lewis John Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Wood, of Indianapolis, which took place Saturday, September 3, at Christ Church Methodist, Charleston. Dr. Truman W. Potter was the officiating minister.

Mrs. Walworth is the former Fannie Newman, a former resident of Oakland.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of rosepoint lace and nylon tulle over taffeta, fashioned with molded bodice, scalloped sabrina neckline, sprinkled in seed pearls and iridescent sequins, short shirred sleeves with matching mitts. Seed pearls and sequins outlined the handkerchief overskirt of lace with tulle flounce ending in a floor sweep. A tiered veil of pure silk French illusion fell from a pill box hat of lace, matching the gown. Her flowers were a cascade of white roses centered with a white orchid. The bride carried a lace handkerchief, carried by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Leander H. Mosher, in 1869.

Mrs. Charles A. Walsworth, a sister-in-law, of Belmont, Calif., served as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Lewis Kremer, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Mrs. Raymond Nascmann, Weedsport, N. Y.

The matron of honor wore a two tone yellow silk organza dress, fashioned with a portrait neckline. The waist was accented with a deep yellow cummerbund forming a long bow and pack panel. Her head bandeau was made of horsehair braid in the deeper shade of yellow with a circular veil, shoes to match the shade of the bandeau. Bridesmaids wore identical dresses and bandeaux in two tone green. The matron of honor had a cascade of green fujii mums while the bridesmaids had cascades of yellow fujii mums.

Horace A. Shonle, Indianapolis, was best man and ushers were Bloor Redding, Indianapolis; Zdenek W. David, Ann Arbor, Mich., and Charles Walworth, brother of the bride, Belmont, Calif.

A reception followed in the Church pine room, after which the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Stony Lake, Mich. For traveling the bride wore a black costume dress of Italian wool Ottoman with jacket trimmed with black Norwegian fox. Her accessories were black patent leather and a white leather hat. A white orchid completed the costume.

The bride was graduated from Charleston schools and received her A.B. degree from Marietta college, Marietta, O., and her master's degree from Indiana University, in the division of social service. She is now the division head at Concord Center association in Indianapolis.

The groom was graduated from Indianapolis High school and received his A.B. degree from Wesleyan college and his Bachelor of Law degree from Harvard university. He is a member of the law firm of Rauch, Chase and Kitchen.

B & O To Drop "The Diplomat" Schedule

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad announced Tuesday it would discontinue its passenger train, "The Diplomat," on September 18. This will eliminate an eastbound train that has proved very convenient to Oakland and area residents, since it was listed as a conditional stop.

The notice was given the Maryland Public Service commission which has no jurisdiction to halt the action because the trains are considered an interstate operation and do not make two consecutive stops in Maryland.

The trains to be cut are Nos. 3 and 4 east and west bound. No. 3 never stopped in Oakland and went through the town in the early morning hours. No. 4, however, passes through Oakland about 8:15 a. m., daylight time, and would stop to pick up or discharge passengers. All a person had to do was stand at the station, in full view of the engineer, and he would stop. No. 4 was a through train to Baltimore, with very few stops and was used by many people.

The "National Limited" trains Nos. 1 and 2, will continue to operate within a few hours of "The Diplomat" schedule and serve most of the stations along the Baltimore-Cincinnati route. No. 1 is due in Oakland at 11:57 p. m., daylight time and always stops. The return eastward however, was a non-stop, and passed through Oakland at 3:55 daylight time. Whether or not there would be some arrangement for a conditional stop was not known by local B. and O. officials. However, it was stated that local train No. 30, now running at 9:38 a. m., standard time, would be changed to 8:08 standard time, beginning September 19, and probably would make connections with a Baltimore bound train at Cumberland.

Reds were filtering into the Congo in recent weeks.

You pay $1.00 tax on 10 gallons of gasoline

Gasoline taxes up 51% in ten years
Everywhere in Maryland, car owners pay $1.00 tax on every 10 gallons of gasoline they buy.
Does a tax this high—on a basic commodity like gasoline—really make sense? Gasoline taxes across the nation amount to a 50% sales tax—and that's five times as high as the tax rate on luxuries like diamonds and mink coats.
How did gasoline taxes get so high? Well, since World War II, there have been three increases in the federal gasoline tax alone. This brought the Federal tax to 4 cents a gallon, in addition to the State tax of 6 cents a gallon.
Looking at it another way, in the last ten years gasoline taxes have skyrocketed 51%—yet the price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period.
$82 a year for gasoline taxes! Gallon by gallon, these taxes add up to a lot of money. Each year the average motor vehicle owner in this state pays $82 for gasoline taxes alone. That's just a few dollars less than the average week's pay for most people!
Your gasoline dealer—who must collect these taxes from you—feels that gasoline taxes are much too high. More and more, thinking people are coming to agree. What do you think?
HIGHWAYS AND GASOLINE TAXES
Your gasoline retailer, naturally, favors construction of the roads that the motoring public needs. He believes in fair and reasonable taxation for this purpose but feels that taxes on gasoline have now reached unreasonably high levels. He also believes that all special taxes on the motorist should be used only for highway purposes. Yet last year, out of every automobile tax dollar collected by the Federal Government from highway users, more than 40 cents went for non-highway purposes. If these automotive tax revenues were dedicated for highway purposes, there would be no need for the latest increase in the federal gasoline tax.

Propaganda Hay . . .

All our enemies are preparing to congregate at the United Nations next week, and are calculating to make propaganda hay of the incident. But maybe they won't get away with it.

President Eisenhower has very properly announced that these communist dictators will be restricted to the area near the United Nations building, and these dictators already are furious at the thought. Let them rave.

The only business they have with the United Nations is to broadcast more seeds of hate against the United States and that is the ultimate in brass and discourtesy, plus being an insult to our intelligence.

An editorial in this week's issue of U. S. News and World Report points out that the Soviet Union has committed treason against the United Nations by it actions against the jurisdiction of the United Nations in the Congo, and by its similar action in Korea in 1950 by sending munitions and supplies to the Red Chinese and North Koreans to fight U. N. troops. The editorial calls on the United Nations to compel the Soviets to stand trial for such offenses.

Khrushchev, Castro and the other dictators have not had invitations from the United States. They are unwelcome visitors, particularly Castro who has thrown insult after insult at this government, and Khrushchev, who insulted President Eisenhower and withdrew the invitation of our president to visit in the Soviet Union. Their common sense would tell them, if they had any, to stay away. But they are bent on using this trip to expand their phony aims of peace and disarmament, and to destroy the prestige of the United States.

Eisenhower plans to address the United Nations prior to the arrival of these dictators and we know "Ike" will give them an earful of truth and convince the other United Nations members of our sincere desire for a peace with justice, and liberty for subdued nations. So let's keep them bottled up and start winning this cold war.

Year's Events Since Bus-Train Wreck Are Told

Emphasis Made On Safety—Injured Taught At Home

Just one year ago, on Thursday morning, September 10, seven children died in a school bus-train smash on the Mt. Lake Park crossing, and eleven others were hospitalized. It was the worst accident in the history of bus transportation in the county and was the first time for a fatality in the school program's history.

Probably no news story in years captured the interest of the entire nation as that particular event. Through the far flung facilities of radio, television and press and picture services, accounts of the tragic mishap were quickly relayed to all parts of the United States and prominently featured on newscasts and front pages of major metropolitan daily newspapers. The news actually went all over the world.

The dead were Janet Deems, Nancy Deems, Merle Harvey, Nancy Harvey, Richard Hinkle, Shirley Lee and Lee Hoffman.

What has happened during the year to insure the safety of bus children? The railroad crossing remains the same, but the number of buses traveling over railroad crossings has been materially reduced. What has happened to the students who were injured?

There follows a rather complete picture of what has occurred since the accident. First there is a report of the disaster fund which was raised voluntarily, and which totaled $12,022.77. The fund was raised specifically for the rehabilitation of the injured children and was not to pay sums of money to parents or relatives to buy groceries, as some supposed.

A report from the committee of Wesley Schaible, Henry W. McComas and C. Melvin Kight, showed that 140 Lions clubs contributed $5,902.17, 14 Rotary clubs gave $640.00; other organizations, $3,694.25 including $865.17 from the Hercules Powder company; and that individuals gave $1,785.75.

Expenditures have amounted to $2,911.22 with $158.58 for nursing, $1,175 for child care, $192 for trans-

Rev. Steiding Takes Lynchburg Pastorate

Rev. Irvin G. Steiding pastor of the Sand Flat Assembly of God Church recently resigned his position here to accept the call of pastor to the First Assembly of God Church in Lynchburg, Va. The change is effective after September 18.

Rev. Steiding has served as pastor of the Sand Flat church for five years and two months, and during his tenure of office here the church was able to supply new pews and pulpit furniture for the church, also a new tile floor, a nursery, a Hammond organ, and a parsonage now located in Rosedale.

Besides laboring in the local church he belonged to the Mt. Top Ministerial Association where he was Chief of Chaplains for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Rev. Steiding will deliver his farewell sermon on Sunday, September 18th at 8:00 p. m.

Rev. Steiding is married to the former Maxine L. Bernard, of Swanton. They have two children, Sandra and Stephen.

Registration Figures Favor Republicans

With only two more mobile registrations listed by the Board of Election Supervisors, the trend in the number of Democratic registrations has been halted, temporarily, at least. The two remaining registrations may change the story, but as of now, twelve registrations throughout the county have shown unofficial totals of 105 Republicans compared to 71 Democrats.

The two additional registrations scheduled are in predominantly Democratic districts, Bloomington, district 4, on September 16, and Kitzmiller, district 13, on September 20. Persons eligible to register may do so at any regular office hour in the office of the Board.

The unofficial figures up to the present time show the following: Swanton, district 1, 8 Democrats, 3 Republicans; Friendsville, district 2, 17 Democrats, 10 Republicans; Grantsville, district 3, 9 Democrats, 31 Republicans; Accident, No. 5, two Democrats, 2 Republicans; Sang Run, district 6, 1 Democrat, 13 Republicans; Ryan's Glade, No. 8, no registrations; Red House, 8-2, 1 Democrat and no Republicans; Johnson, No. 9, 15 Democrats and 13 Republicans; Deer Park, No. 10, 12 Democrats, 3 Republicans; Elbow, No. 11, no Democrats, 8 Republicans; Bittinger, No. 12, 4 Democrats and 12 Republicans; No. 15, Avilton, two Democrats, 10 Republicans; totals, 71 Democrats, 105 Republicans.

No mobile registrations were scheduled for 7 or 14, East and West Oakland; 14-2, Crellin; or 16, Mt. Lake Park, because of their nearness to the office of the Board.

After September 26 no additional registrations will be received until after a few days after the general election on Tuesday, November, 8.

Stockholders Plan Dinner

The 1960 dinner for stockholders of the Garrett National Bank in Oakland and guests will be held this evening, September 15, at 6:30 o'clock, at the Dennett Road school, it was announced.

Wesley Schaible, vice-president and cashier will serve as toastmaster at a program following the dinner. Floyd B. Leighton, president, will make a few opening remarks. The speaker will be Rev. Charles Godwin, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church.

Mrs. Jay L. Bell will sing, accompanied at the piano by Julius B. Littman.

Student Rolls Now Total 4,778

Still More Expected To Enroll By End Of Month

Enrollment in the county schools increased to 4,778 this week, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. This was twenty-four less than the second week's enrollment last year, but Southern had an all-time high enrollment with 1137.

The Board of Education, at a meeting on Tuesday, discussed future school building needs. Mr. Hawkins said that Southern High was filled to overflowing with the largest enrollment in history and that additional classrooms would have to be provided if the enrollment increased any more. He also noted that this year's senior class was unusually large and that next year's enrollment possibly would be some smaller than at present.

The board indicated it was keeping its eye on the Bloomington School situation where there are now 96 pupils in three classrooms. Hawkins said the area gave every indication of continued population growth which will necessitate additional school facilities.

Aside from these two situations the building needs for county schools were in good shape and not apt to become acute within the near future. The Board brought up the matter of high school auditoriums but reiterated its position that the initiative for these facilities should come from parents.

The board also expressed hope that future school building projects in the county could be financed in part at least by the proposals for federal aid for school construction, if they became law

Residents of Oakland and surrounding area contributed 96 pints of blood yesterday at the regular visit of the Johnstown Red Cross bloodmobile unit to the Oakland fire hall.

The statistics showed two new three-gallon members, Rex Teagarden and Logan Weber; one two-gallon member, Olin N. Schrock; and two one-gallon members, Ivadine Matthews and John Brenneman.

PRESENTS LAW BOOK—Charles McC. Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress from this district, is shown above pointing out to Mrs. W. W. Grant, the enabling act in a law book of 1872, which resulted in the creation of Garrett as a new county. The book was one of Mr. Mathias's personal collection and the presentation of the book was made to Mrs. Grant as president of the Garrett County Historical society. The occasion took place on Labor Day at the home of Mrs. Grant, before a few Republican party workers.

13 Indictments Are Returned By Grand Jury

Jurors Complete Investigations After Two Days Of Deliberations

After two days of deliberations the September term Grand Jurors adjourned Wednesday evening. They examined 32 witnesses and returned 13 indictments. They failed to indict in two instances.

Among those indicted were John Yuhaniak, 31, of Baltimore, who is charged with murder in connection with the shooting of his wife, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Yuhaniak, 39, who died August 19.

The three who fled from the county jail early this week were also indicted for escape from jail, in addition to other charges for which they were being held at the time of their escape. They are Walter Lee Davis, 19, Fairmont, W. Va., breaking and entering and larceny charges; Stanley Tasker, 16, Kitzmiller, breaking and entering and auto theft; and Julius Ervin, Jr., 20, Mt. Lake Park, forgery.

Three other indictments concerned three men now detained in a Pennsylvania penal institution. They were indicted for breaking into a restaurant-grocery store and service station owned by Isadore J. Skeweris, along U. S. 50. They are Clarence Lewis, William Lewis and Grover C. Browning, Jr., all of Oakland area. They broke into the establishment July 5.

Louis A. Jones Mt. Lake Park, also was indicted on two cases of false pretense. He is now in jail.

Other indictments were not listed on the open docket as they have either not been served or are not under bond.

The jury, in its report, deplored the recent wrecks at intersections and recommended that the State Roads commission mark such intersections more plainly. The jurors also commended Sgt. Sam Conrad for his work in the Oakland area over the past nine years. He is being transferred to North East.

Prior to adjournment the jurors made a check of the recommendations made by the previous jury to see if such recommendations had been carried out. The complete report follows:

To The Honorable, The Judges of The Circuit Court for Garrett County.

The Grand Jury for Garrett County, in session for the September Term, 1960, respectfully submits the following report:—

We were in session for two days, beginning Tuesday, September, 13th, and concluded our delibera-

Pickets Are Fined For Disturbance

Processing Plant Employees Found Guilty By Trial Magistrate

Seven former employes of the Sterling Processing Corporation were fined by Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, at a hearing last Friday in the magistrate's office. All were found guilty of charges stemming from a disturbance during the recent strike at the plant.

An eighth former employe who failed to appear before the magistrate forfeited $100 bond. All had been released under $100 bonds furnished by the Unions involved.

Richard Sharpless, Gladys Hauser, James Holler, Charles Smith and Theodore Wakefield, pickets during the strike, were charged with violations of a motor vehicle law which makes it unlawful to throw stones or missiles on a highway. They pleaded not guilty.

They were fined $50 and costs, by Magistrate Maroney, who also fined Mrs. Elizabeth Ervin, of Mt. Lake Park, $25 and costs for strewing tacks on a road being traveled by trucks of the strike-bound plant. The actual charge was strewing trash, or refuse on private property, since the action occurred at the plant adjacent to the public highway and the motor vehicle charge of throwing roofing nails on a public highway would not have been valid.

Melvin Sines forfeited the $100 bond on the motor vehicle charge when he failed to make his appearance.

All the persons were represented by Marshall Levin, of Baltimore, an attorney hired by the Meat Cutters Union, according to Magistrate Maroney.

Total costs of fines, forfeiture and costs was $425, in addition to the

One Man Injured In Auto Mishap

One man was seriously injured in a two-car accident Monday evening at the east edge of Oakland.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland was David O. Smith, of Morgantown, W. Va. His condition was reported as "fair."

Hospital officials said the man sustained a fracture of the lower left leg, multiple abrasions and lacerations of his body and possible internal injuries.

Tfc. Donald A. Tucker, Maryland State Police, said the two-vehicle crash occurred at 6 p. m. at the intersection of Maryland route 135 and U. S. route 219 near Cee Dee tavern.

Tfc. Tucker said Smith was operating a four-door sedan and he collided with a vehicle being operated by Robert N. Hauser, 41, of Oakland. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Police said Smith failed to grant the right of way to Hauser and sideswiped the Oakland man's car. The vehicles came to rest against a road grader which was parked in the area.

Foley Campaigns in Garrett Last Week

Rep. John R. Foley opened his campaign in Garrett county last Thursday evening with a rally in the town hall.

Mr. Foley continued his attack on his Republican opponent, Charles McC. Mathias, charging that on a number of measures introduced in the Maryland House of Delegates by the Garrett county delegation that his opponent failed to vote.

Mr. Foley stressed the unemployment problem here and declared it could be solved by an area redevelopment program.

Those attending the rally were greeted by L. C. Hutson, chairman of the county Democratic State Central committee, and Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., chairman of the Foley for Congress committee here. Foley returned to Cumberland Friday after meeting in Kitzmiller with a group of citizens.

Springs Preparing For Folk Festival

With the approach of October and its brilliant foliage in the hills, the people of Springs, Pa., and people for many miles up and down the Casselman Valley, are preparing for the third annual Homecoming and Folk Festival to be held September 30 to October 1.

If one may judge from the inquiries that have come from far and wide, the crowd this year will no doubt double that of 1958 and far exceed the 1959 figure. Columnists of the Pittsburgh papers (themselves bombarded with inquiries) are writing for information concerning this mountain festivity. Personal inquiries are trickling in from many states and Canada, some being adderssed to the mayor of Springs, some to the Chamber of Commerce, and some to the postmistress.

With a much larger outlay in the crafts store and many new faces among the pioneer craftsmen, the festivity will this year have much to offer the folklorist, the historian, the craftsman, the lover of good Pennsylvania Dutch cookery, and hundreds of inquisitive school children.

A copy of the invitation sent out to newspapers is concluded in the following words: "Come once and see what we have still, yet."

Nears Frost Line

Temperature dropped to near the frost line this morning, after a rainy period. The mercury hit 37 degrees this morning.

There were five days of rain during the week which dumped a total of three inches on the mountain top. Friday started clear and warm but it clouded over in the afternoon and by late afternoon rain began to fall. Rain continued in varying degrees on Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Wednesday was clear and warm.

There were predictions of fair and warmer weather for the weekend, but announcement of a new hurricane "Ethel", forming in the Gulf of Mexico, had possibilities of changing this. It was moving slightly northeast and at a rate of about 10 miles an hour. It had winds up to 100 miles an hour.

Methodists Begin Fund Raising Effort

As its part of a $2,500,000.00 Conference-Wide Faith in Action Program, a goal of $8,500.00 has been set for a fund raising drive by St. Paul's Methodist Church. Solicitation for this program will be combined with an effort to subscribe the local budget. Details of the campaign were completed at an official Board meeting Tuesday night. All the Methodist Churches of Garrett County and the State of West Virginia are participating in the Faith in Action Program.

The organization is being set up now but actual solicitation will begin September 30, with a kick-off Faith In Action Dinner. The drive will continue through October 5.

The $2,500,000 drive is for funds with which to construct a Home for the Aging, a Conference Training Center on a 1000-acre tract already purchased for that purpose, complete the first three units of a planned 8 unit Child Care Center, erect a Religious center and chapel at W. Va., Wesleyan College. The program also includes $350,000 for Church Extension, $150,000 for Ministerial Training, $125,000 for Wesley Foundations, $50,000 for Union Protestant Hospital and $7,500 for the Board of Christian Social Concerns to be used for the study of problems and needs of West Virginia and W. Va. Methodism.

Robert Stemple, has been elected general chairman of the Faith in Action Campaign here. Other members of the general committee include Merritt Feather, Harry L. Stemple, Mrs. Harold Harned, Harold Ashby, Susan Gibson, Mrs. H. G. Gortner, and Charles Godwin. Other committees are to be announced.

The first Methodist Class in this vicinity was organized in 1824 composed of 12 members and meeting in a home until a log church was erected on the McCarty farm in 1831. The church was moved to its present site in 1852. The present building was erected in 1935. Rev. Charles Godwin is the Pastor.

Jailbreaking Trio Still At Large

Thirteen-State Alarm Out; Tips Fail To Produce Definite Leads

Three young prisoners sawed their way to freedom from the Garrett County jail at Oakland early Sunday morning, and up to the present time a full scale search and a 13-state alarm have failed to turn up a legitimate lead as to their whereabouts.

Two leads have been tracked down without avail.

Maryland State police joined forces with Sheriff James E. Frantz and his deputy, Wayne Wilt, in their search for Walter Lee Davis, 19, of Fairmont, W. Va., awaiting trial on breaking and entering and larceny charges; Stanley Tasker, 16, of Kitzmiller, who was facing indictment by the grand jury for breaking and entering and auto theft; and Julius Ervin, Jr., 20, of Mt. Lake Park, who also was awaiting action of the grand jury on several forgery counts.

Sheriff Frantz discovered their absence from their cells during the morning check Sunday about 9 o'clock. Authorities surmise they escaped after 2 o'clock as other prisoners said they were in their cells at that time. The three had been placed in a cell block on the opposite side from eight others being held in jail. This was done to avoid overcrowding and not for any security reasons.

Cells in which the three were placed during the night were not locked, although the "bull pen" area into which the cells face, was locked. The three lifted out a toilet fixture in one of the first floor cells and made their way through a hole in the floor into the basement of the building. Workmen had been engaged in putting in new toilet bowls and

Republican Women Learn Precinct Work With Film

"Operation Shoe Box" was the title of a film shown by Mr. James Stenger, field service man for the Young Republican Club, and sponsored by the Republican National Committee, to the county Republican women's club at its meeting near Grantsville Tuesday night. It was a film on effective precinct work.

Mr. Stenger gave a talk on results to be achieved. He pointed out that political analysts say only about 30% of the voters register and vote if no personal contacts are made. The number comes up to 57% if effective precinct work is done. He urged an all-out effort.

The group voted to contribute $25.00 for the Maryland Finance Committee, and $25.00 for the State Central Committee here in the county for campaign work.

Reports were made of registration work, and follow-up plans were discussed. They emphasized that September 26th is the deadline for registration here in the county, and any one who has not yet registered is urged to do so.

Republican headquarters will be opened in Hub's Harness Shop October 1st. Mrs. Lewis Jones and Mrs. Dwight Stover will have charge of getting women to serve. Members are to call and volunteer to work on days that are suitable for them.

The group voted to work with the State Central Committee for a county-wide Republican Rally to be held at the Accident school on Thursday evening, October 6. A committee was appointed to plan for refreshments and hospitality. Mrs. George Edwards, chairman, Mrs. Charles Bowser, Mrs. Nevada Hostetler, Mrs. Spencer Graham, Mrs. Robert Martin, Mrs. Laura Kelly and Mrs. Anne O'Donnell. Members of the State Central Committee will contact speakers and plan the program.

Reports were given on the fair booth and Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty reported she had attended the kick-off meeting at Friendship Airport on Monday.

Five new members paid dues, bringing the membership up to 101.

A collection was taken for party work, amounting to $23.75.

Refreshments were served by the Grantsville group.

The next meeting of the Club will be held at Friendsville on October 18th.

Jewelry will be on sale at the county-wide rally and at headquarters.

Grand Jury

tions on Wednesday, September 14th.

We have examined 32 witnesses and have returned True Bills of Indictment in 13 cases and no True Bills of Indictment in 2 cases.

In conformity with the Charge delivered to the September Term Grand Jury by His Honor, Judge Neil C. Fraley, and after our retirement to the Grand Jury Room we organized our body with the appointment of S. Townshend Naylor and Mrs. Naomi G. Kuhnle as Clerks and Mr. Lawrence E. Hardesty as Door Keeper.

We have carefully considered the evidence brought before us and as noted above voted for presentment and indictment when we felt the evidence justified the same.

This Grand Jury has very carefully reviewed the report of the March Term, 1960, Grand Jury and we find that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County has complied with many of the recommendations of the previous Grand Jury. We believe that the Public Buildings present a very pleasing appearance and have noted the refurbishment of the Bar Library Room in the Court House and the kitchen in the Sheriff's Residence. These are examples of two recommendations made by the previous Grand Jury and the compliance by the Board has improved the building involved. We are hopeful that the proper officials will give our recommendations their utmost consideration and attention and we renew the suggestion that the next Grand Jury be given a copy of our report so that body may determine whether the recommendations of this body is given the proper consideration.

During our deliberations we have been informed of automobile accidents occurring at certain intersections in the County with specific reference to the intersection at Red House and the intersection in the East end of Oakland. A great number of School Buses use Maryland Route No. 135 transporting students to Southern Junior-Senior High School and the Dennett Road School. Apparently, a great number of out of State drivers that are unfamiliar with the intersection of Maryland Route No. 135 and U. S. Route No. 219 are unable to stop and presents, in our opinion, a hazard to the School Buses transporting students to the schools. We believe that the State Roads Commission of Maryland should make some change or changes that will notify drivers proceeding North on U. S. Route No. 219 of its approaching intersection of the Maryland Highway.

It has been brought to our attention that some of the Southern States erect black and white striped warning sign of a bill board size and place them in proper position for warning approaching traffic of a dangerous intersection. We recommend that the State Roads Commission of Maryland erect similar signs at a sufficent distance to warn the drivers of the dangerous intersection.

A Committee from our Body inspected the Books of the County Treasurer and the Court House while the balance of the Grand Jury inspected the County Jail, Sheriff's residence, the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Roads Garage.

The Committee inspecting the Books of the County Treasurer find them to be in excellent condition.

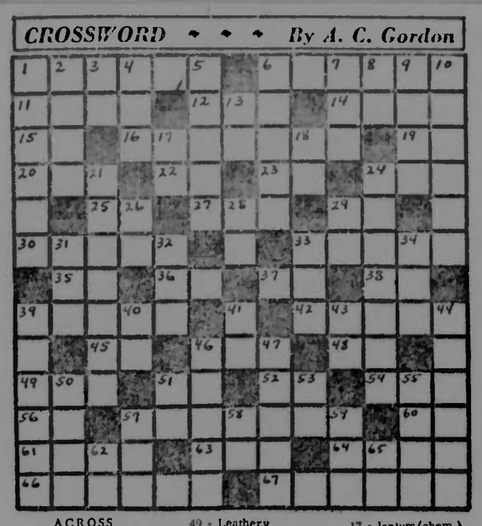
An inspection of the Court House, the County Jail and The Sheriff's Residence, the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Roads Department reveals the buildings and premises to be in good condition and to present a good appearance to the Public. However, to keep these buildings in proper condition we do have a few recommendations.

In regard to the County Jail and Sheriff's residence, we recommend (1) That the roof on the Sheriff's Residence be repaired wherever necessary; (2) That steel window frames be installed in the Jail; (3) The Window screens in the Jail be replaced.

During the winter months it is essential that the walks around the Court House, Sheriff's Residence and County Jail be kept clear of snow and to accomplish this in the easiest and most economical manner, we recommend that a small power snow plow be purchased and used by the proper County Employees.

It has come to our attention that Sgt. Samuel M. Conrad is being transferred to North East, Cecil County, Maryland, after serving as a member of the Maryland State Police in this County for approximately nine years. During the years Sgt. Conrad has served in this County, we have found him to be honest, alert and a splendid Officer in every way. We would like to take this opportunity to commend him for the work he has performed in our County and we believe that our loss will be Cecil County's gain.

Before closing our report we desire to make two other recommendations. First, That the Board of County Commissioners consider, and if possible, erect a shed for the storage of Off-season equipment. Secondly, that the State Roads Commission of Maryland investigate the feasibility of erecting a warning signal and additional warning signs of the 90 degree right hand turn in Maryland Route No. 135 after passing over the Railroad Bridge at Bloomington and just prior to entering Allegany County.



We desire to express to his Honor Neil C. Fraley, our thanks and appreciation for his courtesy extended us during our term.

We also wish to thank Sheriff James Frantz, Richard L. Davis, Clerk of Court, the State Police, the Deputy sheriff and the Constables for Garrett County, Maryland, for their coopration and assistance to us during our deliberations. It is our opinion that the law enforcement officers have performed their duties in a very commendable manner.

And we lastly wish to express our thanks to Mr. W. Dwight Stover, State's Attorney for Garrett County, for his advice and cooperation as an advisor to the Grand Jury and his able manner in conducting his affairs before us is greatly appreciated, and also we wish to thank D. Lester White, Deputy Clerk, for his able assistance during our deliberations.

Respectfully Submitted

COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON

FAITH AND ACTION

The very practical Apostle James tells us in the second chapter of his epistle "Faith without works is dead." The kind of faith that God honors is the faith that acts. Two examples are given in the latter part of the chapter. Rahab the harlot's faith was honored because she believed the promise of the spies AND tied the red cord in the window. The other is the faith of Abraham who believed God's promise AND departed to go into the land of Canaan. A man may know the way to a City and never go there. He may understand the printing on a road sign and never obey what it says. Head knowledge, intellectual consent is not enough! Now I have been pleased to meet a number of people who are regular readers of this column. A few have written, some have called and many more have spoken words of appreciation for help received. BUT—what have you done about it? We are closing our 14th year in writing this column which appears in various newspapers. Mathias Wants Tax Structure Revised

Charles "Mac" Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress from Maryland's Sixth District, speaking before the Wheaton Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, September 13, called for a "conscientious revision of the national tax structure which will provide businessmen with the incentive to renew their efforts in expanding America's economy to more productive heights for every citizen."

Business will not gain confidence from seeing the government entering into competition with them through the use of elaborate spending schemes, Mathias said. What is needed is to provide businessmen with the assurance that their private investment will not sulfer through competition with big government spending programs.

"I am in favor of revising the entire tax structure to permit the increased investment of private capital in business for raising our production efficiency. By doing this our national economy will expand more rapidly by natural economic forces than through the artificial insemination of unrealistic federal spending for spending's sake."

If this private investment of our citizens in our nation's economy is to be encouraged, according to Mathias, appropriate measures must be taken to permit quicker recovery of these funds so they can be used in further reinvestment programs. This can be done, he said, by providing, among other methods, a more realistic formula of depreciation allowances for these investors.

Mathias attacked his opponent's voting record for big spending by asking him to justify his vote in favor of an appropriation bill calling for a $300 million increase for direct loans to veterans under the GI Housing bill above the program's normal year-to-year requirements when the Veterans' Administration maintained that there were ample funds to carry on the direct loan program without any additional increase.

Southern's Highlanders won their opening game of the season last Friday afternoon by defeating the Moorefield High schoon Yellowjackets on the latter's gridiron. The final score was 18 to 7.

It was the first time in the seven year history of football at Southern that the team won its opening game. Four of the six previous opening games were defeated and two resulted in ties.

The game marked the opening of the campaign for both schools in the Potomac Valley conference. Moorefield had beaten Southern five times before going down to defeat.

Dick Stuck's 15 yard pass to Frank Vetter got Coach Earl Adolfson's team off to a 6-0 lead in the first period. The Highlanders added another six-pointer in the third quarter when Ron Colaw ran 37 yards up the middle to cross the line. Early in the final period Colaw again scored from the 15 on off tackle slant.

Moorefield averted a shutout late in the game when Dave Patterson recovered a fumble on the 35. A seventeen-yard fourth down pass from Vance to Ron Crites brought the score and Ralph Keller kicked the extra point.

Mr. Schaible said Tuesday that there will be additional charges for some plastic surgery that is yet needed but that the total expense should not be over $4,500. He said his committee was considering seriously using the balance as an educational fund for the injured children.

Contributors or others desiring a detailed report may contact either the Rotary club or the Lions club. A detailed report also is filed in The Republican office.

Emphasis on Safety

The accident resulted in greater emphasis on school bus safety not only in Garrett county, but throughout the nation, according to Robert Martin, supervisor of pupil transportation.

He said the nationwide attention focused on the tragedy spurred efforts of all school transportation systems to take steps to avoid a similar accident elsewhere. In this county, action was taken in several directions.

First was the appointment of Mr. Martin to act full-time as supervisor of all pupil transportation. The creation of this office had been considered for some time, he said, but was speeded by the bus accident.

More rigid inspection of school buses and more careful selection of drivers have also resulted in higher safety standards, he said.

In addition, a complete re-appraisal of bus routes has been taken to avoid, whenever possible, crossing railroad tracks. In comparison to the six buses which formerly used the Mt. Lake crossing at the present time only three continue to do so, and parents of these bus students are almost unanimous in their approval of this route, a recent survey indicates.

The only other grade crossing in the county used by a school bus is at Deer Park, and here special safety precautions are taken, Martin said. Besides the blinker signals there, the custodian from Deer Park school meets the bus at the crossing, morning and evening, and assists the driver in determining whether the way is clear.

Since some Kitzmiller high school students still attend classes at Elk Garden, a bus must cross the Western Maryland track at Blaine, W. Va., but this, Martin pointed out, is outside of Maryland and therefore out of the jurisdiction of the county school board.

Drivers whose buses use the Mt. Lake Park crossing are Audley Riley, Joseph Rice and Charles Harvey. The routes of Riley and Rice extend to the Gormania-Stever area, while Harvey serves the Pleasant Valley section. Troy Gnegy operates the Deer Park bus while Roscoe Rohrbaugh drives the Elk Garden route.

During the past week, parents of all children riding the three buses through Loch Lynn were asked if they preferred a continuation of that route, or a relocation through Pleasant Valley, which would eliminate rail crossings altogether, but take some time longer.

From the first 21 families expressing an opinion 18 voted in favor of the present route. The families represent 32 children.

When questioned, practically all of those favoring the Loch Lynn route said they felt this is to be safest, even though a rail crossing is necessary. The reason most often given was the condition of the Pleasant Valley road in winter months. The increase in travel time apparently had little bearing on the decisions.

Several parents had suggestions which they felt would result in greater safety. These included a recommendation for an overhead bridge, and the suggestion that the blinker lights and bells begin operating sooner at the approach of a train.

Injured Taught at Home

Of the eleven children hospitalized following the accident, six were so severely injured that school attendance was to be impossible for many months. But if they could not go to their classes, their classes came to them in the form of home teaching provided in the evenings and on Saturdays.

Under the direction of John Fitzwater, supervisor of pupil personnel, the children were tutored after regular hours by Mason Callis, faculty member of Southern High school, and Rev. Thomas P. Staup, of Oakland, rector of the Garrett County Diocesan missions at Deer Park and Altamont.

Callis was special home instructor for three members of the same family, Patricia Ann Hinkle, Olen Hinkle and James Hinkle, while Rev. Staup provided instruction for Marjorie Ann Byers, Frances Dixon and Delores Shaffer.

As the year progressed, all but one of the Hinkle children were able to resume their studies at Southern High school or Dennett Road elementary school, but arrangements were made to transport them to and from school by special car, since it was felt their improvement was not sufficient to enable them to use the regular school buses.

When school resumed last week, all of the injured were back in their regular classes, although special transportation is still being provided for the Shaffer child.

Mr. Fitzwater said by this method all of the children kept abreast of their classes and apparently suffered no scholastic setbacks due to their absence from school during the period of their recovery.

He said one unusual aspect was the continuation of the home instruction for Marjorie Ann Byers throughout the past summer months to enable her to keep pace with her classmates.

Damage Suits Pending

In the months following the accident, seven damage suits were filed on behalf of children involved. Defendants named in each case were Leroy Campbell, driver of the bus, and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Damages of $100,000 each were asked on behalf of Mary Jane Lee, Sandra Jean Patton, Frances Dixon and Marjorie Byers, while suits asking $125,000 each were entered for Jame Roy and Patricia Hinkle.

In the case of the three Hinkle children, Marjorie Byers and Frances Dixon, pleas and briefs have been entered in the court by attorneys, but the cases will not be heard until the full extent of the permanent injuries suffered by the children has been determined.

The suits of Sandra Jean Patton and Mary Jane Lee are expected to be heard during the coming term of Garrett County Circuit court.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
Searcy, Arkansas

Nothing has so aroused the anxiety of the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the Communist-led "student riots" at San Francisco last May 12-14 which caused the disruption of a series of hearings being held by the House Un-American Activities Committee. It would be heartening if the Congress and The White House were likewise concerned. Apparently, they aren't. J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, said in a special report, recently issued:

"While it must be granted that the San Francisco riots at the HCUA hearings were the best thing that had happened for the benefit of the Communist Party in years, Americans, too, can benefit from this display of Communist strategy and tactics in operation. In fact, it is impossible to stand idly by in the face of the challenge that this Communist success represents.

"The Communists demonstrated in San Francisco just how powerful a weapon Communist infiltration is. They revealed how it is possible for only a few Communist agitators, using mob psychology, to turn peaceful demonstrations into riots. Their success there must serve as a warning that their infiltration riots aimed not only at the youth and student groups, but also at our labor unions, churches, professional groups, artists, newspapers, government, and the like, can create chaos and shatter our internal security."

It is well to reflect on that last statement: " . . . can create chaos and shatter our internal security." Yes, here in America, infiltration and control of any of these groups mentioned—students, churches, newspapers, government agencies, etc.—could actually lead to Communist take-over. This technique of take-over has happened and is happening in other nations.

In the opening paragraphs of his special report, Mr. Hoover says: "The successful Communist exploitation and manipulation of youth and student groups throughout the world today are a major challenge which free world forces must meet and defeat. Recent world events clearly reveal that world Communism has launched a massive campaign to capture and maneuver youth and student groups.

"The vigor and vitality of such groups constitute an explosive force of immense proportions . . . Communists have become expert at using this force to create chaos. In Japan, for example, Communists carefully nurtured and developed a growing body of students over a 10-year period, using them periodically in protest demonstrations. The culmination of this training was reached this year, when the highly organized and tightly disciplined rioters shocked the world with their uncarious displays" which led to cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit.

The Communist attack on the House Un-American Activities Committee in San Francisco was in line, Mr. Hoover reports, "with a longstanding Party aim to destroy not only the HCUA, but also the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and every every other 'enemy' seeking to expose the threat which Communist activities represent to the internal security of this nation."

Mr. Hoover's report makes it clear that the House Un-American Activities Committee is a vital agency in our nation's ramparts of internal security against Fifth Column infiltration.

Monday, September 26. The county will return to standard time on that date also.

Mr. Hawkins reported that Lawrence Hardesty, contractor for Red House school addition had about completed the job with the exception of installation of minor equipment. The building was in readiness for the opening day of school.

One hundred fifty pupils are now enrolled there with five classrooms available. Addition to the building included one classroom, health room, new toilet facilities and enlargement of the all-purpose room. The contract price was $31,000, financed through the State School Construction fund by the Board of County Commissioners. The Red House P.-T. A. and faculty are planning an "open house" in the near future.

Mr. Hawkins also reported on the library cost of materials at the Kitzmiller school as approximately $4,300, which included labor of one brick layer. The work was done by regular custodians and maintenance workers under supervision of O. T. Graser, maintenance supervisor.

Other Business Conducted

At the board meeting Tuesday other business included the following:

Approved the sale of the Ed Schmidt bus to Paul W. Welch and approved the following substitute drivers: Harold Georg for Wilmer Margroff; Harry Faucett for Emmett Friend; Simon Bittinger for Ernest Durst; Clifford Feather for Charles V. Harvey, Kermit Savage for Herbert Ritchie; Everett VanSickle for Earle Glotfelty; as well as of several short bus extensions.

Authorized Roy Bittinger, near Keyser Ridge, to purchase small bus to service the transportation needs of pupils in his area;

Authorized the use of a county-owned surplus car by Charles Welch, instrumental instructor at route 40, Grantsville, Accident and Friendsville schools;

Accepted resignation of Bennett Arthur, Jr., as principal of Swanton elementary and appointed Mrs. Florence Cosgrove acting principal until the position is filled. Mr. Arthur left to accept a teaching and church position in Canada.

Rejected bids on boiler insurance due to lack of uniformity and planned to request new bids. An inspection of boilers and furnaces recently showed that the old furnaces at Kitzmiller, Friendsville, Grantsville, and Deer Park should be replaced. Because of expense involved the Board approved suggestion that the new furnace be included in each year's budget until all are replaced. Cost was estimated at $3,500 each.

Reviewed the plan for the math study program, grades 1-12, to be led by Albert Ringer, and approved it in full.

Approved payment of a fee of $50 for services of Dr. William Hartley at opening teacher meeting.

Requested superintendent to investigate a report that several students who completed eighth grade at route 40 school last year had enrolled at Valley High school instead of Northern.

Mr. Hawkins announced a third annual lay conference on education, to be held in Baltimore, November 11 and 12, with Garrett county allowed a quota of six. The first six who apply will be accepted. Applications are to be sent to the superintendent's office.

Mr. Hawkins and board members plan to attend a state-wide meeting of Maryland School Boards association in Hagerstown October 5, 6 and 7.

After adjournment the board members had lunch at the Red House school.

attorney's fee.

During the disturbance a windshield of one of the trucks was smashed by a stone, although no one was injured.

The disturbance occurred when officials of the firm arrived to remove equipment from the Oakland plant. The trucks were later given an escort through the county.

All employes in the disturbance were dismissed from their jobs.

The hearing opened Friday about 10 o'clock for the six individuals and lasted until noon. The hearings for Mrs. Ervin took place in the afternoon and lasted until 3:30 p. m. All defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges, but were found guilty by the magistrate after hearing the evidence in the cases.

Has Unusual Tomato

Jailbreakers

the one removed was not fastened.

In the basement, with the aid of a hacksaw blade, the three sawed through one bar on a basement window overlooking the alley which runs adjacent to the jail.

The prisoners, of medium build, then slipped through a space 6½ inches wide to freedom.

Tasker, described as of stocky build with curly black hair, was wearing black work trousers and a gray shirt. He had been a "trusty" around the jail for the past four or five months and had considerable freedom in the daytime.

Ervin and Davis, both of whom have dark brown hair, were wearing dungarees and dark shirts.

Authorities did not know how they got hold of the hacksaw blade, whether it was found in the basement or whether they received outside help.

Officials searched the Rosedale area Monday afternoon when it was reported they had rifled a resident's bedroom, and Tuesday night they searched the area around Vindex when it was reported they were in that vicinity. Nothing was discovered, however, to indicate that they were there. They would have been able to hitch a ride from Oakland with some unsuspecting motorist. However, there is a 13-state alarm out on the trio and officers were sure they would be behind bars within a few days.

Polio Chapter's Funds Are Being Depleted

The Garrett County Chapter of The National Foundation is preparing to take care of another bill, a the result of an additional polio case in the county in recent months. This is a hospital bill of $600 for the hospitalization of Gary Yoder, of Grantsville. The amount does not include the physician's bill.

Gary is two years old and the case was definitely diagnosed as polio. Mrs. William Harmon, chapter chairman, has signed a certificate that the local chapter will be responsible for payment.

Mrs. Harmon said the chapter was rapidly reducing its fund and that it was doubtful that all payments for polio patients in 1960 could be fully paid without some reinbursement from the National Foundation.

Polio fund workers were already planning for the next annual drive which does not officially begin until January, 1961, but the workers were continuing to urge that all persons under 40 receive the Salk vaccine to prevent polio. They said the vaccine was available from the county health department or from individual physicians.

Two Mishaps Occur On Savage Mountain

Considerable property damage was caused in a two-car accident late last Friday night at the foot of Big Savage mountain.

Trooper Joseph V. Staken said the cars were being operated by Thomas Elias, Frostburg business man, and William Bolden, of Finzel. Police said Bolden's car was demolished by the impact and about $500 damage was caused to the Elias sedan.

Police said the accident occurred while Elias was driving on U. S. 40 during a heavy rainstorm and the Bolden car pulled onto the highway from a motel parking area. Both drivers sustained minor face lacerations and were treated and released at Miners hospital.

A Frostburg man escaped injury Saturday night when his car was demolished in an accident on Big Savage. Police said the man was Bernard O. Finzel, 29, of Frostburg. He appeared to be uninjured after his car rammed into a utility pole along U. S. 40 about one mile west of Frostburg.

Finzel was westbound when he lost control of the vehicle. The accident occurred around 9 p. m. The Finzel car was demolished. He was riding alone at the time.

STYLES CHANGE

. . . But Principles Remain!

Styles and methods in banking have changed tremendously in the past decade. New inventions and modern facilities have made service to customers easier, more efficient, and more prompt.

But the sound fundamental banking principles of safety, conservatism and able management continue unaltered. They are still—and always will be—the guiding stars of this bank.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

Mental Work

- Radioactive Iodine
- Pyloric Stenosis

Q. Does hard mental work shorten life?

A. Apparently not. Swedish doctors made a study of 2000 persons engaged in various occupations and concluded that mental work, such as university professors undertake, does not shorten life. Nor does mental work increase the tendency to brain tumor, or strokes, according to these doctors.

Q. Will you please discuss the use of radioactive iodine in treatment of thyroid trouble?

A. This subject is very involved. Briefly, radioactive iodine is used in place of surgery in certain cases of overactive thyroid and in conjunction with other therapy in treatment of thyroid tumor. The use of radioactive or "atomic" medicine is relatively new. This type of treatment holds great promise and many medical centers are conducting research on the therapeutic uses of several varieties of radioactive materials.

Q. I have two boys who each developed pyloric stenosis (projectile vomiting) when they were four weeks old. I am expecting my third child. Is there anything to do to prevent this happening again?

A. Pyloric stenosis is an obstructive narrowing of the passageway between the stomach and small intestine. This congenital (present at birth) condition is found most often in infants two to three weeks old. It occurs more often in boys than in girls but the reason for this is unknown. As might be expected, one symptom of pyloric stenosis is projectile vomiting. The obstruction prevents food from passing downward through the narrowed opening. The full stomach contracts and explosive vomiting occurs. Surgery is the only way to correct the condition. There are no precautions that can be taken during pregnancy to prevent the occurrence of pyloric stenosis. Fortunately, the chances are slight that the condition will occur in three successive children.

G.O.P. Activities

A G. O. P. practical politics school will be conducted in Baltimore's Central YMCA Saturday, September 17, sponsored by state Young Republican Federation in cooperation with the Federation of Republican Women and the Recruits for '60. It will include a panel discussion.

Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader in the U. S. Senate, will address Maryland Republicans at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner September 29 in the Lord Baltimore hotel in Baltimore.

The Maryland affair will be one of some three dozen dinners to be held throughout the nation on the same evening.

Charles "Mac" Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress detailed his indictment that his Democratic opponent's fumbling and bungling of legislation vital to his constituency robbed them of real representation in Congress.

Mathias favors liberalization of the Hatch Act to permit local partisan political activity by federal employees. He opposes extravagant and inflationary term measures supported by his opponent which would have increased the tax burden of every citizen and the grocery bill of every housewife.

Doerr-Sollars Wedding Solemnized

In a ceremony at St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland on Saturday afternoon, August 27, at 3:30 o'clock, Miss Mary Helen Sollars became the bride of Carl Raymond Doerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Edwin Doerr, of Accident. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sollars, Deer Park. The Rev. Charles Godwin, pastor, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a floor length gown of rosepoint lace and tulle. The fitted bodice was topped with a Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her bouffant skirt consisted of lace panels on tulle ending with a back skirt of alternating lace and tulle falling into a chapel swept train.

The bride chose her sister, Mrs Patty Ashby, Painesville, O., as her matron of honor. She wore a pink and white nylon tulle gown with matching stole. She carried a cascade of pink carnations. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Alice Riggleman, Deer Park; Mrs. Nancy Durst, Washington, D. C.; Misses Linda and Snokkie Doerr, sisters of the groom. Their gowns were identical except for color and each carried a matching cascade.

Ronald Doerr, brother of the groom, was best man, and usbers were Harry Ashby, Painesville; Joe Durst, Washington; William Clatterbuck, Deer Park; and Pfc. Edward Sollars, brother of the bride, and John Doerr, brother of the groom.

Little Miss Debby Clatterbuck was flower girl. She wore a pink and white nylon dress and carried a basket of pink rose petals. Randy Tressler, Salisbury, Pa., was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore black with pink and white accessories with a pink carnation corsage. The groom's mother was dressed in beige with brown accessories and had a yellow corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church. The bride's table was decorated with white candles and ivy and was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake with the traditional bride and groom ornament. The cake was cut and served with a server given to the bride by the groom's brother. Mrs. Corann Clatterbuck served. Mrs. Benlah Manst presided at the punch bowl.

Immediately following the reception the couple left for a honeymoon trip which included Niagara Falls and Canada. They are residing at 1278 E. 152nd street, Cleveland 12.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Another Mill Shown At Savage River

Two weeks ago, the old photograph dealt with a group of lumbermen working in the Savage River area more than fifty years ago. Today's picture, which was taken in the same year, 1908, shows another group of timbermen and the big mill at Bondtown, near the present site of the Savage River dam.

Clarence Paugh, of Swanton, who owns the picture, says he can identify two of his uncles, Thompson Paugh and Josephus Howell Perhaps other readers can furnish further identification.

Recalls Deer Park Lights

Several weeks ago, it was stated that the areas first electric lights were installed in the old Deer Park Hotel, operated by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

From Columbus, Ohio, C. A. Jones writes:

"We have been much interested in the Pictures Out Of The Past published in The Republican each week.

"I well remember the electric lights at the Deer Park Hotel to which reference was recently made. Large globes enclosed carbon pencils'. At short intervals there would come a 'puff' and the lights would dim briefly just why we did not know. The pencils had often to be replaced and we youngsters thought it great fun to collect them. The village had oil lamps, both in homes and on the street, and the lights at the hotel were considered something extra, too fancy for ordinary residents.

"Just to the east of the Deer Park Hotel and towards the station was a cave that from a modern viewpoint seems very strange. It was pointed out to us that this was to contain gasoline in barrels, a substance that would freeze on the outside of the barrels in the hottest days in January.

"I have some splendid photographs taken at Deer Park 'at the the turn of the century.' If you think you might be interested in some of them I will be glad to submit them for your consideration. My brother, E. Ray Jones, thinks you are mainly interested in pictures around Oakland, but I note the recent one was elsewhere in the county."

It is always interesting to hear from those who have personal recollections brought to mind by the old pictures, and these "thoughts out of the past" thus engendered probably account for the popularity of the series among older readers.

While it is true that most of the photographs published to date have dealt with Oakland and immediate vicinity, this is no indication that the series is intended to be so confined. It is simply because such views seem to be more numerous and easier to obtain.

Perhaps Mr. Jones will share with other readers his early Deer Park scenes. The size of the original old picture is of small importance, but they should be reasonably clear and as much information as possible supplied, particularly when persons are identifiable or the scene pictured is no longer in existence.

Sixteen Amendments To Constitution To Be Voted Nov. 8th

Citizens of the county will be expected to vote on sixteen proposed constitutional amendments at the general election on Tuesday, November 8, and not one of the proposed statutes concerns this county directly. Only two or three concern the county indirectly.

The complete proposed amendments will be published in The Republican four weeks prior to the election.

In general they deal with the following:

1. Proposes that a vacancy in the office of State's Attorney in a county be filled by certain judges and in Baltimore city by the supreme bench.

2. Proposes optional procedure for land acquisition in Baltimore county upon payment of appraisal value of such property to owner or into court with security for the payment of any future sum which may be awarded by a jury.

3. Proposes granting authority to the Board of Public Works to authorize and direct the State Treasurer to borrow in the name of the state in anticipation of collection of taxes, sums necessary to meet temporary treasury deficiencies and to issue short term notes to provide appropriations already made by the General Assembly.

4. Proposes creation of municipal court for Baltimore City and to regulate the number, selection qualification and duties of such court.

5. Proposes the General Assembly may empower any county or municipal corporation, other than Baltimore City, to carry out urban revenue projects involving the redevelopment of slum areas.

6. Proposes that candidates in addition to an incumbent Judge be allowed to run for election to the People's court of Baltimore City.

7. Proposes optional procedure for unimproved land acquisition in Montgomery county upon payment of the appraised value of such property to the owner or into court with security given for the payment of any further sums which may be awarded by a jury.

8. Proposes creation of two additional circuit court judgeships in Prince Georges county and removes any impediment to members of the General Assembly from becoming appointed or elected to such judgeship.

9. Proposes that upon veto of any bill by the Governor, such vetoed bill shall not be returned to the General Assembly when a new General Assembly has been elected and sworn since the passage of the vetoed bill.

10. Proposes the following order of succession in event of vacancy in office of Governor: president of the state senate, speaker of the House of delegates, Comptroller of the State, Attorney General of the State.

11. Proposes creation of additional circuit judgeship in Montgomery county, one additional judgeship for the second judicial circuit and one additional judgeship for the 8th judicial circuit and removes any impediment to members of the General Assembly from becoming appointed or elected to such judgeships.

12. Proposes additional judges for court of appeals of Maryland and for election of judges of court of appeals of Maryland from appellate judicial circuits, their terms of office their quorums, and the number of judges necessary for a decision of the court.

13. Amendment to Declaration of Rights which proposes the granting of authority to General Assembly to provide for the separate assessment, classification and subclassification of land, improvements on land, and personal property, and requiring that all taxes levied shall be uniform as to each such classification or subclassification of land, improvement on land and personal property.

14. Amendment to Declaration of Rights which proposes granting authority to the General Assembly to provide that land actively devoted to farm or agricultural use shall be assessed on the basis of such use and shall not be taxed as if subdivided.

15. Proposes to modify the requirements for any county to contract certain debts or obligations by the elimination of the requirements of publication of the act of the General Assembly authorizing such debt or loan.

16. Proposes approval, confirmation and ratification of the part of the State of Maryland of a compact entered into by the State of Maryland and the Commonwealth of Virginia relating to the Potomac River and the construction, operation and maintenance of the Potomac River Bridge.

Each proposed constitutional amendment must get a majority of the votes cast at the general election in order to become a part of the Maryland statute.

Precision in a Pipe Organ

You know what precision it requires to build a bridge, or an engine, or a watch. The same exactness goes into the construction of a pipe organ.

But the men who make pipe organs, like all others who build, have a feeling for the USE of their product.

An organ will lead hundreds in their worship of God. It will support a talented choir in the rendition of a sacred cantata. Or it will blend with a host of untrained voices to raise a stirring hymn to God. It will sing softly while Christians commune, or thunder majestically a great recessional.

And yet this valuable organ whose creation requires such skill and precision is secondary in the life of the Church. It is simply an instrument, like this weekly advertisement, to help the Church fulfill its Mission. That Mission is to lead you, and your family, and your world, to the Lord.

When the organ calls men to worship — be there!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

On To Ruin

Lesson for September 18, 1960

"STICK to the Gospel and leave politics alone," is advice often given to preachers. Whether it's good advice depends on what is meant by it. If "Leave politics alone" means that a church should not become a political party, then it is good advice. But if it means that the preacher must never mention anything so worldly and controversial as housing for the poor, wage levels, dirty politics, dishonest police, incompetent judges, or bad leadership in high places, then "Stick to the Gospel" is bad advice.

Dr. Foreman

Upside Down Morals

Not only that, but a preacher shamed or seared into silence about the live issues of his time and community is false to his Bible. The prophets of old were bold preachers. They pointed their fingers at sin wherever they saw it. And when they saw the supposed leaders of their country setting bad examples, when they saw bad foreign policy, when they saw the weak oppressed and the shady characters given the medals, the prophets did not pull their punches or preach soothing sermons about heaven. They preached some of their most powerful sermons straight to the top-flight citizens of their time.

One of the great evils that Micah (for instance) nailed down, was what we call upside-down morals, preached and practiced by influential people. It is much worse when such people get twisted-up about right and wrong, than when obscure people do. A bum in a slum can try to tell you that wrong is right and you pay him no attention. But when rich or famous or powerful people take a wrong slant, you get mixed up. You think, "Well, surely a man as smart [or rich, or educated, or successful] as he is, can't be wrong!"

Robbing the People

Another evil Micah spoke of sharply and plainly can be called in plain language robbing the people. Unfortunately this can be done sometimes quite legally. This means that a wealthy corporation can get wealthier simply by overcharging the consumer and overcharge is a polite word for stealing. There is a large area in our southern mountains which for years was bare as the Sahara desert, a desolate despairate sight in the midst of green hills and mountains on all sides. A great corporation was letting copper fumes go out from its chimneys unhindered, killing all green things for miles around. It took a long time before the government stopped that. Another mill, manufacturing asbestos, exposed its employees to asbestosis, an incurable disease of the lungs caused by asbestos lint in the air. Many workers died, but it was all perfectly legal . . . till finally the state stepped in and required safety devices that stopped the legal killings. But where was the church? Not a voice was raised, so far as this writer ever heard, against killing either the green countryside or human beings. There were no prophetic preachers, no prophetic churches, to call a spade a spade.

Preaching for Money

The prophet Micah calls out for judgment another kind of leader who only leads on to ruin. That is the kind of prophet (meaning preacher) who preaches to please those who pay him best. This is the worst kind of bad leadership. For the minister of the Gospel is supposed to a man of God, but when he preaches only what his wealthier contributors will approve, then he ceases to be God's spokesman and wears some man's collar. In the very early days of Christianity, just after the New Testament was finished, there was a book which gave regulations and advice for church officers. It seems there were many traveling evangelists and missionaries, then as now, asking for money. This little book gave a rule which was very useful: If the visitor begs for others, he may be genuine; if he begs for himself, throw him out. The preacher out for himself first of all sets an example that pushes his people farther on the road to ruin.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R. Md.)

50% ing?—Total personal income of Americans has risen to an all-time record level. It now exceeds a rate of 400 billion dollars a year. More than two thirds of the total is for wages and salaries. Last year personal income totaled 381 billion dollars, 6 per cent over 1958. In some States, the increase was more than 10 per cent.

Personal consumption for 1959 [illegible] per cent above the total for 1958. [illegible] increases were minor; [illegible] consumption [illegible] the actual [illegible] services [illegible] value and volume of buying were the highest on record. The biggest percentage gain was in durable commodities, which rose 16.4 per cent.

Productivity among U. S. workers climbed about 4 per cent last year. In some industries—steel, coal mining, and copper mining—the increase was 8 per cent or better.

According to the latest from the Census Bureau, there are some 52.6 million households in the United States. Of this total, 33.4 million are urban; 15.1 million are rural-nonfarm households; and 4.1 million are farm homes.

Defense Preparedness—Facilities for advanced testing of the Nike-Zeus missile killer are being constructed at Point Mugu, California. Later, the test firing will move to Kwajalein Island, where the Army will fire Nike-Zeus missiles against Atlas ICBMs launched from California.

A test of the Hound Dog missile near Cape Canaveral, Florida, last week demonstrated its accuracy. A Hound Dog was launched from a B-52 flying at high altitude and hit exactly on target 500 miles away. The Hound Dog is now operational in the Strategic Air Command.

SAC's aerospace forces have accepted for immediate use the first delivery of America's operational [illegible] Hawker Hunter B-58 Hustlers.

Minuteman ICBM [illegible] test flights this year ahead of schedule.

A push-button [illegible] system [illegible] will [illegible] tlefield commanders to [illegible] stantly, without [illegible] soldier, what is going [illegible] enemy territory. [illegible] by the Army. The system [illegible] of advanced ground and airborne equipment and [illegible] powered [illegible] surveillance drone which sends back [illegible] while in flight. It will operate in all weather conditions, day and night. Flying at low altitudes and high speeds, the drone can remain over enemy areas for extended periods, and be recovered and reused.

Medical Aid For Aged—The Senate last week spent some time debating medical care for the aged. This is one of the big issues because of its political appeal. It is not a question of one party wanting to help the aged and the other against such aid. Both parties support such a program, but in different ways. The bill which came out of the Democratic-controlled Senate Finance Committee met Republican rather than Democratic specifications. Passed by the committee by an overwhelming 12-to-5 vote, the bill calls for a voluntary medical-aid program, not as a part of the Social Security system, but a program which would provide Federal grants for such purpose to the States. The committee approved a provision, almost identical with that passed by the House, for Federal-State pay-

[illegible] ed by the committee, would [illegible] increase to $1800 the present $1200 limit on outside earnings by Social Security annuitants under the age of 72; (2) permit men to [illegible] at the age of 62, rather than the present 65, and receive Social Security benefits; (3) eliminate the requirement that an individual must be 50 years old to receive disability benefits; and (4) increase benefits for children of deceased workers.

Common Situs Picketing—The Senate may soon be called upon to consider the Common Situs Picketing Bill, which would permit a union having a dispute with a contractor at the site of a construction project to picket other contractors working on the project—thus engaging in secondary boycotts, heretofore illegal. I feel that the Landrum-Griffin Bill should be given a chance to work before making such a big change.

Minimum Wage Fight—The proposed change in the minimum wage law did not go through; on the contrary, some powerful opposition Senators felt that it would increase unemployment. Objecting to the broad coverage, Senator [illegible] of Florida pointed out that covering purely local business [illegible] business, specifically excluding purely local business. Sponsors of the original legislation were quoted as having said: "Businesses of a purely local type which serve a particular community, and which do not send their products into the streams of interstate commerce, can be better regulated by the laws of the communities and of the States in which the business units operate."

Opponents of the broadened coverage felt that it was a big step toward socializing our economy. They advanced the argument that if it is once conceded that the Federal government has the power to go in and control the wage and hour practices in virtually all classes of local business, it is only a short step to controlling prices, only a short step to controlling choice and selection, only a short step to controlling lives.

"Creeping Socialism" vs. Americanism—Very few American citizens would accept Socialism as a way of life for America IF it were properly identified as Socialism. But it is accepted bit by bit when offered as social gains. In the several European countries where Socialism now largely dominates, if first identified not as Socialism but as government aid programs and welfare measures. Because of its insidious growth, it is now deeply enmeshed there, and may never be thrown off. Socialism gets worse, never better, as it evolves toward the totalitarian Police State. In America we face a danger that Socialism—big, powerful, central government, involving itself in the lives of all individuals—will gradually take over under the guise of social welfare or some other label.

Now, of course, most Americans will support government protection of the weak against exploiters and temporary government aid to those pinched by technological changes in industry or farming. But we've seen these good purposes abused by a so-called "liberalism" which builds political power by promising Federal aid to one bloc after another. And, when objection is raised to a spending program, the spenders always insist that it will help our economy. Any artificial growth in our economy forced by Federal spending and loose money policies weakens our national strength.

Our people prefer the healthy climate of free enterprise and individual effort where everyone can stand on his own two feet. To assure this, we must increase the traditional strengths of our free economy—initiative and investment, productivity and efficiency.

Speaking Of Government Spending—Radio Celebrity Arthur Godfrey said: "I'm proud to pay taxes in the United States; only thing is—I could be just as proud for half the money."

Grand Jury Duties Outlined By Judge

The duties of grand jurors were explained to that body Tuesday morning by Associate Judge Neal C. Fraley as the September Term of court was called into session. The charge to the jurors was delivered after they were sworn in by the court clerk, after which they retired to the grand jury room to begin their deliberations.

The session began with three women among the twenty-three called for grand jury service. Originally there were four. Two were excused and in filling the position another woman was called. Three other persons were excused and their places filled by citizens, selected by lot.

Excused from serving were Mrs. Bertie Thrasher, Arch W. Connell, Veryl E. Weimer, Wayne B. Hamilton and Selma A. Nell. Called to serve in their places were S. Townshend Naylor, H. G. Gortner, Odell Layman, Bernard I. Gonder, Jr., and Mrs. Naomi Kuhnle.

Robert J. Stanton is serving as foreman of the grand jury and the remaining members include Arley Barrick, Rodger Bond, Mrs. Ethelwyn Blanche Riley, Henry F. Paugh, Lawrence Hardesty, Wilmer MacDroff, Charley C. Brownlee, William Upperman, Clyde Smith, Lester Swetzer, Roy Glotfelty, Foster Yost, Mrs. Catherine L. Marshall, Hubert Custer, Lloyd C. Jenkins, Victor Harvey and James Podheaver.

The complete charge to the jurors follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Grand Jury:—

You have been chosen to serve as Grand Jurors for the September Term of the Circuit Court of this County. To be eligible for service as a Juror, one must be over twenty five years of age, but not over seventy. There is no requirement of property ownership and the only religious qualification is the belief in the existence of God.

Before beginning the performance of your duties, it is customary for the Presiding Judge to charge you with reference to your duties, and the procedure you are to follow in your work.

A Grand Jury is an investigating body and has broad powers of inquiry in connection with the violation of the criminal laws of the State. You give consideration not only to alleged violations of the law that may be brought to your attention by the State's Attorney and other enforcement officers but it is the duty of an individual juror to disclose to your body any information he or she may have as to such violations. Your action, that is whether to indict or dismiss a charge, cannot be dictated by anybody.

The Grand Jury was designed to be a body of discreet and thinking persons called together not to act hastily and inadvisedly upon an accusation against a citizen and place him upon trial, but to protect the public interest in upholding the public law. A Grand Juror's action should be dictated only by a sense of justice and a deep seated desire to reach the guilty and protect the innocent. You will, therefore, realize that there is a responsibility resting upon every Juror to prevent your body from being used for intimidation, for revenge or for personal gain.

The oath which you have just taken, requires that you "shall diligently inquire, and true presentment make of all such matters which may come before you and that you shall present no person through envy, hatred or malice nor leave anyone unpresented through love, fear, favor or affection, or for any hope or promise of reward." The obligation of the oath is the greater in that the grand juror himself is the sole judge of his or her good faith. You cannot be questioned for anything you may say or any vote you may cast relative to any matter legally pending before your body, save only for perjury committed in making an accusation or in testifying as a witness before his fellow jurors.

You will find that most of the cases presented to you will have been investigated by the State's Attorney and other law enforcement officers. Usually you will hear only the witnesses for the prosecution and it is your duty to decide if the charge is supported by such evidence as warrants the trial of the accused by the criminal Court. It is your responsibility to determine whether the charges may be true or false and which should be tried and which dismissed.

In a criminal case an accused is presumed innocent until proved guilty beyond a reasonable doubt and no one should be called upon to answer an unfounded charge. You must bear in mind, however, that a Grand Jury is an accusing body rather than a judicial tribunal. It is not your function to convict or acquit, you hear but one side of the matter and that is the State's evidence. It is the function of the petit jury or the Court to determine guilt or innocence after a fair and impartial trial in which the evidence of the State and of the accused has been presented.

The work of the Grant Jury has been considerably lessened by reason of certain enactments of the Legislature. Now a person accused of the commission of a criminal offense may waive indictment by a Grand Jury and also waive a trial before a jury and ask for an immediate trial before the Court. This has resulted in the disposition of many cases without presentation before the Grand Jury.

I know of no particular matters that should be especially called to your attention. Fortunately our County seems to be free of organized vice and crime that is often prevalent in larger communities. It is important, however, that the enforcement officers ever be alert in bringing to justice those guilty of violations of our criminal statutes and your body, too, plays an important part in maintaining law and order in the community.

It is the duty and responsibility of the County Commissioners of the County to see that the public buildings owned by the County are kept in proper repair and that necessary improvements are made. It is the custom for the Grand Jury to inspect these properties and make such recommendations as seem proper and desirable. You will be furnished with a copy of the Grand Jury Report of the March Term and you should investigate to see if the recommendations then made have been followed. You will also visit the various offices in the Court House and though time will not permit of any detailed examination of the books and records, you will have an opportunity to observe the manner in which the public business is being conducted.

The State's Attorney is your legal adviser. He as well as other enforcement officers will be available at all times during your deliberations to assist you in the performance of your duties.

You will now retire to the Grand Jury room where you will begin the performance of your duties.

U. S. Savings Bonds All-Time High

Garrett County residents are being congratulated for their part in swelling U. S. Savings Bond ownership to a new all-time high.

George K. Littman, volunteer Savings Bonds Chairman for Garrett County, said that nationwide holdings of Series E and H Savings Bonds stood at $42.8 billion as of August 31. Of this total, Maryland residents own about $539,000,000, and Mr. Littman estimated Garrett County's share of the total at approximately $2,300,000.

The report to Mr. Littman came in the form of a congratulatory letter from William H. Neal, Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury and National Director of the Savings Bonds program. In it Mr. Neal said that the new $42.8 billion total tops the World War II peak of E Bond holdings by some $12 billion, pointing out the steady growth which has characterized the bond program throughout the peacetime years since 1941.

At present Mrs. Warnick is in a cast from the top of her head to her hips and will need to wear this until the middle of October. She is hoping to return to work by November 15.

Mrs Warnick remarked that the next time she goes motorcyle riding she will get a better chauffeur.

Mrs. Warnick is a daughter of Mrs. Grayce B. Chisholm. The Warnicks and the Chisholms were former residents of Oakland.

Cent Raise On Gas Tax Due To Expire

Garrett County motor vehicle owners will save more than $64,-167.44 or $7.76 per vehicle if last year's temporary one cent increase in the federal gasoline tax expires on schedule, it was revealed today by Charles A. Newland, Chairman of the Maryland Petroleum Association. This figure is based on the estimate that the average motor vehicle consumes 776 gallons of gasoline each year, which is the latest computation available from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"Garrett County now has 8,269 registered motor vehicles. The state gasoline tax rate in Maryland is six cents per gallon, the federal rate is four cents, for a total of ten cents per gallon," said Mr. Newland. "Since the average annual gasoline consumption per vehicle is 776 gallons, this means that the average motorist is paying $77.60 per year in gasoline taxes alone. Add to this, motor vehicle license fees and other taxes on automobiles and fuel, and the estimated auto tax burden per vehicle soars to $141.73 in Maryland."

Mr. Newland explained that Congress reluctantly consented to a temporary one cent hike in the federal gasoline tax in 1959 when it became apparent that agreement could not be reached on an alternate method of keeping the federal highway program rolling along on schedule. This fourth cent of federal tax brought the combined national average of federal and state taxes to over ten cents a gallon.

"In Maryland these combined taxes now average a whopping 46 of the retail price of regular grade gasoline," he pointed out.

River Commission To Study Water Quality

Maintenance of water quality in the face of an increasing use of land for urban growth will be considered at the fall meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, scheduled for Thursday and Friday, October 6 and 7 at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick.

The meetings, being held during Maryland Land Week, will be devoted largely to discussions of a "squeeze" on the Monocacy River watershed as Baltimore and Washington expand toward Frederick during the next 20 to 25 years.

Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, will report on the Corps three-year study of the Potomac River Basin. The study is due for completion in July 1961.

This report will be confined to the study of the Potomac and its tributaries from Cumberland eastward through Central Maryland and emphasis will be placed on the Corps' recommendations for development of the Monocacy River as a tributary of the Potomac.

The primary purpose of the Interstate Commission is to work toward abatement of pollution of the Potomac River and its major tributaries. It was created for this purpose by the states of Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia under authority granted by Congress but efforts are now being made to expand its interests to all fields related to water quality.

THE

WEEKLY SERMON
by
Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

The Sorrowing Soul

The ancient prophet Jeremiah asked the question, "Is there no balm in Gilead, is there no physician there?" As I speak to the sorrowing, lonely, discouraged heort today, let me say with gladness, "There is a balm in Gilead that makes the wounded whole." That healing balm is none other than personal fellowship with the risen and ascended Christ. It is that fellowship spoken of by the hymn writer when he penned, "And He walks with me, and He talks with me, and He tells me I am His own. And the joy we share as we tarry there, none other has ever known." There is a real experience of living daily with Jesus Christ as your companion. It begins first by repenting of your sin and opening your heart to Christ to receive Him as your own Saviour. Then through the avenue of prayer you convey your thoughts, your heart-aches, your disappointments, your burdens to Him. He will then in turn give you a balm for your wounded heart and make you have joy in the midst of sorrow and other difficulties. He will take the situation which seems so hopeless and useless and make it to become the stepping stone to your present and future happiness. Why not give Christ that chance?

Miss King Weds Ottfried J. Hahn

Marriage vows were exchanged by Joyce Carolyn King and Ottfried Johannes Hahn at 2 p. m. Saturday, August 27, at Wesley Methodist church in Morgantown, W. Va. The Rev. Alfred P. Wallace officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. John W. Schuster.

Given in marriage by her father, John King, the bride wore a gown of scroll satin fashioned with a princess panel and full skirt. Her veil of imported French illusion fell from a Dior bow. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace belonging to her step-grandmother, Mrs. Clemente Miller, Morgantown.

Lillian Marks, maid of honor, was attired in a gown of emerald green. She carried a nosegay of mums. Bridesmaids were Patricia King, cousin, and Marcia Lorant. They wore mint green gowns.

The wedding gown and the attendants' dresses were designed by the bride's stepmother, Mrs. Irene.

Best man was Ross Ripple, Baltimore. Ushers were Richard Pell, Pine Grove, W. Va.; John Judy, Aurora; Richard Patton, Charleston, and William Villers, Moundsville. Junior ushers were Herbert and Johnnie Kuehne, Edmonton, Canada, nephews of the groom.

A reception was held in the social rooms of the church following the ceremony. Mrs. Charles Lewis, aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake. Kathryn Hartley circulated the guest book. Aides were Keran Bradford, Cynthia Koch, Mary Rice and Julia Sprouse. Mrs. Herbert Kuehne, sister of the groom, presided at the punch bowl.

The bride received her education in Morgantown schools and attended West Virginia university. She is the daughter of John King, former Garrett county resident, and the late Edna M. King.

Mr. Hahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Hahn, Edmonton, Canada, formerly of Berlin, Germany, received his B. S. degree at the University of Alberta in engineering and his MS degree in nuclear engineering from W.V.U. He will be employed as a research assistant at Princeton university while continuing his studies.

Following the reception a dinner was held at the bride's home for members of the family. Afterward the couple departed for Princeton.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

"MARYLAND MEMO"

To all outward appearances, the main factory here in the Capital has closed down for a few months and most of its workers are busy around the country manufacturing more politics than there are new cars. But appearances are deceiving and the "main factory"—the United States Congress—is still open for business.

For example, in the last couple of weeks, I have been looking into:

(1) Austrian divorce laws. The reunion of a Maryland woman with her husband depends upon the validity of an Austrian divorce.

(2) The final days and hours of an American destroyer sunk in the South Pacific in 1942. A National Service Life Insurance claim has been entered by a Maryland widow who needs to know if her husband applied for VA insurance before his death.

(3) The cost of repairing a wrecked auto in Tennessee. A constituent has asked me to help in acquiring this information so that he can file an insurance claim.

(4) The degrees and treatment of epilepsy. I need this information to assist in the obtaining of permanent residence for the Okinawan wife of an American serviceman from Maryland.

Besides all these matters which are so important to individuals, I and my entire staff are busy at work drawing up a legislative program for the State of Maryland. Bills, or course, do not happen—they come about through long hours of research and intense questioning of experts in the fields that the legislative items effect.

Maryland is a wonderfully varied state from the Delmarva Peninsula through the shipyards of Baltimore to the recreation area of Garrett County. It is a state that demands infinite knowledge and patience because just about anything that can happen in a state does in the Free State of Maryland. I don't know of a single Maryland congressman or senator who ever died of boredom!

Defenders' Day, September 12: One hundred and forty-six years ago, in 1814, the British army and navy began a two-pronged attack on the city of Baltimore. A strong force of British regulars made their way down North Point Road and to their great amazement were met by 12,000 local militiamen and 100 cannon which completely overwhelmed them.

Out in the Bay, British men-of-war bombarded a fort for over 25 hours but were unable to make the Americans within strike their colors. Also in the Bay on an American truce boat, a young man named Francis Scott Key watched the bombs bursting in air above Fort McHenry and set down the beginnings of a poem which became our national anthem.

Defenders' Day—A day for every Marylander to remember and be proud of. The history of Maryland, in my opinion, is filled with such proud moments.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 84 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., SEPTEMBER 22, 1960 PER COPY, 8c NUMBER 30.

The Spenders . . .

The candidates have been having their say for the past few weeks and it isn't hard to distinguish between them. The Democratic party is the party of the spenders, and wasteful spending at that. The Republican party is the party of prudence.

The party that promises every desire from cradle to grave is the Democratic party. And you'll note that they forget to say where the money to pay for all the give-aways is coming from. They are labeled the architects of fiscal irresponsibility and the builders of deficit.

Such a policy not only pervades the top Democratic candidate in the nation, Mr. Kennedy, but it also is the prime ingredient of Congressman Foley's platform.

The present national debt stands at $288 billion. Ninety-six percent of this debt since 1900 is Democrat-owned. In the Congress in 1959 Democrats voted against economy on 72 percent of the roll calls while Republicans consistently and persistently pressed for responsible programs.

The Democratic party nationally and state-wide, has coddled labor again, the same as it has done for quite a few years. The Democrats promise the moon, and the Republican candidates promise a fair representation for all the people of the United States. So the labor leaders back Kennedy and Foley against Richard M. Nixon and Charles McC. Mathias But we are thankful for the great mass of worthy laboring people who will pay no attention to the labor leaders' recommendation on election day.

Democrats in Congress, in attacking Republican balanced budgets, have introduced bills calling for additional spending of hundreds of billions of dollars over the next five years.

This fiscal responsibility of the Republican way of life is commended to the thinking American who is concerned about his own and his family's financial welfare during the next eight years. It should be a mandate to vote Republican on November 8th.

Committee Seeking Civil War Valuables

With John H. Wolf as chairman, a committee has been formed to organize a Museum featuring Civil War memorabilia to be exhibited during the coming centennial years Committee members are Irvin R Rudy, Jr., Kenneth L. Lawton, Edward R. O'Donnell, and Carson B. Groves. A listing is being made of appropriate and available exhibits. More than fifty items have already been offered as loans. Among the earliest were the sword, uniform cap, epaulettes, and camp chest used during the Civil War by Lieutenant Richard T. Browning, 2nd Regiment, Potomac Home Brigade, U. S. Army, whose postwar public career in Garrett County was considered a distinguished one.

The committee is seeking the loan of articles of all kinds pertaining to the war: weapons, newspapers of the time, diaries, photographs, letters. Anyone who has articles that might be suitable exhibits and who is willing to lend them temporarily is asked to phone or write Mr. Wolf or any member of the committee.

End Of Summer Season Will Occur Tonight

This evening will mark the end of what turned out to be a fairly wet summer. Sometime around 9 o'clock tonight the sun will cross the equator on its journey south, and we will have had the autumnal equinox.

Usually it is accompanied by rain and cooling weather, but this is not necessarily the case.

During the past week the weather has been fairly mild with rain on Saturday, and Sunday and Monday. Tuesday remained mostly cloudy but yesterday there was some sunshine.

Youth To Receive Eagle Scout Award

John Fitzwater III, who qualified for the rank of Eagle Scout at a Potomac Council board of review earlier this year, will receive his Eagle badge at a dinner meeting of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club on Monday evening, October 10.

Details of the program are being worked out. Fitzwater is a member of Oakland Troop No. 31, which is sponsored by the Lions club.

Fitzwater will be the twenty-fifth scout of Deep Creek District to receive this award. A minimum of 21 merit badges is required before a scout or explorer may apply for the Eagle rank, and in addition must have recommendations from his church, school and community, testifying to his activities in those areas.

Fitzwater is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzwater, Jr., of Mt. Lake Park. He became a scout in May, 1957, after being in the cubbing program for three years. He has served as senior patrol leader in his troop, assistant patrol leader and quartermaster. He attended the Boy Scout jamboree at Colorado Springs, Col., this summer.

New Curbs, Sidewalks Are Being Laid On Second St.

Workmen are engaged this week in laying new curbs on the west side of Second street, and a complete new sidewalk. The sidewalk fronting the Rudy Department store and the West Maryland Power company will be underlaid with a heating unit, making it possible to remove snow in the winter more easily.

The entire job is expected to take two weeks or more.

Proud Owners Of New School Buses

In the accompanying picture are shown two proud owners of their new school buses placed in service when schools opened September 6 On the right is Mr. William DeWitt owner of a new 60 passenger International bus, and on the left is Mr. Joseph Welch, owner of a new 60 passenger GMC. In addition to these two proud owners there are 18 other Garrett County bus contractors who have purchased new equipment within the past year. According to Robert Martin, Supervisor of Transportation, the bus equipment in the county is no doubt in the best condition it has been in for many years. Pre-school inspections found most of the vehicles in a good state of repair and all passed the rigid three-day inspection with but few exceptions. The few who failed inspection were sent back for needed repairs.

One innovation on the bus purchased by Mr. Welch is the intercom system placed on the bus by Mr. Welch, at his own expense He claims that the device enables him to much better communicate with pupils while the bus is in motion and thus leads to better discipline and also greater safety. The school board is studying this new speaker device with the thought that it might be recommended to the State Department for inclusion as standard equipment for all new buses in the future.

One Killed, One Injured In Wreck

Alvin Roderick, 28, Westernport, Dies As Car Leaves Highway And Crashes

One Allegany county man was killed and another injured early Sunday morning when the car in which they were riding crashed at a highway intersection near Deer Park.

He was identified as Alvin Luther Roderick, 28, of Westernport. He was the fourth person to be killed on Maryland highways over the week-end.

Mr. Roderick died shortly after the accident of injuries which included a crushed chest, rupured spleen and liver.

Gene Russell Pierce, 20, also of Westernport, the driver of the car, was injured. He was reported in fair condition at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland where he was being treated for a broken collarbone, back injuries and contusions.

State Police said the accident occurred about 2:15 a. m. at the intersection of Maryland route 135 and 495, about two miles east of Deer Park and about four miles west of Swanton.

Cpl. Robert D. Henline, who investigated, said the car being driven by Mr. Pierce failed to stop at the intersection. The vehicle ran through a guard rail and hurtled nearly 100 feet through the air before hitting a stump and tree.

Charged With Manslaughter

Corporal Henline on Monday entered a manslaughter by automobile charge against Pierce in the office of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney. The charge specifically was "unlawfully, in a grossly negligent manner, did kill and slay Alvin Luther Roderick."

The hearing was postponed.

Two of Jailbreakers Nabbed at Fairmont

Two of the three prisoners who sawed their way to freedom from the Garrett county jail at Oakland on September 11, were apprehended Tuesday night at Fairmont, W. Va., Sheriff James E. Frantz was informed yesterday.

In custody in Fairmont are Stanley Tasker, 16, of Kitzmiller, who is facing indictment by the grand jury for breaking and entering, and auto theft, and now also jail breaking; and Julian Ervin, Jr., 20, of Mt. Lake Park, awaiting action on indictments for forgery and also jail breaking.

Still at large is Walter Lee Davis, 19, of Fairmont, wanted for breaking and entering and larceny charges and jail breaking.

Authorities at Fairmont said they had received a tip that the three escapees were in that area and police had set up several stakeouts in efforts to apprehend them.

The two youths were arrested as they were walking along railroad tracks near Fairmont. Authorities there said the youths also were being sought in connection with the burglary of a grocery store about 15 miles from Fairmont last week.

Sheriff Frantz said he and deputy sheriff Wayne Wilt would go to Fairmont Friday to make necessary arrangements to return the two youths to this county.

Police in Fairmont said they were not sure what action would be taken against the two youths by Marion County authorities.

Authorities at the Marion County jail also said the two youths were questioned by an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for transporting a stolen vehicle across a state line.

Authorities reclaimed a stolen car in the vicinity of Shinnston, W. Va., one day this week, which was thought to have been stolen by these three escapees.

County Will Return To EST on Sunday

Standard time will return to Garrett County on Sunday morning, September 25, at 2 o'clock, and will remain in effect at least until the last Sunday in April, 1961.

The Board of Education announced last week that the schools would return to standard time also starting Monday morning, September 26. When the City Council voted last April to go on daylight time, nothing was said about when standard time would be observed, except that a council member said it would be the same as the previous year.

Several other towns in the county which adopted daylight time for the summer months, will also return to standard time. The only exception might be Bloomington where the townspeople and the school will remain on fast time until the last Sunday in October, to coincide with Allegany county.

The county officially will remain as it is at present. It never took any official action on the time question and remained on standard time throughout the summer months.

The fall schedule for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad will not go into effect for another month. The office of the Department of Employment Security will continue to operate on daylight time until October 30, to coincide with other state employment offices, it was announced by Charles L. Briner, manager.

Adult Polio Shots Now Being Limited

Polio shots for adults is being limited by the County Health department, it was announced this week by Dr Arthur F. Jones, county health officer.

Dr. Jones said any adult holding a medical care card, or any adult referred to the health department by his physician would be able to have his course of inoculations completed.

But he announced that it would be impossible to continue giving the vaccine to all other adults. The giving of shots will be limited to persons aged two months to twenty years.

He pointed out that one shot was of little value unless followed by the second and third. He advised persons to contact their family physician and arrange with him to complete the series. He also advised that it was advisable to get the 2nd shot four to six weeks after the first.

Trooper first class John F. "Jack" Browning of troop B., who fired a 297 out of a possible 300, was top individual scorer in the ninth interdepartment pistol match among State police, held at Easton yesterday.

Condemnation Suit Brings $23,000.00

A circuit court jury on Monday awarded Asa E. Glotfelty and Nina Glotfelty, his wife, of near Mellenry, $23,000 for the amount of property that the State Roads commission has taken from them for road improvement.

The commission had filed a check for $15,125 with the clerk of the Circuit court some months earlier, which Mr. and Mrs. Glotfelty termed insufficient. Condemnation proceedings were entered and the case was heard Monday by members of the petit jury.

The acreage involved was 3.83 acres with .901 of an acre for easements, etc.

Representing Mr. and Mrs. Glotfelty were Walter W. Dawson, S. R. Pagenhardt and Fred A. Thayer.

The property was appraised by two local individuals, A. G. Gortner, and J. Edward Helbig. One appraised it at more $25,000 while the other estimated it to be worth $23,000. On the property was a ten-room dwelling, two springs, a double garage, a spring house, a tenant cottage, and two farm ponds, on the part taken by the Roads commission.

The farm is located on U. S. 219, between Mellenry and the Hoyes road intersection, and is on the eastern side of the highway. The ground is being taken for the improvement of highway 219, leading from Mellenry to Keyser Ridge

Jury Awards $4,540

In a second condemnation suit heard by a jury this week, the Trustees of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren were awarded $4,540 for .61 of an acre of land plus .32 of an acre for easements, in their subdivision midway between Oakland and Mt. Lake Park. The land included five lots and a strip 19 to 20 feet wide from five other lots.

Attorneys for the Church of the Brethren had asked $6,000. The State Roads commission had deposited with the clerk of the circuit court two checks, one $1,605, and one of $1,926, for a total of $3,531.

Arguing for the church of The Brethren were S. R. Pagenhardt and Fred A. Thayer. Stuart F. Hamill represented the Roads commission.

Car Fails to Round Curve; Two Injured

Two men were injured early last Sunday morning when the car in which they were riding ran off the highway and overturned south of Mellenry.

Injured in the crash were Lee Hresko, 22, Rochester, Pa., and Earl Robeson Tichnell, 21, Swanton

Mr. Hresko, driver of the car, was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland for treatment of a laceration of the right upper arm and numerous lacerations and abrasions. He was reported in fair condition.

Mr Tichnell, riding with him, was treated for a lacerated right ear and numerous lacerations and abrasions.

Trooper D. A. Tucker, who investigated, said the accident occurred about 2:30 a. m on U. S. 219, about two miles south of Mellenry. He said the car was being driven north on the highway at an excessive rate of speed when it failed to negotiate a sharp left curve, ran off the road and overturned.

Charges are pending, Tucker said.

Deadline to Register Will Be Next Monday

Next Monday, September 26, just four days from today, is the absolute deadline for registration before the November 8 general election.

Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Elections, reminded prospective voters that election day rather than the final date for registration is the controlling factor on eligibility.

For instance, any newcomer to Maryland who has lived in Garrett county one year when election day rolls around is eligible to register on or before the September 26, deadline and vote. Anyone who moved to Maryland on or before November 7, 1959, may register now and vote in November.

Similarly, any person who has moved here from elsewhere in Maryland outside the Sixth Congressional District may register now if his move occurred on or before May 7, 1960.

Anyone moving to Garrett county from within the Sixth Congressional district—that is from Allegany, Washington, Frederick or Montgomery counties, may register immediately after moving here.

Any young citizen of Garrett county who will have reached his 21st birthday on or before November 8 may register before the September 26 deadline and vote in November.

Miss Rowan emphasized that the place where a person registers has no bearing on where he votes. Some persons had thought that they would have to vote at the court house if they registered there. The place of residence determines where a person votes.

The last mobile registration was conducted on Tuesday at Kitzmiller. At Bloomington last Friday there were 11 Democrats registering compared to 8 Republicans.

The board's office in the basement of the court house will be open for registration from 9 to 4 o'clock on Friday, from 9 to noon on Saturday, and again on Monday, from 9 to 4.

Mobile Registration Comes to an End

Mobile registration in the county has now come to an end and the figures show that 119 Republicans registered as compared to 102 for the Democrats. The totals reverse the trend that has been apparent over the past several years.

Miss Julia Rowan, clerk to the board of Supervisors of Elections, said that quite a few persons also had been registering at the office of the board, in the basement of the Court House, but that those figures would not be completely tallied for several weeks. She said she thought the totals in the board's office were running about even.

The Republicans led in registration 105 to 71, but the last two dates were for Bloomington and Kitzmiller. Registration at Bloomington showed 11 Democrats compared to 8 Republicans, and at Kitzmiller the figures were 20 Democrats and 6 Republicans.

Five Are Inducted

Five young men of this area left Tuesday for Fairmont, W. Va., where they were inducted into the armed forces

They were Ernest R. Welch, Oakland; Edward L. Grove, Friendsville; Paul R. Crosier, Crellin; Francis J. Lewis, Oakland, and Carroll L. Paugh, Deer Park

At the same time five persons left for their pre-induction physical examination.

Legislative Council To Pay Annual Visit To County October 1

The members of the Maryland Legislative Council, made up of delegates and senators from the General Assembly, will pay its annual visit to Garrett county on Saturday, October 1, it was announced this week by State Senator Bernard I. Gonder, Oakland. He said the party would consist of about thirty people and would include members of the council's staff.

The entire party will arrive at Point View motel around noon and stay at Point View over night. They will return to their homes on Sunday.

The council members and county officials will hold a private session in the afternoon following a boat tour of the lake area, and have scheduled an open meeting with citizens of the county in the main dining room of the inn at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Gonder said the council members were interested in learning about the problems that beset the citizens of this county, and that all who are interested were invited to attend the session.

Quail Being Grown By County Groups

Quail raised this summer by youth belonging to youth groups will be released within the next few weeks in a effort to establish more quail in the county, as well as acquaint young people with the work of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission.

The commission provides one to three day old birds free of charge to a club or to an individual in the youth organizations, such as 4-H, F.F.A., and Scouts. The boys raise the birds for 10 to 12 weeks providing necessary feed and shelter. They can then release them on their property with approval of the commission.

Harold Harmon, in charge of the program in the county, says that 150 quail were given to youth groups this year - 4-H, Cove F.F.A. Chapter, and Casselman Valley Junior Sportsman Association of Grantsville.

4-H Leaders Audley Riley and Harold White made arrangement for birds to be grown by Donald and Douglas Bittinger, Rocky and Jerry Swiger, and Dennis, Reece, and Royce Riley.

Wild turkey birds and eggs are also provided to individuals in a program designed to increase this game in the county. Two 4-H'ers help their parents raise them. Carroll Thomas of Oakland and Richard Bowser, Grantsville.

Three other persons were indicted but they have not yet been apprehended, so their cases are not listed on the open docket. Two of the cases involved bastardy charges The third case involves three charges of larceny against an individual.

Teen Club News

Well its back to school and also last week it seemed it was back to Teen Club as we had the biggest crowd we have had for some time. It really makes you feel good to see such a big bunch of teen agers having a good time as they always seem to do at our Teen Club. I will say again the reason for such a good club is due to the members themselves. We are acquiring all the latest records and very soon our library will be up to par and will be kept up to date from week to week. We were going to start our disc jockey contest this Friday night but due to the game at Frostburg we will hold off and start next week and hope that all who can will head down to Frostburg and help cheer the Southern football team. I think we are going to have a winning team this year, expecially after the way the boys played last Friday against W. Va. Deaf. The credit goes to the coaching staff, the players, backers and members of the Booster Club. The P. A. system will be in operation the first night game and this through the efforts of the Teen Club. Well the gab is gone so until Friday night, keep in there pitching and don't forget to tell the kids who don't come to Teen Club just how nice a club we have and get them coming also. Above all keep rooting for good ole' Southern and here's hoping we don't lose a game this year. See you Friday night and don't forget to get your name in for the disc jockey contest, you may win the nice portable record player.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. George H. Hanst, Editor
The Republican
Second Street
Oakland, Maryland
Dear Mr. Hanst:

I have just been shown a copy of your paper dated September 8th and particular reference is made to the report of the Mandamus suit recently heard before me in Oakland. I note in the penultimate paragraph reference is made to a person approaching me after the case was heard and my alleged comment. In fairness to the person involved, here is exactly what took place. I was approached by one of your residents as I was proceeding through the hallway of the Court House. The gentleman asked if he could talk to me, thinking that it had something to do with the case, I said, "No", and he then replied that he would write me a letter. The conversation proceeded and I learned that the matter which he wished to discuss had nothing whatsoever to do with the proceedings at hand and we continued our conversation to a conclusion. The approach to me was entirely innocent and utterly void of any aspects of contempt.

Considering the number of people in the Court House and the mistaken conclusion of the person or persons who overheard my spoken words, I would appreciate this letter being made public to correct any injustice or misapprehension possibly involving my fellow conversationalist.

Very truly yours,
D. K. McLaughlin,
Judge

Dear Sir:

I recently received in the mail, under a local postmark, a packet of material of the most vicious kind. There was no return address on the plain brown envelope which shows clearly the type of person who would send such scurrilous materials. The person or group that sent it was clearly attacking the Roman Catholic Church. In making such accusations as contained in the printed matter those persons were attacking the very foundations of this nation which was founded on religious freedom.

We think we are free of such viciousness in Western Maryland for we are far from any organized groups who would stoop so low as to attack one's neighbors. Yet we find within our own community persons who are so ill informed as to the issues of the day that they use backhouse methods to smear their personal prejudices over a wide area.

The Presidential campaign now in progress is a contest between two very able men—Vice-President Richard Nixon on the one hand, and Senator John F. Kennedy on the other. The point I wish to make here is not in defense of one candidate or the other, but rather the methods being used to defame one religious group. We all know the very unfortunate statements made in other sections of the country with regard to the religious background of Mr. Kennedy. This candidate has been on the defensive since his nomination in Los Angeles. He has had little opportunity to discuss the real issues at hand for the constant attacks on his personal religious life. True Mr. Kennedy belongs to a world-wide Communion which is misunderstood by the vast majority of non-Roman Catholics, but it is not fuel to be added to the fire of bigotry and intolerance. Men's minds have become clouded because the very word 'Roman Catholic' conjures up false images. A man's religious life is his personal affair and should not be made a source of ridicule by the ignorant, by the prejudiced, by the bigot, by the narrow-minded. The business of sending anonymous, cheap, scurrilous materials through the U. S. mails is abusing the privileges afforded us. No one seems free of such filth any longer. Surely there must be some protection of the public from this sort of thing. Persons who stoop to such depths are to be pitied and need the prayers of all of us.

Poisonous Plants
● Cancer Defense
● Color-blind Test

Q. Are any plants or flowers commonly found in gardens poisonous?
A. Only a few garden plants are harmful when eaten. Included among the harmful ones are plants of the Solanaceae family, rhododendrons, mountain laurel, Christmas rose, and monkshood. The seeds and juice of oleander are very poisonous, as are many other plants of the Apocynaceae family.

Q. Does the body "put up a fight" or build any defense against cancer?
A. Two things are involved in the disease which we know as cancer—the tumor and the victim's reaction to the tumor. The cancer lesion tends to grow and invade normal body tissue, while the person's body resists to varying degrees. If the body wins the battle all is well. If the tumor wins, the cancerous process goes on until the end. Much is known about tumors, how they grow and how they destroy tissue, but not much has been learned about the body's power to resist cancer. Researchers are studying this phase of cancer in their search for better methods of treatment. More knowledge along these lines may supply the answer to the cancer problem.

Q. Are there ways to "fool" the color-blind test given to armed service inductees?
A. No. The test usually given for color blindness, in which the person being tested views a series of color plates (such as the Ishihara series), is failed by almost all subjects with any degree of red-green color deficiency.

It's wise to become associated with a family physician before illness strikes. When you move to a new neighborhood, it's wise to make yourself known to the doctor of your choice. Making Compost or Artificial Manure

Don't burn your leaves or garden refuse, advises James McHenry, County Agent. Instead start a compost pile. Burning of leaves and garden trash creates fire hazards in addition to wasting much good organic material. Compost piles can be made from almost any vegetable matter such as lawn clippings, leaves, weeds, or accumulated garden refuse.

Backyard compost heaps should be located in secluded places. They may be built up on the surface of the soil, but it is better to have a pit a foot or two deep. Agronomy Mimeo No. 38 on making a compost pile is available from the County Agent's Office.

This type of compost heap should be built up evenly with a flat top so that it will catch all the rain possible. In dry weather it should be watered liberally and care should be taken to compact any loose material such as leaves.

When the heap has attained a depth of at least a foot, three or four pounds of either hydrated lime or pulverized limestone should be sprinkled over it. After liming, an even layer of good top soil about one inch deep should be applied. Fertilizer should be sprinkled evenly over this soil. Four or five pounds of a complete fertilizer rich in nitrogen, such as a 10-10-10 is suggested.

At least four or five such layers should be built up until the heap attains a thickness of about three feet. When it has reached the desired depth, it should be allowed to stand for several weeks. It should then be forked over thoroughly. Repeat the forking several times at intervals of two or three weeks, until the coarse material is well broken down. Keeping, the heap moist and compact will hasten the action.

A compost heap may be started at any time of the year but will require about four months of warm weather for thorough decomposition, unless particular care is taken to regulate the moisture content.

If you are not interested in a compost pile, another idea it to mulch the leaves with a power mower. This mulch can be used as protection cover for shrubbery or ornamentals. Mulched leaves also decompose faster and return organic matter to the soil.

Southern High school unloosed a barrage of seven touchdowns and scored five extra points to rout the West Virginia School for the Deaf by the score of 47 to 6 in a Potomac Valley Conference football game staged last Friday afternoon at Oakland.

The victory was the second of the season for Coach Earl Adolfson's Highlanders in the PVC while the defeat was the first for the Lions for Romney in 20 games played since the middle of the 1957 campaign. West Virginia School for the Deaf came to Oakland undefeated and tied thrice in 19 games played in the past two and one-half years.

Seven players figured in Oakland's touchdown scoring spree, namely Jim Haines, Arthur "Butch" Lawton, Jim Craig, Ron Colaw, Frank Vetter, Dick Stuck and Joe Beckman. Ron Colaw scored two extra points on runs, Ken Jones tallied from placement, and Stuck and Beckman made the other conversions on sprints.

Southern took a 12-6 lead in the first half when Stuck passed 15 yards to Haines for the initial six-pointer and Stuck tallied from the three in the opening period. Jones missed both tries from placement.

Tommy Jividen's 12-yard aerial to Frazier netted the Lions their only TD in the second period.

The Highlanders closed strongly, scoring 21 points in the third period and 14 markers in the final quarter.

"Butch" Lawton ran over from the three, Jim Craig intercepted a pass and sprinted 50 yards for Southern's fourth touchdown and Ron Colaw scored from the nine in the third stanza. In the final quarter Vetter and Beckman added six-pointers on seven yard runs.

Coach Adalfson used his entire string of substitutes which included Dixon, G. Wotring, R. Wotring, R. Cerne, B. House, J. Jones, G. Stanya, C. Corbin, E. Bateman, J. Beckman, R. McRobie, D. Gnegy, J. DiSimone, J. Gower, L. Dixon, C. Sharpless, B. Lawton, and H. White.

Southern's next home engagement is with Northern High on Friday evening, October 7. It will be the first game under the lights in Oakland and will be a homecoming affair. The Highlanders will play their first night game of the season at Beall High school, Frostburg, on Friday night at 8 o'clock. Beall also is a member of the Potomac Valley conference.

Sees Bald Eagles

Caleb Winslow, of Baltimore, and summer resident of Deep Creek Lake, reported that during the summer months he had observed bald eagles in the area upon several occasions.

These birds are considered very rare. He expressed the hope that no "trigger happy" hunter would attempt to shoot them. The bald eagle is one of the symbols of the United States of America.

NICE ALFALFA CROP—Carl Sisler looks over a month-old seeding of alfalfa which he is producing from an old, worn-out meadow on his farm near Red House. Careful selection of seed, fertilizer and planting practices are paying off for the young farmer. (Story below.)

Alfalfa Seeding Test Brings Results

The accompanying picture, taken September 9, is an alfalfa seeding made just one month before. Carl Sisler made the seeding August 8 on his farm near Red House. He looks proud of the results, and he should be, according to James McHenry, county agent. Carl set out to convert an old, worn-out meadow to a really good alfalfa stand and he tried to do everything just right to get good results. He limed and manured the old sod in 1959, and this spring applied 500 pounds per acre of 0-20-20.

After the hay was harvested this year the seed-bed was prepared by ripping and discing instead of by plowing. First, Carroll Martin, a neighbor, went over the field with a heavy ripper, to open up the soil to plow depth and start breaking up the old sod. This was followed by discing five separate times to completely break up and destroy the existing growth (except for scattered veteran alfalfa stalks). Carl says that this method is more work than by plowing and discing, but he is sold on the idea because the residues from the sod are left on and near the surface to act as a mulch. This reduces the danger of erosion, holds moisture near the surface, and encourages early germination and good growth.

Before the last discing, 300 pounds per acre of 0-25-25, with 12 pounds boron per ton, was broadcast. The seeding consisted of 20 pounds per acre of certified Narragansett alfalfa, carefully inoculated and put on with a cultipacker-seeder belonging to the Soil Conservation District. This type seeder firms and helps smooth the seed-bed and covers the seed about right for good germination.

Before starting the job Carl had soil tests made, and checked with the County Agent for seed and fertilizer recommendations. The next fertilizer application will likely be phosphorous and potash, put on right after first cutting next year.

The field will certainly produce a big crop of top-quality hay next year Mr. McHenry said. With good fertility and cutting management it will continue to do so for at least two and perhaps four years after that, he concluded.

Girl Scouts Plan Activities

The Senior Girl Scouts, troop 87, met last Wednesday at the Scout hall to plan activities for the coming year.

Girls, freshmen through seniors in high school, are being sought for new members. Interested persons are asked to call DE 4-3524.

Student Council Officers Installed

The installation of the Northern High School Student Council officers took place during a special assembly last Thursday, September 15. The newly appointed officers were the president, Bonnie Friend; vice-president, Sue Friend; secretary, Shirley Alexander; treasurer, Kathy Haenftling; and parliamentarian, George Patton.

The principal, Mr. Lewis Walker, discussed briefly the challenge confronting the new members and the leadership responsibility required of them to make the new school year a successful one.

Student Council president, Bonnie Friend, spoke briefly on the purpose and goals of the Student Council and, among other topics, proposed a school flag and a student safety program.

The forty-two delegates and alternates chosen for the new Student Council are as follows, beginning with the seventh grade: Charles Ross, Larry Buckel, Sharon Friend, George Edwards, Clark Artice, Sandra Brant, Maxine Stanton, Rosa Fike, Susie Coddington, Ellis Schlossnagle, Dan Nicklow, Christine Renwick, Marsha Bittinger, Bob Beitzel, Jim Teats, Jerry Fike, Bob Lowery, Keith Yoder, Brenda VanSickle, Bill Jones, Judy McKenzie, Robert Glover, Judy Meyers, Judy Evans, Carol McKenzie, Tom Speicher, Florence Doerr, David Coddington, Dale Evans, Linda Savage, Bob Edwards, Sandra Swauger, Nancy Miller, Carolyn Thomas, Gary Thomas, Carl Frazee, Sharon McKenzie, Wayne Yoder, Gladys McKenzie, Jim Buckel, Bonnie Vltez, and Carol Oester.

There was a musical prelude by the school band, and devotions were conducted by Margaret Beachy.

Fire Control Season Is Open in District

The fire control season in Western Maryland opened last week and R. Thomas Thayer, district forester, urged all persons to cooperate in prevention of forest fires.

Thayer reminded persons that all open air burning is prohibited except under certain conditions. There must be a fire break, natural or constructed at least 10 feet wide completely around the material to be burned. There must be adequate personnel and equipment to prevent the fire from escaping beyond the fire break and there must be at least one person at the fire until the last spark is out.

Until December 15 no open air burning will be allowed between 4 p. m. and midnight.

Thayer said there were 800,000 acres of forested land in the four western Maryland counties and in recent year the public's cooperation has keep the acreage burned to a minimum.

Per Pupil Cost Here Is Lowest in State

A recent report released by the State Department of Education on expenditures per pupil in each county for 1958-59, revealed that the cost in Garrett county was the lowest in the state while the cost in Montgomery county was the highest.

The cost per pupil in the six counties in this area of Western Maryland; Washington county, $265.27; Frederick county $251.47; Allegany county, $232.78; Carroll county, $205.90; Garrett county, $193.48; Montgomery county, $298.53.

The figures showed that if this county spent as much per pupil on the education of its children as Montgomery county it would spent an additional $500,000 per year.

Willard L. Hawkins, superintendent of schools, said that no county in the state provides more for the tax dollar spent on education than Garrett county.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Result Of Flood Of 1908 Is Shown

During the years, water has furnished its share of problems for Oakland. Sometimes it has been in the form of a scarcity, and at other times difficulties have arisen from an over abundance.

Today's old photograph shows a result of the latter situation, nearly sixty years ago. The picture was taken on May 29, 1908, by Samuel Lawton, an early local photographer, who perched his camera on the roof of the building now housing the West Maryland Power company offices and focused north on Second street.

A similar scene has been recorded at the same intersection many times during the years since this early flood. Perhaps two activities now underway, the flood control project on Wilson Run and the water supply plans for the Youghiogheny river in future years will result in a leveling out of Oakland's water ups and downs.

A newspaper account of June 4, 1908, describes this scene:

"The business places on Second street along Wilson's run were flooded Friday last by that stream getting out of banks, caused by a heavy downpour in the nature of a cloudburst. The water rose quickly and reached a considerable depth in the business places of H. Lauer, baker; D. E. Bolden, furniture; William Hinebaugh, restaurant; E. L. Beckwith, saloon, and D. M. Dixon, merchant.

"The greatest loss sustained was in the furniture store of D. E. Bolden and the bakery of Henry Lauer. Besides damage to the stocks in the above places, a thick layer of mud was left on the floors in all of the business places after the water subsided."

All of the buildings shown in the picture are still standing except that of D. M. Dixon, now the site of the H-P Stores. Posters visible indicate a circus was scheduled to perform here a week later, on June 5.

The photograph belong to Dennis Rasche.

Recalls Lumber Camp

Last week's old picture, of a lumber mill on the Savage river, brought back recollections to a former resident now residing in far-off Spokane, Washington.

F. O. Glotfelty recalled the camp as being located on Blue Lick, a tributary of the Savage river, in the New Germany section. He says, "The picture sure brings back many fond memories. I am seated in the front row, right end. There are only about six of us still living. This was an able body of men.

"Best wishes to The Republican and all of you, and a Republican victory in November."

Mathias Scores His Opponent Spending Program In Congress

Charles "Mac" Mathias, Maryland's Sixth District Republican candidate for Congress in a debate at the Western Junior High School auditorium Monday, September 19, characterized his Democratic opponent's boasts of being one of the 25 biggest spenders in Congress "indicative of his legislative immaturity and irresponsibility to the general welfare of the Sixth District voters."

Mathias referred to the present Congressman's 100% voting record for all-out spending and a 0% for any economy as reported by the non-partisan Congressional Quarterly.

Under the constant documented attacks by Mathias, the Democrat incumbent has retreated into a bragging defense before audiences, saying "I am happy to be one of the 25" . . . (biggest spenders.)

"Let us consider the anatomy of a spender. Just what is a spender? Just what is a spending Congressman?" Mathias asked his audience. "Webster defines a spender as 'One who spends, one who spends lavishly; a prodigal; a spendthrift.' How does this apply to a spending Congressman?'

A spending Congressman wants federal assistance for everything. He chooses to ignore the fact that our government was conceived to help the people, not to subject them to economic calamity.

A spending Congressman never considers the cost of any program. He votes to spend, spend, spend on any federal project though that particular legislation may be against the best interests of his people, such as our congressman's vote—believe it or not—for the eradication of water lilies in the Louisiana bayous.

A spending Congressman never considers the costs of these programs. He is perfectly willing to saddle his constituents with ever-increasing tax burdens to support these pet projects.

A spending Congressman ignores the penalties imposed on his hard working constituents by inflation. He sends inflation soaring with each of his irresponsible, extravagant spending bills, though he knows there is a direct relationship between Big Government spending and the price of a housewife's market basket, the value of retirement pensions and insurance policies.

"Congress under the Constitution is charged with the responsibility to provide for the defense and general welfare of the American people. When you get reckless and begin to squander the treasury of the people you have seriously violated that sacred trust," Mathias said.

"As further proof of his personal irresponsibility and attempts to fool the voters of this district about my beliefs, my opponent has attempted to obscure the issues by presuming to predict what my vote would have been on these same bills. Tonight and every night," Mathias said to his opponent, "I am going to take Priscilla's advice. I'll speak for myself, John'"

"John Foley cannot excuse his immature and irresponsible legislative actions by venturing a prediction on my votes. Any person need only look at the record to find that even Senators Kennedy and Johnson as the moving forces behind the Democrat legislation found it necessary to exercise some judgment and responsibility to their high offices during the last two Congresses. Again I quote from the Congressional Quarterly, both leaders of the Democratic ticket averaged a high of 71% for spending a full 26 points below the 100% spending voting record for our Congressman Foley. How does he explain the difference?

Mathias said his votes on all measures will be based on need to maintain the general well-being of the Sixth District voters after careful and conscientious study of the legislation.

Helicopter Forced Down on Big Savage

A small helicopter being flown from Clarksburg, W. Va., to Wilmington, Del., Monday was forced to land on Big Savage mountain, west of Frostburg about 2:25 p. m. because of a heavy fog bank in the area.

S. A. Affara, Wilmington, the pilot, told Maryland State Police he was piloting the copter without a flight plan and was following U. S. route 40 when he ran into the fog. He is employed by Delacopters of Wilmington, a charter plane organization and was flying the recently purchased helicopter to Delaware.

Trooper B. J. Chabot who investigated, supplied the pilot with blankets and a flashlight. A repair [illegible] of the Naval Air patrol offered to guard the plane and the pilot spent the night at a nearby motel. He planned to resume his trip Tuesday.

What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own.

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done. From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Micah 6:1-8.
Devotional Reading: Micah 7:18-20.

What Is Good?

Lesson for September 25, 1960

DIFFERENT kinds of Christians argue about doctrine, but they do not argue so much about what is good and right to do. One of the most famous passages in the entire Bible is up for study this week. Some of its great words have been inscribed in Roman Catholic cathedrals, in Unitarian churches, in Protestant sanctuaries. We have to agree with one another here, because the Bible speaks on the point so plainly we cannot dodge it.

Dr. Foreman

What Do We Mean By "Good"

Everybody uses the word "good" but not everybody stops to think what it exactly means. It certainly means more than "I like it." We know what we call good, but why do we call it that? And is there good which deserves the name whether we recognize it or not?

What we really want to know, when we are serious about all this, is what God calls good. Now this is not a new question. Many centuries ago the prophet Micah faced "good" people who felt that somehow they had failed to please God. They asked, in effect, What does God really want us to do? If we could figure that out, then of course that would be the good, for God is not going to be satisfied with anything less. They were religious enough to see that much, though Micah had to help them over the bridge to a fuller understanding.

The People vs. God

Micah does this dramatically. He imagines a court room as big as all outdoors. Judges are the mountains, the "enduring foundations of the earth," symbols of eternal Justice. God first asks what his people have against him. He reviews their history, reminds them of how his providence has led and protected them so long. Then the people speak. Is it a little desperately? What does the Lord desire? they ask. We offer sacrifices, isn't that enough? Is God insatiable does he demand always more and bigger sacrifices? Instead of a few gallons of olive oil a year shall we pour rivers of oil on God's altar? Instead of one lamb sacrificed at one time will he be better pleased with a thousand?

He Has Showed You What Is Good

Then comes the voice (some think it is the prophet's, others think it is the verdict of the "everlasting hills") bringing the decision of truth. Some one has pointed out that Micah does not offer a solution of his own. He points (without using their names) to the three other great prophets of his own day, Amos, Hosea, and Isaiah. Amos' key-thought was Justice; Hosea's was Mercy (or "steadfast love"); and Isaiah's was Humility. God has showed you (Israel) by these three prophets what "GOOD" is. You do not need another prophet to tell you. Just these three things: Justice, kindness, a humble spirit before God. If ever any one tries to tell you that religion is so complicated that only professors can understant it, show them this sentence from Micah. If any one claims that religion is a lot of stupid Do's and Don'ts, make them read these simple words.

Too Simple?

Some Bible readers feel a little let down at this point. "If "good" is so hard for men to define, how much more mysterious it must be as God sees it! Surely there must be something more, something bigger than this! Well, but what is bigger than justice, what is greater than steadfast love, what is better than humility in the presence of God? These are not little items picked from a long list of little items. These are very big indeed. You can live a long life working out the meaning of justice and mercy and humility. Besides, you will notice that Micah does not claim that is all there is to religion. What he does claim is these are the Musts. Without these three, everything else goes sour. On this foundation much can be built. This is the ground-floor of Good. But without this foundation, no house of life can be called good, for it will not stand.

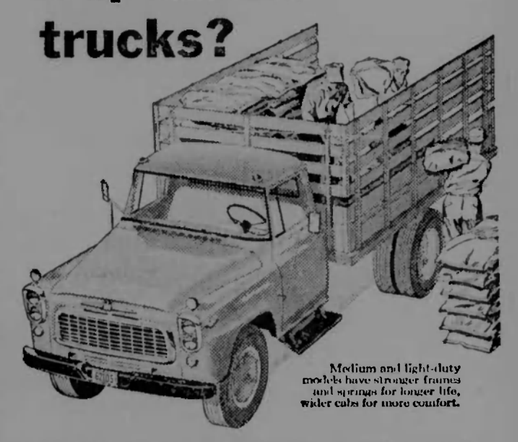
Exams For Service Schools To Be Held

Congressman John R. Foley announced this week that he will nominate candidates for one vacancy next summer at the U. S. Naval Academy, one for West Point, and one for the U. S. Air Force Academy under a competitive system, which will include a competitive Civil Service Commission Examination.

This examination, set up by the Civil Service Commission, specifically for Representatives and Senators to use as one of their criteria in nominating men for the Academies, will be held at various locations throughout the nation at 8:30 A. M. on Saturday, November 12th. He urged all prospective candidates to contact him as soon as possible so that they can receive pertinent information on the November examination.

Foley said that candidates from his Congressional District, which includes Montgomery, Frederick, Washington, Allegany, and Garrett Counties in Western Maryland, must notify him by October 1st of their desire to compete for one of the three vacancies.



"The competitive method of nomination is preferred by the Academies and will remove all partisan politics from the appointments" he said.

He is allowed to nominate ten candidates to compete on a state-wide basis with other Congressional and Senatorial nominees for Maryland's allotment of 5 vacancies at the Merchant Marine Academy at Great Neck, Long Island. These candidates must also take the CSC exam on November 12th and should apply by October 1st.

Busy mother of three finds telephone gives 21 extra hours in two weeks...saves $17.38 and 200 miles of traveling

Mrs. H. Richard Duden of Annapolis recently kept a two-week record of all her family's telephone calls. For each call she also estimated any expense, time and traveling that were saved by being able to telephone.

At the end of two weeks, her tally showed that the telephone had given them almost a full day of extra time, and had saved far more in traveling expenses than the cost of their telephone service.

Whether it was a call to summon a washer repairman or rounding up the youngsters, the phone made busy days easier.

Mrs. Duden found, too, that some calls provide pleasure and peace of mind that can't be measured in time or money saved. For instance, her husband who is an insurance representative and football coach, had to make a business trip to Florida. His Long Distance call to the family went into a "special" category of her telephone diary.

Perhaps you might like to keep a diary to see what your telephone does. We think you'd find, too, that your telephone saves much more in time, trouble and expense—than the cost of having it.

Lutheran Hour Concludes Special Series Over Radio

On Sept. 11th the Lutheran Hour concluded a special U. S. summer series called "Platform for Christ," featuring out the Christian aspects of today's key political issues.

Back from a ten-week summer visit in Europe—including Moscow, Warsaw, and Berlin—to serve as adviser on a film depicting the struggle of East German Christians against Communist oppression, Dr. Hoffman will begin his sixth year at Lutheran Hour speaker. His Sept. 25th topic will be, "Is Religion Enough?"

The Lutheran Hour is broadcast by more than 40 Canadian stations, 600 U. S. stations, and 500 other stations around the world. It is heard in more than 100 lands by an estimated 25 million each week, each in his own language.

It is the world's largest non-government radio operation. Only the Voice of America, Radio Moscow, and the British Broadcasting Corp. have more coverage.

The program's sole purpose is expressed in it's motto, "Bringing Christ to the Nations." It is sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League, affiliate of The Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, producers of TV's "This Is The Life."

Coach Carroll Bumgarner hit the win column on his second try last Friday as his Northern High school Huskies evened their record at 1-1 with a 34-14 triumph over Terra Alta in a game played at Accident.

Halfback Dick McCurdy was the big gun for the Huskies, who last week were shut out by Meyersdale 19 to 0 as Bumgarner, former West Virginia Tech gridder, made his coaching debut.

McCurdy slashed off tackle for a 40-yard touchdown run and then crossed the goal line from six yards out to account for both of the Huskies' first quarter TD's. From that point on the Huskies had an easy time of it, scoring in every period but the last when Terra Alta tallied twice against Northern's reserves.

The longest scoring play of the afternoon was a 54-yard pass interception return by Northern's Kenny Smith. A 12-yard pass from Jerry Finzel to Larry Yommer, and an eight yard quarterback "keeper" accounted for the other scores.

Fracey, Terra Alta right halfback, scored both of his team's six-pointers on short thrusts through the line.

The Northern High band played at the game and entertained with a performance by the Majorettes at half-time. A large number of students attended.

This Saturday the Cove eleven will tangle with the Keyser "B" eleven at 1:30 o'clock.

Serves As Technician In Trophy Event

A former Oakland ar[illegible] Technician Sgt. Ernest D. [illegible] 28, has been serving as a ground crewman for an Air National Guard jet in the annual Gen. [illegible] Event in California.

Sgt. Bittner is the son of Mrs. Myrtle Bittner of Rt. 2, Deer Park. A full-time employe of the Ohio Air National Guard, he is one of only five technicians chosen to be ground crew of the F84F Thunderstreak jet fighter-bomber flown by Lt. Col. Paul E. Hoover, commander of the 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron of the Ohio Air Guard at Columbus.

The Ricks Trophy Event is an annual competition among Air Guard squadrons flying the same type of aircraft. Judging is on the basis of proficiency on a simulated combat mission. This year's competition site was California, Sept. 20-21.

Sgt. Bittner now lives at 2783 Hawthorne Ave. in Columbus, Ohio. He is married and has three children.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 81 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY MD., SEPTEMBER 29, 1960 | PER COPY, 8c | NUMBER 31.

Key To Victory? . . .

In 1960, for the first time, women will outvote men, making them a possible key to victory in this campaign for the Republican party.

The Republican party has always capitalized on the energies and skills of its women. Recognition accorded them at the Chicago convention topped all previous highs for either party. Almost one-fourth the total convention strength was women. Eleven women held top ranking convention positions and committee chairmanships. Thirty-four women addressed the convention.

Under two terms of the Eisenhower administration, more than 408 women were appointed to top level posts in the diplomatic service, federal agencies, boards and commissions.

Mrs. Nixon, wife of the Republican presidential nominee, has been an ambassadress of good will throughout the past four years and has been an excellent one, accompanying the vice-president on many of his trips to foreign countries.

This year the U. S. News and World Report asks the question, "Will Women Decide the Election?"

An unprecedented appeal is underway to woo the women voters. With the election calculated to be a close one, it would be that the margin of victory could be the women's votes, since there are now three million more women than men among voting-age Americans.

Republicans plan to play up Lodge's role and show that Pat Nixon is an ideal "first lady." There are many groups organizing as "Pat for First Lady." There are "Women for Nixon-Lodge," organizations, and "Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge, Women's Division."

Both parties, in making their bid for the votes of women, seem to agree on this much, according to the U. S. News. Women do not vote in a bloc. There is no issue which can be said to appeal primarily to women, even the peace issue. Women appear to be more responsive to personalities.

In this county Republican women are being counted on to play an important part as voters, and as workers. We are sure this activity will pay off in a substantial majority for The Republican Candidates.

Jail Escapees Get Prison Sentences

Two Years Meted Out To Stanley Tasker—Ervin Gets 18 Months

The two county youths who escaped from the Garrett County Jail September 11, who were captured in Fairmont and returned to Oakland last Friday, were brought before the court at the opening session of the September term on Monday morning.

Stanley Tasker, 16, of Kitzmiller, who pleaded guilty to charges of larceny and burglary, was sentenced to one year in the Reformatory for Males on the larceny charge, and two years in the Reformatory on the burglary charges. On the jail breaking charge he was sentenced to not more than two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males. The sentences were to run concurrently.

Julian Ervin, Jr., 20, of Mt. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to forgery and was sentenced to 18 months in the House of Correction. On the jail breaking charge he was also given an 18 months sentence, both sentences to run concurrently.

The third youth involved in the escape from the Oakland jail, Walter Lee Davis, 19, of Fairmont, is still sought by police. He was being held in jail on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

All three were indicted two weeks ago by the grand jury.

Tasker has pleaded guilty to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, and to breaking and entering the garage of Melvin Arnold, of Kitzmiller. Ervin pleaded guilty

Roads Crews Making Efforts to Prepare For Winter's Snows

State and County roads crews are making intensive preparations to get their equipment ready for the expected winter snows.

The State Roads commission has spent in excess of $165,000 for heavy equipment to be used in Garrett and Allegany counties this winter to remove snow from highways.

John D. Bushby, district engineer, said the SRC decided to enlarge its force of snow removal machines for this section to handle the usual heavy snows. Last year's experiences prompted the expanded program.

Two huge rotary snow plows which cost $25,000 each, have been bought, one for this county and the other for the district headquarters near Cumberland. The rotary plows are the newest type and are powered by diesel motors. County roads engineer Edward P. Kahl, said thus far he had heard nothing about the new machinery.

In addition, Bushby said three new diesel powered graders of the largest type had been purchased, to be used for grading highways in summer and having large V plows attached in winter for the snow removal program. These machines cost approximately $20,000 each. Three other trucks with four-wheel drive have been obtained and they will be fitted with V plows. They cost $18,000 each.

An additional 10,000 feet of snow fencing with posts has been purchased by the state but most of this new snow fence is destined for Allegany county.

Mr. Kahl gave a run-down of the equipment already on hand in this county. There are 20 snow plows, two graders equipped with V plows, and one Rotary plow.

The State has 190,000 feet of snow fence, and will obtain 7,500 additional feet for replacement Mr. Kahl said some equipment also was being replaced. One grader costing around $15,000 will be sent

Clarence L. Stem, manager, said the people would be welcome to inspect the improvements closely and ask any questions they desire to learn more about the company's operation.

The annual report of the State Forestry department for district 1 was recently submitted to state officials at Annapolis by R. Thomas Thayer, district forester, and shows a wide variety of activities, many of them of financial benefit to the county.

Money wise, the report showed a total income from timber sales of $30,050.19, with $21,176.75 from Savage river forest; $1,631.51 from Swallow Falls forest; $1,795.85 from Potomac forest; and $2,146.05 from Green ridge forest in Allegany county.

Income from pulpwood delivered to the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company amounted to $5,888.15; miscellaneous income, $926.16; and rentals of state forest buildings and land, $523.50, for a total income for the fiscal year of $37,388.30. Man Prefers Jail, Ten Days In Lieu of Buying Dog License

Court action yesterday found a man preferring a jail term of ten days to purchasing a dog license for $1. He was Blaine Wilburn past 80 years of age, of near Accident.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, hearing the appeal case which had come into court from the docket of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, found Mr. Wilburn guilty on a charge of failing to purchase a license for his dog. Wilburn had pleaded not guilty before Magistrate Maroney several weeks ago but had been found guilty and had appealed the conviction.

Mr. Wilburn served as his own attorney. Judge Fraley meted out a line of $10 and costs or in default of payment to serve ten days in the county jail. The Judge then told Mr. Wilburn that if he would agree to buy a dog license and buy it immediately he would suspend the sentence and the costs. Said Mr. Wilburn, "I'll take the jail sentence."

When arrested late in July Mr. Wilburn had told Raymond Schlossnagle, constable, "if you want me you'll have to take me," so Schlossnagle got Junior Evans, Oakland area constable, and the two of them brought him in but had to carry him from his field to the automobile which was waiting nearby.

He may be arrested again by authorities on the same charge if he still refuses to by his dog licenses, it was stated.

Baumgartner Dog Case

Another appeal case was scheduled to come before the court concerning another dog law violation, but Judge Fraley remanded the case to the magistrate because the case was not legally brought before him.

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner was charged by town officials with allowing his dog to run at large. When brought before the magistrate he pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. The warrant was sent to the court house but Judge Fraley ruled the warrant had never been served on Dr Baumgartner, and as a result he was never put under bond for his appearance in court.

It was indicated yesterday by town officials that the warrant would be served and that the case would probably be ready for the March term of court.

Weather Is Cool

Weather during the past week has been moderately cool and only the presence of heavy fogs in the morning has prevented damaging frosts.

The sun has managed to warm up the atmosphere during the daytime. A light rain fell last night or early this morning for the only precipitation of the week.

Crellin Youth May Have Polio Attack

A Crellin youngster was admitted to Memorial hospital In Cumberland yesterday as a possible polio victim.

The lad, Randall Gail Ashby, is the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Ashby.

He was taken to the hospital by ambulance yesterday about 12:15 a. m. The attending physicians said the youngster is apparently suffering from polio, however the degree of the case will not be known until laboratory tests are completed.

Condition Good

The condition of David Victor Rubenstein, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rubenstein, was described by hospital officials this morning as "good".

Last Saturday the boy ran over an embankment near his home at Mt. Lake Park and out onto the highway where he ran against a passing automobile, driven by John Fitzwater, Jr.

The youth sustained a broken right arm and numerous bruises and lacerations. He is a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital.

University Women To Meet

Members of Garrett Branch, American Association of University Women will continue their study of art at the opening session of fall and winter meetings on Tuesday, October 11. The session will be held in the assembly room of St. Mark's Lutheran church at 8 o'clock, it was announced by Mrs William Hesen, president.

Mrs. O. T. Graser will be in charge of the program. Two movies are to be shown, one on "What Is Modern Art," and the other, "Rembrandt Van Rijn."

Plans Complete For Autumn Glory

Plans for the annual observance of Autumn Glory time in this county have been completed by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, and the Garrett County Turkey Growers, in conjunction with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company.

Plans call for the excursion to leave Baltimore on the morning of Sunday, October 9 and travel to Oakland, arriving about noon. From there the excursionists will travel by bus to Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls, Deep Creek Lake, to a county turkey farm and to the state park on Meadow Mountain inlet of the lake.

There will be booths at Swallow Falls and the State Park set up by the Turkey Growers and the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, where soft drinks, coffee, candy and other packaged food will be available. Five turkeys are to be given away.

The Southern High band will be at the station to welcome the 800 or more excursionists expected.

A new feature this year will be a water pageant by the Deep Creek Water Ski club.

Twenty-four school buses will be provided for the tour, and it was stated that this year all the buses would go in the same direction. In previous years half of the buses headed for Deep Creek while the other half headed for Swallow Falls, in order to relieve congestion. But with improvement in roads, it was felt this would not be necessary, particularly since the entire group was scheduled to be at Deep Creek Lake State Park at the same time to witness the ski event.

Purpose of the program is to give residents of Maryland an opportunity to see the fall setting in the forest and recreation areas of the county.

The special train is scheduled to depart from Oakland on the return journey about 4:30 Arrangements for the excursion were made by John D. Carroll, passenger representative for the railroad, and by representatives of the Promotion Council and Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

Autumn Glory excursions have proved popular over the past several years and this year is expected to be no exception.

Schedule Changed

Changes in the Northern High School football schedule were listed this week by Lilburn Brown, athletic director.

The game with Masontown Valley has been changed from Friday September 30 to Saturday, October 1, at 1:30 standard time. The change was made due to conflict with the Kingwood Buckwheat festival

The game scheduled with Beall High School for October 15, at Northern has been cancelled.

Bus Drivers To Banquet

Members of the Garrett County Bus Operators' association, along with their wives and guests will have their annual banquet on Friday evening at the Southern High school cafeteria.

Folk Festival Time Is Here

On September 30 and October 1, for the third consecutive year, the tiny village of Springs, highest post office in the state of Pennsylvania, three miles north of Grantsville, is going all out for the gala and festive occasion which it calls its Annual Homecoming and Folk Festival. With a possible crowd of some 10,000 persons expected in the hamlet over the week-end, all the facilities of the Festival Grounds will be bursting at the seams and overflowing to the surrounding countryside. This unique festival revives pioneer days without the aid of parades or queens.

From morning till night the Festival Grounds will be a bee-hive of activity. The tang of Menno Beachy's vigorously boiling copper kettle of apple-butter hung over an open fire, the savor of fresh apple cider hand-pressed in an old mill by the Wable family from up on Negro Mountain, the tantalizing lure of the "spotza" boiled in the open by maple specialists Hank Yoder and Eli Swartzentruber and their bustling mates set old-timers to dreaming dreams of long ago and youngsters to tugging their mothers' apron-strings. To add to the gastronomic excitement, country sausage sizzling in a dozen skillets adds olfactory spice to the crisp autumn air, and the pungence of dried corn cooking is like nothing else one can describe.

The cheerful glow of the blacksmith's forge brightens the other end of the Festival Grounds; and the rail-splitters, beam-dressers, log - hollowers, shingle - shavers, broom - makers and basket - weavers keep up a constant ferment of activity to delight the mind and eye of guests. In a corner of the grounds a mother-and-daughter team are spinning and weaving after the manner of their early ancestors; a gentleman of 90 is plaiting baler twine rugs, while another mountaineer is putting a split-oak seat on a chair made in these Alleghenies.
